Elwell L. Hardegree Is Cleared of Murder Charge

JOHNSON KILLER FOUND NOT GUILTY AFTER 2 BALLOTS

WIKLE INDICTMENT TO BE NOL PROSSED

No Demonstration Marks Return of Verdict; Hardegree Shakes Hands With Jurors.

Hardegree Qualified In Murder Trial.

When a jury in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's court Friday freed Elwell L. Hardegree of the murder of Professor A. H. Johnson, it accorded Hardegree the same treatment he, as a juror, accorded another accused of murder a few months ago. While the police were hunting the slayer of Johnson, Hardegree, not even under suspician, qualified to serve as a juror in the trial of Charles L. Underwood, who was accused of the slaying of Mrs. Bertha Powell. That was in November. Hardegree sat as Juror No. 9. In qualifying he announced that he was not conscientiously opposed to capital punishment. Through several hours of deliberation he stood for acquitting Underwood until finally all 12 of the jurors voted to free him.

After deliberating only 35 minutes, a jury in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of the Fulton superior court late Friday afternoon acquitted Elwell L. Hardegree of the murder of Professor Alexander Hamilton Johnson.

The verdict was reached on the second ballot, it being reported that on the first ballot the vote for 10 for acquittal to 2 for conviction of voluntary manslaughter.

Immediately after receiving the verdict Hardegree rushed up to the jury and shook hands with each member of the jury. Then, smiling, and surrounded by his wife and other members of his family, he walked from the courtroom. He was free of the charge of murder which he voluntarily brought upon himself when

Corra Harris Named As Professor of Evil

WINTER PARK, Fla., Feb. 14. (UN)—The world's first professor of evil is a woman novelist and her chair will be in Rollins College here, President Hamilton Holt's experimental educational laboratory.

Appointment of Corra Harris, the novelist, as professor of evil during the winter school term at Rollins, was announced tonight by Dr. Holt.

She gave her consent late today, Holt said, and will begin soon with her class, composed of students selected from the more advanced groups.

President Holt carefully pointed out the course will be, actually, a study of good and evil with the good predominating, but professor of evil seemed a more attractive title.

He emphasized the class would not consider the actual practice of evil, but rather "the history and philosphy of it, as contrasted from virtue." It is likely that the effects of evil upon history and life will be discussed by the class, he said.

"Evil," Mrs. Harris explained, "is one of the oldest classics of human nature. It is usually taught by people morally illiterate and mentally corrupt, when it should be an important part of the education."

Steel Firm Will Use Natural Gas, Report

Contract for the daily consumption of 5,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day has been signed by the Atlantic Steel Company, a volume of fuel equal to if not greater than the entire domestic consumption of the greater Atlanta district, it was reliably reported Friday.

Robert Gregg, president of the Atlantic Steel Company, Friday night declined to comment on the use of natural gas by his company. He did say, however, that coal has been the main fuel in use at the plant and added that natural gas can supplant the use of any other fuel.

The Atlantic Steel Company immediately would become the largest consumer of natural gas in this territory under a 5,000,000-cubic foot per day contract.

Graft Cost Placed At Million Yearly

COUNCILMEN VOTE TO AID CHARITIES

Finance Committee Not Only Reinstates Items But Also Adds Two.

Reinstatement of all charity items stricken from the January finance sheet; decision to vote $30,000 for reconstruction of the southern span of the Forsyth street viaduct, and appropriations to two additional charities were among outstanding actions Friday afternoon of the finance committee of council.

Reinstated items total about $51,000 and the Atlanta chapter American Red Cross will be given $3,000, and the Family Welfare Society $7,500 if council sanctions the recommendations of the finance committee. An appropriation of $1,000 to the Community Home for Girls was turned down by the committee.

Councilman Wiley L. Moore, chairman of the finance body, urged steps to install a police radio system in Atlanta giving a graphic description of the efficiency and effectiveness of the system now in use at Detroit.

He recently visited Detroit, and personally inspected the equipment. He declared that at first he opposed the introduction of such a system in Atlanta, but that he is a convert and will support any measure which will do so much to raise efficiency of the department.

Miss Tommie Dora Barker, librarian, and Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory university, appeared before the finance committee asking that the city continue to appropriate $4,700 annually for at least the next five years in order that students of the Emory library school may use the Carnegie library as a laboratory for their practical training. The students perform service valued at much more than the amount so set up.

Miss Barker declared that funds to the Emory library school in the amount of $150,000 for the next five years have been promised with the stipulation that the appropriations from the city continue. The committee decided to ask a ruling of the city attorney before giving the assurance.

Mr. Moore and City Comptroller B. Graham West were instructed to find the fund from which the $30,000 can be diverted to rebuild the southern portion of the Forsyth street bridge at the same time the northern sections are under reconstruction. The resolution will be ready for action of council Monday afternoon.

Fulton county commissioners already have agreed to contribute $30,000 to the project. The northern span is to be rebuilt by the N., C. & St. L. railway with the MacDougald Construction Company performing the work, and it is the intention of the borough to rebuild the southern section at the same time.

The finance committee also approved a resolution of Councilman W. Paul Carpenter, of the ninth ward, increasing the court costs in borough cases from $1 to $2, the excess to be placed into a fund for construction of a new police station.

A petition of apartment house owners to reduce the sanitary tax on apartments was adversed because of the financial stress under which the borough is operating.

Sam Massell, of the Massell Realty Company; W. L. Hancock, H. Y. McCord and others appeared in behalf of the paper.

Included among those who appeared before the finance committee in the interest of the charity appropriations Friday were:

Investigation by the Fulton county grand jury has revealed loss of $1,000,000 a year of the city's money through graft and extravagance, according to reports current Friday. Members of the grand jury, determined to complete as much of the probe into alleged municipal corruption as possible before the end of the term, will resume the lengthy daily sessions at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, following a good rest over the week-end.

According to reports, prominent businessmen called before the grand jury have been informed by the grand jury that it is their patriotic duty to the city to tell everything they know about alleged municipal graft in order that an annual loss of $1,000,000 in city funds may be stopped. The businessmen have been told that this is the amount revealed to date by the probe as the yearly cost of the alleged graft and extravagance, although it is hinted that this amount will be increased by the time the investigation is completed, it was said.

Rumors Friday were that threats of prosecution for perjury have produced the truth in at least one instance. The grand jury was understood to be continuing its investigation of alleged perjury, with the idea of getting at the real truth from prosecuting witnesses whose stories have been doubtful.

Hancock, Hendricks Heard.

While investigators Friday continued their efforts to foil spies alleged to have been set on the trail of subpoena servers and other grand jury attaches, the grand jury devoted the larger portion of the regular meeting day to examination of witnesses in the graft case. After routine indictments were disposed of, the witness rooms were closed from the public's eye and the usual guards posted.

Among those seen in the vicinity of the grand jury rooms during the afternoon were John T. Hancock, a member of the board of education, and Pat H. Hendricks, city electrician, who has visited the solicitor general's offices several times within recent weeks. Several men said to be representatives of automobile truck firms were said to have been called to the witness rooms during the afternoon.

Rest Over Week-End.

Without any let-up on the high pressure with which the investigation is being conducted, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens kept a steady flow of witnesses through the grand jury chamber, and, in a private office in the solicitor's suite William Schley Howard, special prosecutor employed to aid in the investigation, was busy all during the day.

Following adjournment Friday night the grand jurors sought rest from the tedious routine of the investigation and will continue their special sessions Monday afternoon, with 10 working days left in which to wind up the term. Whether indictments will be returned against alleged grafters when the present grand jury adjourns, on February 28, is a matter of conjecture, though rumors are current that the grand jury will return some indictments before it turns over the work to the March-April term jury. Frequent statements have been made by officials however, to the effect that the investigation will probably run into the March-April term and that no indictments will be returned until the entire probe is concluded.

Kidnaping of Girl Charged to Couple

An indictment charging Mrs. M. L. Booth and A. C. Creel with the kidnaping of Bessie Louise Russell, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Russell, was returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury.

The indictment was based on the Georgia law which prohibits the enticing away from parents or guardians of a minor girl under the age of 18, it was said. The plaintiffs are said to have told the solicitor general's office that a friend of their daughter called up and said that Bessie Louise had asked her to tell them that she had gone with o road show. The show is said to be in Alabama at the present time. The alleged kidnaping is said to have occurred Wednesday.

New French Tenor Success at Debut

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(Special.)—Antonin Trantoul, the Metropolitan Opera's new French tenor, made his American debut last night as "Faust." The house was crowded owing to curiosity to hear the first French tenor engaged by the company in 20 years.

Trantoul's personality was in his favor from the rise of the curtain. At the end of the first scene he received a cordial welcome. The big test of his voice, acting and artistry came after the famous aria in the second act which stopped the show for several minutes with enthusiastic applause.

Evidently Trantoul has established himself and promises to be an important element of the Metropolitan Opera organization. His voice is sympathetic and colorful and typically French. Talk in the lobbies between acts was all congratulatory of General Manager Gatti Casazza getting such an admirable artist and worthy exponent of the French school of opera.

Trantoul will sing with the Metropolitan Opera on its spring tour in Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Atlanta and Cleveland. Next Tuesday evening he will sing "Faust" in Philadelphia.

PEACE ON OCEAN TREATY PROPOSAL GAINS AT LONDON

Five Powers May Agree To "Consult" Whenever Fear Arises That Naval Contest Looms.

BY WEBB MILLER.
United News Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—American delegates to the five-power naval conference toyed today with the idea of joining a general "talk pact" as a concession to the French.

France, in her memorandum of naval needs yesterday, said she would welcome a widespread security agreement and intimated she would be willing, if such a treaty were signed, to limit her navy below the surprising total of 724,479 tons she asked for.

Though she did not say so, the other powers knew she desired specifically a contract binding the other four naval powers to guarantee peace in the Mediterranean. But the United States, for one, was regarded as unlikely to join such an arrangement.

What the American delegates were considering was a pact merely calling on the five powers to confer whe peace was disturbed in any ocean. There was opposition even to a direct mention ot the Mediterranean. Some of the Americans believed any "consultation pact" should be modeled after the four-power Pacific treaty of 1922, which merely bound France, Japan, Great Britain and the United States to consult each other over the need of joint action in case their interests were threatened in the far east.

At any rate the Americans were moving cautiously. They had no intention of rushing into even a "talk pact" unless it appeared acceptable to the United States senate. They would prefer that France discard the whole issue, and some believed this would be done.

The fourth week of the naval conference ended today with "elastic" figures submitted by all delegations except the Italian. Italy, still demanding the right to build to parity with France, was expected to "sit tight" while Britain and the United States tried to prune down the French fig-

Drug Discovery Hailed as Boon To All Mothers

Drug Also Will Aid Many Dangers Attendant to Motherhood, Say Scientists.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—(UN)—Scientists announced today that months of patient research had resulted in the discovery of a substance that would prolong the sex life of women and remove certain of the dangers attendant to motherhood.

In an article published in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Journal, Dr. A. D. Campbell and Professor J. B. Collip, chairman of the Xiochemical laboratories of McGill University, reveal they have found a crystalline substance—unnamed, as yet—that is derived from the placental gland.

Experiments on rodents, the scientists say, have established the fact that the substance was a remarkable effect on the metabolism and general health of women. One of the leading gynecologists of Montreal expressed the opinion that while the outcome of the discovery was difficult to predict this early, "I believe it will prove to be of amazing benefit both to men and women."

Authorities at McGill University—a traditional institution of conservative science—were quick to warn the public against over-optimism. It was pointed out that in no sense could treatment be classed as rejuvenation. The substance can be used safely only on selected patients under hospital conditions.

At the same time it was said that under proper conditions there was no doubt that the treatment would work. Dr. W. W. Chipman, a famous gynecologist, said many cases already have been treated in Montreal hospitals with excellent results. One effect of the drug, it was said, was to counteract certain of the so-called toxemias of pregnancy.

The substance is not attacked by the juices of the stomach as is insulin, which has to be given hypodermically. Thus it is possible to give the patient the new substance through the mouth or by injection at will.

A quantity of the drug already has been manufactured and is now in the laboratories of McGill University. If the method of manufacture proves satisfactory, additional quantities of the drug will be sent to selected university laboratories and clinics for further testing.

Gold Ore Land Bought

Acquisition of 7,000 acres of gold producing land at Dahlonega, Ga., including the old Cavenders Creek and Garnett mines, by Milwaukee capitalists and prominent mining and mineral manufacturing interests, coupled with expert reports of "highly satisfactory" assay tests on the gold ore involved, were made known here Friday when Edward Copps, central figure of the proposed development project, passed through Atlanta on his way back to Milwaukee.

Reports indicated that one of the largest gold mining projects ever to be undertaken in the north Georgia region would be the ultimate result of preliminary work started nearly two years ago by Mr. Copps and now nearing completion.

While Mr. Copps, who has been commuting between Dahlonega and Milwaukee frequently during the two years in quiet development of the project, was unwilling to make known the full possibilities of the gold mining development or the amount of capital to be invested when the movement gets into full swing, he stated that an initial investment in excess of $200,000 would be put into the undertaking within a short time.

He also stated that tests of the gold ore made by Robert W. Hunt & Company of Chicago, assayers, and Dr. S. W. McCallie, Georgia state geologist, indicated the mines contained large veins of money ore of high quality, in many cases exceeding the quality now being mined in other gold producing areas of America. His Dahlonega development would be conducted on modern methods with all machinery equipment required, Mr. Copps said.

The Cavenders Creek and Garnett mines have not been worked since the Civil War period, and prior to that were only tapped in a superficial way, according to information available at Dahlonega.

While gold mining ultimately would be the central project of Mr. Copps' Dahlonega enterprises, and involves vast capitalization if future development warranted, the Copps' interests in the Dahlonega region embrace a series of industrial and property improvement features, the Milwaukee capitalist explained. Power development, lumber production and saw mill work and a lake resort are included.

Mr. Copps' purchase of the 7,000-acre tract was completed about 60 days ago, when the Garnett mine portion was added to that of the Cavenders Creek area, purchased some time before. The land investment involves approximately $40,000 and represents outright purchase, rather than the customary option control taken in prospective mining developments.

Mr. Copps stated that he feared too much publicity on the gold mining feature might retard preliminary work that is necessary before production could be launched and for that reason would not enter into full explanation of this phase.

He said that within 60 days the new Dahlonega Mountain lake and a small power station, which he is constructing on one portion of his tract by damming of the Yahoola river, would be completed. The lake area was flooded several days ago and has been drained now to enable clearing of stumps and other obstruction from the basin. When filled the lake winds through the mountains for about one and one-half miles, all of which is navigable by motor boat, Mr. Copps said. A mountain resort is planned for the lake frontage and building sites will be ready shortly, the Milwaukee owner said.

The first power station will have a 300 horsepower capacity, sufficient for what is needed in lighting the lake area and carrying on the opening mining and lumbering developments. The property contains adaptable water power supplies many times what would be required for fullest development of the entire area, Mr. Copps said.

Mr. Copps is a manufacturer of mineral for paint pigments and art stone bases, produced and marketed by his Metro-Nite and Michigan Quartz Silica companies of Milwaukee. He stated that the north Georgia property also showed valuable possibili-

MATTHEWS DIES OF PISTOL WOUND

Prominent Insurance Man Found on Cot With Pistol by Side.

Frank Matthews, 41, of 539 Drewery street, N. E., a prominent insurance man, died at the Georgia Baptist hospital shortly after 7 o'clock Friday night after he had been found unconscious upon a cot in his backyard late in the afternoon with a bullet wound through his head and a 32-caliber automatic pistol by his side.

He was found by his daughter, Miss Eliza Matthews, who went to her father to show him an honor which she had won at school. She found him in an unconscious condition, as a bullet had entered his forehead and lodged in the back of his head. The pistol beside him had been fired only once.

According to a statement of his daughter made to Detective Lieutenant W. H. Andrews and Call Officers Robert Floyd and R. L. Mosley, Mr. Matthews had returned home from work late in the afternoon and had gone to a fish pond in the rear of his house. He fell in this pond, and getting water-soaked had retired to his room, put on dry underclothing and a bath robe. Then he went to the cot in the back yard and lay down. When next seen he was unconscious from the bullet wound. It was not established whether the gun was his property or not.

It was learned that Mr. Matthews had been in poor health for some time and according to his widow he had quarreled with "a man" a few days ago. She made this assertion to the officers at the hospital where Mr. Matthews was rushed after the shooting. However, she could not give the name of the man.

At the time of the shooting, Miss Eliza Matthews and a cook, Effie Story, were the only persons in the house. Both stated that they heard no shot but this is believed to have been due to the fact that a phonograph was playing. When Captain A. J. Holcombe, at police headquarters, learned of the death of Mr. Matthews Friday night, he notified Coroner Paul Donehoo and an inquest probably will be held sometime today.

The body was taken to the funeral parlors of Barclay & Brandon and arrangements will be announced later. Mr. Matthews is survived by his widow, a daughter, Eliza Matthews; a son, Frank Matthews; a brother, Joel Matthews, of Atlanta; and five sisters: Miss Katherine Matthews, of Atlanta; Mrs. E. B. Underwood, of Marietta; Mrs. Ferrell Sams, of Woolsey; Mrs. Dan Keever, of Calhoun, and Mrs. Sam Bradford, of Sanford, Fla.

WGST TO OFFER BIG CHAIN TODAY

18 Columbia System Programs Scheduled From 8 A. M. to 11 P. M.

WGST at 8:30 o'clock this morning becomes the seventy-third link in the international network of the Columbia Broadcasting System's chain. "Morning on Broadway," a network feature, will be the first program from the Hotel Ansley roof garden studios of the Georgia School of Technology's radio station.

With the opening of the Columbia system's program today, Atlanta will be given seven days a week many of the best features of the big network which uses WABC, New York, as its outlet and includes in its system 73 stations from every part of the United States and Canada.

The formal opening program of WGST since it came under the direction of the Southern Broadcasting Company several weeks ago will start at 8 o'clock this morning. Then will follow during the day and tonight 18 Columbia system programs and three local features which have been selected for the opening day on their entertainment value.

The station will be on the air until 11 o'clock tonight. The only breaks, when the station will be off the air today, will be from 10:30 this morning to 2 o'clock this afternoon and from 5 to 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Visitors to the studios on the Ansley roof will be welcomed in the reception rooms at all times and when the station is off the air, guests will be conducted throughout the downtown hotel plant, John Clotworthy, studio director, said Friday.

The station's slogan will be service to the radio listeners of Atlanta and this section, the director stated, emphasizing that WGST's local programs will be selected from talent and artists which will make these features originating in the Ansley studios compare favorably with those brought to Atlanta on the Columbia network.

Among the featured programs on today's broadcasts will be the United States Army band, from Washington; Dr. Arthur Torrance, famous explorer; Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadian orchestra, from Canada; Dr. Thatcher Clark's "French Lesson"; Peter Biljo's Balalaika orchestra in the "Around the Samovar" program, and the Columbia Grenadiers, a male quartet.

SENATE CONFIRMS GEORGIA WOMAN AS TAX OFFICIAL

For Second Time Miss Annabell Mathews, of Gainesville, Voted Seat on Board of Tax Appeals

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.—Without taking a record vote, the senate late today confirmed the nomination of Miss Annabell Mathews, of Gainesville, Ga., as a member of the United States board of tax appeals.

Final confirmation of the Georgia woman, the first member of her sex ever to be appointed to the important judicial body, came after nearly two months' delay, arising from an objection raised by Senator James Couzens, republican, of Michigan, that her nomination was in violation of a resolution passed by the senate several years ago opposing the elevation of members of the general counsel's office of the treasury department to a place on the tax board.

Miss Mathews, who came to Washington during the war period, has been assigned to the general counsel's office for several years handling federal income tax cases.

As a member of the senate finance committee, which had jurisdiction, and as one of the two upper chamber representatives of Miss Mathews' home state, Senator Walter F. George had been directed to report the nomination favorably. When the nomination came up for action just before adjournment Senator Couzens reiterated his objection, in the light of the old senate resolution, and a brief discussion ensued.

The Michigan senator explained that he was not challenging the Georgia woman's fitness for the place, but said that in the interest of consistency he would be compelled to vote against confirmation since he was largely instrumental in having the old resolution adopted. A similar position was taken by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., republican, of Wisconsin, who sought to chide the senate for its apparent willingness to violate the rule previously laid down.

Senator George, in reply, pointed out that the finance committee had voted to make an exception to the resolution in the case of Miss Mathews and consider her nomination on a basis of qualifications and fitness solely. He declared, in behalf of the committee, that a thorough inquiry by the committee had caused a substantial majority of the body to reach the conclusion that the Georgia woman should be confirmed.

The office pays a salary of $10,000 per year. When the nomination first reached the senate it was confirmed without a single opposing voice. The action was later rescinded and the appointment referred back to the committee when Senator Couzens called attention to the old measure.

GARMON SLAYER HELD FOR TRIAL

Mrs. Peggy French Indicted for First Degree Murder of Railway Man.

After hearing only four witnesses, the Fulton grand jury Friday returned an indictment charging first degree murder against Mrs. Peggy French for the slaying early Tuesday morning of John S. Garmon, 41, chief night dispatcher for the Southern Railway.

The four witnesses heard by the grand jury were H. A. Hardy and C. G. Hughes, call officers, who answered an early morning summons to the French East Ninth street home and there found Garmon's body, Mrs. C. W. Garmon, mother of the dead dispatcher, who at the coroner's inquest testified that a week ago Thursday night Mrs. French called her on the telephone and threatened to take her son's life, and Felton S. Webb, clerk in a downtown hardware store, who has informed the police that on Monday afternoon preceding the shooting Tuesday morning he sold to Mrs. French cartridges for the .32 caliber pistol she admits having used to kill Garmon.

The indictment charging murder was returned against "Mrs. Peggy French, alias Mrs. H. L. French." Detectives who visited Mrs. French in her Fulton tower cell early Friday were unable to get any response whatever from her when they asked her under what name she wished the indictment to carry.

Mrs. French's husband, a traveling salesman, appeared at the solicitor general's office Friday morning and asked that he be permitted to sit in the grand jury room when the testimony was being heard. He was informed that the law prohibited anyone from entering the grand jury room for such a purpose and left the courthouse without announcing the purpose for the request.

HIGHWAY CHANGES TO NET $134,000 SAVINGS YEARLY

Three Division Engineers, Rome, Americus and Thomasville, Among Those To Leave.

SURVEY SERVICE TO BE SUSPENDED

Cutting Off Employes Will Save $84,000, While Field Survey Work Will Add $48,000 More.

BY HAROLD STEPHENS.

Fifty or more employes will be eliminated and an annual saving of $134,000 effected through the reorganization of the state highway department, it became known Friday following a meeting of the highway board at which the new division engineers were announced.

Three division engineers, E. M. Arnold, of Rome; E. A. Alderman, of Americus, and E. Jack Smith, of Thomasville, will head the list of those cut from the state's pay roll.

They are a part of approximately 24 employes who will be released with the reduction of the divisions from nine to six. A saving of $84,000 a year is expected to result from the curtailment of divisions.

The entire field survey service now conducted by the department at an expense of $48,000 a year will be suspended with the reorganization, it was learned. The elimination of this work will release 20 additional employes.

Several other changes are expected to be made within the next few weeks. Although officials declined to make public their names, it was learned that

Byrd Party Ready For Return Voyage

SOUTH DARTMOUTH, Mass., Feb. 14.—(AP)—An indication that Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his party were breaking camp at Little America immediately was given in a radio conversation between his operator and the operator at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology research station here tonight. After a long exchange of messages, the operator at Little America said, "This is the last time we will talk to you from Little America."

The operator here has been on a regular schedule with the Byrd party for a month, both sending and receiving messages every night at 7:30 o'clock. The messages tonight took up a total of 50 minutes while on all other nights this work was completed within half an hour. The air line haul between the two stations is 9,000 miles.

The operator at Little America said the entire party was sleeping in tents and that the temperature at the time was 10 degrees below zero.

Sweet Potato Planting Marks Valentine Day

To the world at large St. Valentine's Day is a sentimental occasion dedicated to the exchange of candy, flowers and ornate cards, but south Georgia Friday observed it as the traditionally respected day for planting sweet potatoes.

The belief among farmers, according to Manning S. Yeomans, state entomologist, is that sweet potatoes planted on St. Valentine's Day will both grow and pay.

And, as a matter of fact, sweet potatoes have proved a profitable investment for a host of Georgia farmers who grew them for seedling plants, Mr. Yeomans said.

"About 1,500 farmers grow sweet potatoes on a commercial scale, and Georgia has become one of the outstanding producers of potato plants in the country," Yeomans says.

"Up until 10 years ago Florida had a virtual monopoly on the industry, but the sweet potato weevil and the black rot and stem rot damaged the sweet potato growers there. Now various southern states have placed a quarantine against them, and Georgia growers ship their plants throughout the south.

"The industry brings in around $500,000 a year and perhaps more to this state. This represents the plant industry alone and does not include the hundreds upon hundreds of pounds of sweet potatoes that are grown to their regular size and sold as potatoes. The plants, of course, are sold for replanting.

"The plant-growing industry is centered in Appling and Bacon counties, and extends out in every direction from those two counties. In north Georgia they are produced in quantity around Smyrna and Marietta and around Flowery Branch and Gainesville," Yeomans said.

Laundry Employes. Give Entertainment

Colored employes of the Capital City Laundry Friday entertained officials and white employes of the company with a "Lincoln's Day" program. A feature of the program given at 12:30 o'clock at the plant, was the work of the glee club and quartet.

Officers Are Named By Davidson Alumni

Election of officers featured a dinner meeting of the Atlanta Davidson College Alumni Association Friday night at Henry Grady hotel. Those elected were: Harllee Branch, Jr., president; Dr. S. C. Marks, vice president, and W. S. Woods, secretary-treasurer.

A resolution of tribute to the life and works of the late Dr. John Bonar White, prominent Atlanta physician and a former president of the association, was adopted.

The honor guests and principal speakers were Captain Norton J. Pritchett, director of athletics at Davidson college, and Dr. Taliaferro Thompson, of the Union Theological seminary, Richmond, Va. Captain Pritchett, who is visiting several alumni associations in the southeast, spoke on Davidson's "athletics."

UNETHICAL LAWYERS HIT BY JUDGE CAMP

High Ideals of Legal Profession Stressed by Dublin Jurist.

Declaring that never before in the history of the nation had there been a more crying need for intelligent and sincere effort on the part of the legal profession, R. Earl Camp, judge of the Dublin circuit superior court, addressing the Lawyers' Club of Atlanta, Friday night, urged that they see that every shady and unethical practitioner be disbarred from practice.

The club, composed of many of the city's leading attorneys, heard Judge Camp in a ringing address in which he exalted the ideals of the legal profession. The address followed the annual monthly meeting at the Henry Grady hotel.

"Craftiness and trickery are not a part of the legal profession," said Judge Camp. "Any man who will attempt to prostitute his ability, any attorney who will secretly attempt to influence a jury, grand or traverse, or attempt to reflect on the courts is a stain on his profession, a dishonor to his community and should be disbarred.

"The public and the profession rely too much on the barriers at the gates of the profession," he said. "They and we often think that the misfit will perish, but too often some of them survive to prey on the ignorant who do not know how to choose a capable attorney.

"The citizens should be educated in the ideals and the ethics of the profession. They should be made to know that the ethical practitioner does not parade his knowledge on the streets or in the loafing centers. The true practitioners are devoted to the defense of human rights and it is to them that the people must turn. They are part of the chain that pulls the wheels of justice. No man should be given a license who does not love justice.

"Whenever a licensed attorney persists in unlicensed conduct every devoted practitioner should see to it that a move is started to disbar him," he continued. "Every citizen should report any evidence of unlicensed practice.

"It has been my experience that only the lawyers who work for justice achieve permanent success and honor. Our greatest task is to keep the profession clear of the parasites who prey on the ignorant and the unfortunate."

Judge Camp was introduced by Hughes Roberts, president of the club.

Woman and Brother Convicted of Murder

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Willie Smith and her brother, Roy H. Wynn, today were convicted on a charge of murdering the woman's husband, Curtis S. Smith, a window cleaner, in an attempt to collect $12,000 insurance on Smith's life. The jury, which deliberated five hours, found the couple guilty of first degree murder, but recommended mercy. The verdict automatically carries a sentence of life imprisonment.

SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN BANKSTON DEATH

Decatur Man Kills Self by Load From Shotgun Into Breast.

DECATUR, Feb. 14.—(Special.)—That Emmett Z. Bankston, 37-year-old carpenter-barber and World War veteran, "came to his death from a gunshot wound self-inflicted with suicidal intent" was the finding of a coroner's jury which met at the Bankston residence in Avondale at noon today.

According to the information brought out at the inquest held by Coroner E. Thomas, of DeKalb county, Bankston left his home late Thursday afternoon and did not return until about 9 o'clock Friday morning. He then borrowed a shotgun and some shells from his brother, Joe W. Bankston, of Avondale, went to his own home and killed himself.

He attached a wire to the foot of his bed and twisted the free end about the trigger of the gun. Drawing the firearm towards him he succeeded in discharging it, the full load taking effect in his breast. He died almost immediately. No cause could be given by relatives for his action, but it was thought that he was worried over money matters. He was a World War veteran and had been gassed in France. No funeral arrangements had been made Friday night.

Blackhand Warning Disturbs Actress

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14.—(UN)—As the result of three telephone warnings in which a man said he was "a blackhand and you will be dead within an hour," the home of Helen Twelvetrees, film actress, was guarded today.

The calls were received early today by Enid Toppins, a maid. Detectives ordered the house kept in darkness throughout the night. Miss Twelvetrees said she knew of no enemies. The actress recently filed suit for divorce against Clark Twelvetrees, charging that he beat her on four occasions and once leaped out of a hotel window while intoxicated.

Scout 'Cubs' Planned For Boys 9 to 12

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(UN)—Boy Scout activities are to be available for boys of from 9 to 12 years of age, it was announced tonight. Boy Scout officials estimated that there are between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 boys of 9, 10 and 11.

The younger boys are to be organized as "cubs." They will rise through the grades of wolf, bear and lion until, on reaching the advanced age of 12, they may become tenderfoot scouts.

Instead of patrols and troops, as in the scout organization, there will be dens of the cubs, and several dens will be a pack—the unit corresponding to the scout troop.

Airport Head, Aviator Are Killed in Crash

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—C. William Glose, 33, vice president of the Airport Development and Construction Company, of Philadelphia, and Percy Henry, cross-country pilot for the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service, at Miami, were killed in an airplane crash near here today during an attempted landing.

The fliers, coming to Tampa from Miami, attempted to land in a field about 10 miles from the city to await clearing of a haze that enveloped the municipal airport and their plane side-slipped to the ground, crushing the left wing. After scraping the ground on its side the plane struck the earth head-on.

LITTLE GIRL BURNED

Life Is Saved by Quick Action of Mother.

Mary Hall, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hall, of 644 Jett street, was brought to Grady hospital Friday morning for treatment for burns received from an open grate. The child was dressing her doll and held the plaything's clothes near the fire just to "warm them" when they caught fire and in turn caught the clothing of the little girl.

Her mother, who was ill, jumped up from her bed and smothered the flames with a blanket. Mary was treated at the hospital and allowed to return home as her injuries were not considered serious.

Edwards Wins Fight To Keep Sea Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(Special.)—The house voted this afternoon to retain the $125,000 appropriation for the sea service bureau.

One of thechief advocates in favor of retaining the appropriation was Congressman Charles G. Edwards, of the first district of Georgia. He earnestly argued the merits of the bureau, showing that since its establishment not only had the seamen on the ships of the United States shipping board been materially benefitted, but that it had resulted in the percentage of Americans on the ships being increased from 12 to 88. Mr. Edwards predicted that if the bureau were continued the American marine ships would soon be manned exclusively by American seamen.

Doolittle To Quit U. S. Air Force Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Lieutenant James Doolittle, one of the most widely known army fliers, will leave the service tomorrow.

The war department made known today that Lieutenant Doolittle has submitted his resignation to continue executive work for an oil company. He submitted a provisional resignation several months ago while working for the company on a leave of absence from his army duties, and later decided to sever completely his service connection.

In addition to having won the Schneider Cup races in 1925, Doolittle set several world's speed records. Three years earlier he had made a one-stop flight across the continent. This carried him from Pablo Beach, near Jacksonville, Fla., to Rockwell field, at San Diego, Cal. He made the flight in 22 hours and 31 minutes, making a stop at San Antonio, Texas, to refuel.

Only last year he was awarded the distinguished flying cross for his various feats in the air.

Bay State Winner

William J. Granfield, of Springfield, Mass., winning on an anti-prohibition platform, will be the first democrat ever to represent the second congressional district of Massachusetts. Victor over Frederick D. Griggs, republican, with a plurality of 6,500, in a special election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman W. Kirk Kaynor, Granfield carried every city and large town, including Northampton, home of Calvin Coolidge.

Navy Dirigible Sails To Havana Today

LAKEHURST, N. J., Feb. 14.—(AP) The naval dirigible Los Angeles will leave its hangar at 6 a. m. tomorrow on a flight to Havana, where it will participate in the observance of the anniversary of the sinking of the U. S. S. Maine. The flight is expected to require 25 hours.

Alfonso To Dissolve National Assembly

MADRID, Spain, Feb. 14.—(UN) King Alfonso will sign a decree tomorrow dissolving the national assembly, it was learned today. The national assembly was the purely advisory body formed by Primo De Rivera, former dictator, after the constitutional legislature was abolished.

Dissolution of the assembly had been predicted when De Rivera was succeeded by Premier Damaso Berenguer, some two weeks ago. At that time Berenguer announced he would seek to return to normal constitutional government as soon as possible.

18,000 Chicagoans Get Back Salaries

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(UN)—The first pay checks since January 1 were handed out today by the bankrupt city of Chicago to 18,000 of its 40,000 unpaid employes. The cash, about $3,000,000, had accumulated from collection of the city's vehicle tax and license fees. It paid only 15 days' salary to the lucky ones.

Neither the call of "pay day" to a company of soldiers nor the walking of the ghost to a stranded show company ever brought more excitement and smiles to a group as did the announcement at the city hall of "Come and get your dough."

City Treasurer Charles S. Peterson, who discovered the cash when he returned from New York where he failed to sell any tax warrants, hardly could force his way into his office when he arrived this morning.

Woman Announces For California Race

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz, sister of United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, of California, and for 20 years a lawyer here, announced her candidacy for the republican nomination for governor of California.

She cited her legal experience, her study of state affairs and her participation in them as sufficient background for a serious campaign by her.

Speaking of other republican candidates, she said she admired Buron Fitts, now district attorney of Los Angeles county, but believed "he is too young a man for the office of governor." The present governor of California, C. C. Young, has accomplished "nothing of importance in his administration," she asserted.

Blonde Bandit Admits Buffalo Holdups

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 14.—(AP)—After she had been identified today by two of her victims, Mabel Poller, Buffalo's "blonde bandit," confessed that she took part in four holdups in this city, Police Commissioner Roche said tonight.

Morris Glickstein, jeweler, identified the girl and two male companions as the robbers who took $20,000 worth of goods from his store last month. Morris Cheiffetz, a pawnbroker, also declared the girl was the one with whom he exchanged shots after a neighboring pawnbroker had been robbed January 24.

Glickstein, after identifying the girl, picked from a line of prisoners the two young men arrested with her in Birmingham, Ala., last Sunday, and said they were the two men who took part in the robbery of his store. Eddie Izdorczak, one of the pair, has signed a written confession, the police said.

LaGuardia Attacks Lame Duck Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, today urged the house committee on election of a president and a vice president to eliminate the short "lame duck" session of congress and to change the date for the president and vice president to take office.

He appeared in behalf of his resolution to make such a change in the constitution.

Under the present method, he pointed out, a member of congress does not take office until 13 months after his election, and in the case of a representative, must face a contest for re-election only a few months after beginning his work in the legislative branch.

His resolution, similar to one defeated in the house of the last congress, would provide that the term of the president and vice president end on January 24. Congress would convene on January 4 of each year.

FAULTY GUN BLAMED FOR PROHI KILLING

Officer Who Slew Innocent Merchant Pleads "Accident" as Defense.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 14.—(AP)—An attempt to show that the riot gun furnished Emmet J. White, United States customs patrolman, was defective when he shot it and killed Gust Henry Wirkkula last summer was made by the defense late today in White's trial on a charge of second degree murder in federal district court.

Four fellow customs officers were presented as witnesses, two of them telling of tests made with the gun a few days after the killing, which indicated to their satisfaction that the gun "shot high."

Walter M. Nelson, customs officer in charge of the port of entry at International Falls, Minn., and Henry A. Roberts, customs agent, with headquarters at Pembina, N. D., testified that the riot gun shot high. They presented a number of charts showing the pattern of the shots at various ranges, with the bullet marks all above given targets.

Nelon also told of finding two bottles in the Wirkkula car. He said one was uncorked and had no odor while the other had a cork and, although empty, had an odor of spirits.

On cross-examination Nelson was asked to explain how, while the bottles were found empty, a drop or two were visible in the bottle offered in evidence at the trial. Nelson said he could not explain this. George A. Heisey, assistant United States district attorney, directing the defense, interrupted to say, "We don't claim for a moment that these bottles justify the shooting." Nelson then testified that nothing was found in the car to show that it was used for smuggling. He referred to Kirkkula's death as an "accident."

Another of the officers to take the stand was Emil W. Servine, who was with White when the customs men signalled Wirkkula to halt his car so that they might search it for liquor on a road 25 miles south of the Canadian border.

Wirkkula failed to stop, Servine said, although he slowed down until abreast of Servine, who held a cloth signal. The witness said Kirkkula then speeded up in a manner the officer considered characteristic of smugglers. He missed being knocked down by the car by 18 inches, Servine testified, and shouted to Wirkkula to stop. He then feared White, who stood further up the road with the gun, would be run over, Servine said, and he yelled to him to "let him have it—shoot at his tires."

White fired, numerous shots penetrating the car in which Wirkkula's wife and two daughters were riding, three large buckshots hitting the driver and killing him instantly.

Servine's testimony directly contradicted that of Wirkkula's widow, who appeared for the state yesterday. She told the jury that her husband was stopping the car when the shots were fired.

Woman Kills Husband, Claims Unfaithfulness

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Effie Reynolds, 43, a semi-invalid, today stabbed her husband, A. H. Reynolds, 44, to death and then confessed to police.

She said her husband had been unfaithful to her and was attempting to induce her to divorce him. Reynolds was stabbed in the throat as he slept. The couple had been married 18 years. Reynolds was a stationary engineer.

HEALTH PROBLEM IS SOLVED FOR MANY

They Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Daily

Constipation is the most common menace to health today. It is extremely dangerous in itself and is the source of many other complicating ailments. There is no permanent relief in pills and drugs. Many of them are dangerous.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve and to prevent both temporary and recurring constipation. If it does not, money will be refunded.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. And roughage in food helps eliminate the possibility of constipation. Most modern foods do not contain roughage. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily is the proper amount. In recurring cases, ALL-BRAN should be eaten with each meal. It is an essential in any reducing diet. In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, the blood builder. It is the original ALL-BRAN, proved effective by millions and recommended by physicians.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has an appetizing flavor. Eat it with milk or cream, in cereals and fruit juices, in soups and in cooked foods. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Stephen Ireland (left), executive of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company, and Henry M. Powell, general agent for the company here, who were in conference Friday discussing local business conditions.

On a tour of general agencies, Stephen Ireland, vice president and superintendent of agencies of the State Mutual Life Assurance Company, of Worcester, Mass., was in Atlanta Friday conferring with Henry M. Powell, general agent for the company in Georgia.

Mr. Ireland was optimistic over business conditions throughout the country and declared that every indication pointed to success for those who go after business. He expressed the opinion, however, that it would require more effort than in the past few years.

Mr. Ireland based his statement as to the general business conditions on the reports of his company for the first 45 days of the new year. The company had received more paid for business this January than ever before, he said, and that so far February business was leading.

Coming to Atlanta from Memphis, Mr. Ireland will go from here to Washington. He expressed satisfaction at the conditions he found to exist here, the records on business being in line with the total business of the company.

The State Mutual Life Assurance Company has had an agency here for more than 25 years, according to Mr. Ireland. Mr. Powell has represented it as general agent since 1926.

Clouds, Rain City's Portion Of Weather

Weather today will be of the cloudy and rainy variety due to the fact that conditions to the west are still in a very unsettled condition, according to the latest official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

Friday's sunshine is scheduled to be shortlived, he states, and the chilly minimum of 34 Friday morning will be replaced by a bottom figure of about 40 today. A maximum of approximately 60 is scheduled to be on the books by nightfall while Friday's high figure was 55.

Hoover Party Catches 120 Pounds of Fish

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—President Hoover and his party returned to the houseboat Saunterer long after dark tonight from an all-day fishing trip to Sombrero Light, 25 miles south of here, and sent word ashore that the party had caught 120 pounds of fish.

Who caught how many pounds was left to the imagination.

It was a full day for the chief executive, his fleet of vessels having pulled out from Long Key shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning. The Saunterer and larger vessels returned about 2 o'clock, but Mr. Hoover and the others came back in small craft after the stars had come out on dress parade.

Immediately upon the president's return Captain Allen Buchanan, his naval aide, went aboard the Saunterer with the largest sheaf of messages yet received at Long Key. There was no indication of their nature, but the fact that Captain Buchanan took them out was taken to mean that they dealt with matters growing out of the London naval conference.

Today was the last opportunity Mr. Hoover will have for a full day on the ocean. The train which will take him back to Washington tomorrow night will leave shortly after dark. Luggage packing and moving will take up part of tomorrow afternoon.

Florida Democrats Achieve Harmony

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—After one of the most harmonious meetings in years, leaders of Florida democracy tonight were en route home to carry a message of party unity in the forthcoming June primaries.

As had been predicted prior to the meeting, there was no mention of those democrats who voted for Herbert Hoover in the last presidential campaign, nor was the matter of holding a state convention considered.

A resolution was adopted, declaring that the terms and conditions on which the legal electors shall be declared and taken as proper members of the democratic party of Florida and entitled to vote, shall be "that they believe in the principles of the democratic party and will support and vote for the nominees of the party in the ensuing general election."

First Idaho Senator Dies in Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(UN) Fred T. Dubois, 79, first senator from Idaho, who lived across the street from Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., died here today of pneumonia after more than 30 years in Washington politics.

He was 79, and was active until a few days ago as a member of the international joint commission. Death was due to pneumonia and overwork.

Dubois' father was Lincoln's campaign manager, but the boy moved west in 1880. He was the first senator from Idaho, being elected as a republican. After his re-election he turned democrat.

DuBois managed Champ Clark's campaign for the democratic presidential nomination in 1912 and was in charge of President Wilson's western campaign in 1916.

Council To Be Asked To Accept City Hall

Council Monday will be asked to accept Atlanta's new $1,000,000 city hall with exceptions and to occupy the structure at once.

The special city hall committee of council, headed by Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, reached this decision Friday.

This, it is held, will amply protect the borough and at the same time permit occupancy of the structure at once, thus paving the way for early start on collections of $3,333 monthly rentals which the Carling Hotel Company, Inc., will pay as a lease of the present site of the city hall.

Electrical work, which is under fire, and several exceptions which have been noted by G. Lloyd Preacher, architect, will not be approved, until they are rectified.

Many of the discrepancies which were noted in the inspections on electrical installations already have been corrected, it was reported to the committee.

Real Cod Liver Oil Vitamins In This Tablet

What would you say if a man handed you two sugar coated tablets—easy to swallow—and said to you—

There's just as many precious Vitamins A and D in these two tablets as there is in a teaspoonful of pure Cod Liver Oil.

You'll probably say, "If it's true, it's amazing."

Well it is true and it's more than amazing—it's a miracle. It took a learned chemist two and a half years to make the discovery.

He takes the priceless health restoring Vitamins from pure Vitamin tested Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and puts them in sugar coated Tablets.

What does that mean to the millions of men, women and children who rely on Cod Liver Oil to keep them strong and vigorous?

It means that they won't have to take the unpalatable, stomach upsetting oil any more—the very same Vitamins are in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets.

Two tablets equal in Vitamin potency one teaspoonful of pure Cod Liver Oil and 8 tablets a day will supply any ordinary person with all the Vitamins they need.

And always remember this: When you take Cod Liver Oil its beneficial health building Vitamins are what you are after—the greasy oil without the Vitamins has no value.

Instead of disagreeable Cod Liver Oil try McCoy's for a month—you can take them winter and summer and carry a whole week's supply in your vest pocket.

And the kiddies just love them.

For every ailment, malady or rundown condition for which Cod Liver Oil is prescribed, McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good. Do you realize that we would not be allowed to make this statement if it were not true?

Get them at any drug store in America—Precious but inexpensive. Take your Vitamins straight—60 tablets 60 cents.—(adv.)

Birthday Party Given 5-Year-Old In Lower House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(UN) Poor little Paulina.

She was five today but she had no party.

All she got was a cake, and a reception from the house of representatives, similar to that given to Lindbergh or the crown prince of Sweden.

Sometimes she goes to the capitol with her papa, who has business there. She doesn't understand the business, but it seems to be important.

Today her papa made arrangements to play hookey from his job as speaker of the house after the business got going and go home to help cut the birthday cake.

While she and nurse waited, the nice lady in papa's office took her to the gallery, where she could see a log of men sitting around talking.

One of the men made a little speech and pointed up at Paulina, and everybody started clapping.

Paulina clapped, too, until the nice lady from papa's office said "Mustn't."

Then they clapped some more for her. Then they went back to their talking, so Paulina and nurse got papa and they all went home to cut the birthday cake with Alice.

The day wasn't as exciting as a visit to the ten-cent store, where Paulina likes to buy things, but birthdays are something after all, even to the daughter of Nicholas Longworth and granddaughter of Theodore Roosevelt.

Butler Will Run For Senate Seat

BOSTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—William M. Butler, former chairman of the republican national committee and United States senator, today announced his candidacy for the republican senatorial nomination in the primaries next September. He aspires to the seat now occupied by Senator Frederick H. Gillett, who has made known his intention to retire.

Butler, who managed Calvin Coolidge's campaign for the presidency in 1924, said he believed he should be returned to the senate to build up and protect the business of the state from the competition of the south and west. He also said he was making his plans known at this time, "partly to clarify the political situation." Referring to prohibition as "another of the great issues of the hour," Butler said he would meet that issue "squarely in another statement and within a month."

GROCER IS HELD UP

N. H. Mazier Reports to Police Loss of $187.

N. H. Mazier, a grocer at 144 Pine street, was held up and robbed of $187 by two unmasked negro bandits, just as he was opening his store for business Friday morning. Mazier was opening his safe when the two negroes came in. Both were armed, and as one acted as a lookout at the front door the second held out a hat and forced Mazier to place the money in it. Call Officers Hardy and Hughes investigated.

THE HUGHES APPROVAL.

The conservative people of the country will receive the confirmation of Judge Hughes to be chief justice of the supreme court with approval and gratification. The two-to-one vote in the senate by which the confirmation was registered assures the people that a wholesome majority in that body cannot be controlled by personal prejudices and radical economic propaganda.

The democratic senators who voted on the issue divided evenly, 15 to 15, showing that it was not with them in any wise a partisan question, but that their attitudes were dictated by their individual opinions of the character and qualifications of the nominee. It is gratifying to note that half of the voting democrats were proof against the appeals of those western senators who so vehemently cry out against their "stand pat" epublican party and then always "go straight" at the ballot boxes when called by the party horn.

There has been altogether too much democratic egging on of the Borahs, Brookharts, Nyes and McMasters of that wing of the republican party which "roars like a lion" on the floors of congress and then "lies down like lambs" in the party fold when the eastern bosses rattle their feed-box keys in their faces. Democratic principles are sacrificed and the party standards bedraggled by association with those western insurgents who snuff out their rebellions as soon as the party beacon is lit for an impending national campaign.

The fight on the Hughes confirmation was far-fetched, manifestly captious, and obviously vain from the start. The character of the man as honorable citizen, sincere patriot and capable jurist were so thoroughly esteemed by the general public that the attack made upon his confirmation has shocked the popular sense of fairness and national welfare. The intelligent people of the country know that Justice Hughes, when on the supreme bench, and no other one justice upon it, could make its decisions, establish his personal view of the constitution, and change the public policy of the republic.

The attack upon him because of a supreme court opinion, written by him as one of the court, and announced by the consent of a majority of the justices, was an attack upon the court itself, and it is to the high credit of 52 senators of both parties that they refused to make the attack successful.

That Chief Justice Hughes will vindicate the confidence of the senate and the country by a clean and faithful service in his high station is among the sure things of the future.

THAT PENSION DEBACLE.

The ruling by Attorney-General Napier that the Confederate pensioners of the state are entitled to only $50 per quarter instead of the $30 per month that the legislature in one act voted to allow them, comes as a grief and great privation to the old veterans and the widows of veterans.

But the attorney-general has ruled correctly and there is no one to blame for the sorrowful disappointment but the members of the legislature who were too dumb-headed to write a substantive law. The appropriations committees went blunderingly along incorporating the old law and paying no heed to the new act granting the increased pension rate.

It is fundamental in American law that the last expression of the legislative will must prevail, and as the appropriation act was that last expression it naturally repealed the previous act of the same session that increased the pensions.

There is no legal help for the deplorable situation. Only another session of the legislature, special or regular, could re-enact the increased rate and provide for its payment.

This is only another glaring case of legislative carelessness and incompetency. If it had happened to the per diem of the legislature instead of the pitiable pensioners it might be borne with complacency, but as the facts stands it mounts into an inhuman outrage upon the worthy helpless.

ABOLISH SPEED TRAPS.

The authorities of Cobb county will do well to so regulate their "rules of the road" as to quiet the many complaints made against the road patrols of the county. In the past few months many such complaints have been mailed to The Constitution, but have been withheld from print in the hope that the instances of oppression in Cobb county were isolated and not common.

That fine county, containing so many attractions and such fair and excellent people, is now on the main traveled Dixie highway. Over it many thousands of motorists from over the nation wish to travel and it will be a misfortune to the county and to the state to have it get abroad that there is a hijacking "speed trap" run for revenue from unwary motorists in that county.

It is a sure thing that the citizens of Cobb county and Marietta want no such contraption and no such reputation. They can enforce the abatement of the evils complained of by home people and strangers, and it is our confidence that they will promptly abolish them.

Road laws in the interest of safety are necessary and their proper enforcement should be had, but there should be wisdom in their framing and both moderation and justice in their execution. That is the characteristic Georgia way.

A REMARKABLE SITUATION.

News reports from Washington, telling of automobiles loaded with cargoes of liquors, coming into Georgia from Florida under the protection of the great seal of the United States, reveal a condition of affairs in governmental law enforcement which, to put it mildly, is amazing.

According to these reports inspectors working directly under instructions from the department of agriculture at Washington have, after examining cars for possible traces of the Mediterranean fly, sent numerous cars across the state line under the protection of the seal of the United States government, although their examination had revealed that they were rum runners.

Very properly the federal enforcement officers have registered strenuous protest in Washington and the prosecuting attorney of the northern district of Florida is reported as declaring that those responsible in future for such use of the nation's seal will be promptly called to account.

While it may be true that technically only the agents of the prohibition enforcement bureau may make arrests for the violation of the eighteenth amendment, it is difficult to conceive of a situation whereby the agents of the other departments of the federal government would not only wink at the open violation of any law, but actually give protection to lawbreakers.

According to the reports from Washington, the matter has been referred to the department of justice by the officials of the treasury and agricultural departments, and it is to be hoped that, as a result, steps will be taken to put an immediate end to a situation so out of keeping with the American idea of the proper conduct of representatives of their government.

Senator Dill is doing his darndest to pickle the Hughes nomination.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

"Miss Holland's" Elimination.

In Holland they discovered a few days after the palm in a beauty contest had been awarded to a certain lady, that she was married. Worse she was a mother, worse still she was 30 years of age. The lady in question was immediately disqualified and the second in line promoted to first position. Now, as far as many are concerned, that first lady will remain the most beautiful just the same in the land of Queen Wilhelmina. Why shouldn't married women and mothers be permitted to participate in these beauty contests? Whoever is the man to set up that ruling in the first place? It was not ever thus. Take mythology and the affair on Mount Ida. Two of the immortals who disputed the price which the shepherd Paris held out were married: Juno to Jupiter and Venus to Vulcan. The latter goddess had given birth to our eternal worry let it be said, to little Cupid. The other lady who figured in the classic contest, Minerva, would have had a right, if present day rules had been in vogue, to say to the other two participants in the contest: "Better beat it sweeties, I take the cake, or the apple rather. For I am the only one unmarried here!" Still would we be satisfied today to think that Venus had been eliminated? It's doubtful. In a beauty contest, it would seem natural, only beauty should count. Marriage does not interfere with beauty in the least. Motherhood neither. Is anyone justified to say that a woman of 30 is finished in so far aesthetics are concerned? The formulators of beauty contest rules have another guess coming, if they think so. No, the disqualification of the first "Miss Holland" is a defiance of justice and good sense.

Hebraic Contribution.

Many interesting points emerge from the scholarly work, "The Jews in the Christian Era," by Laurie Magnus, which has just seen the light in England. The object of the writer is to assess the value of the contributions made by the Jews to civilization. It will come as news to many readers of this "monument of learning and piety" that the Jewish faculty for trade was an acquired, not an aboriginal or native faculty. The Jews were originally an agricultural people. "Their Sabbath, festivals, holidays and poor law all rested on an agricultural foundation, and the rural Utopia which passed into the heritage of modern literature is essentially a Hebrew vision." So says Mr. Magnus, and he is undoubtedly right. They took to commerce because in the feudal communities which dominated society in the early middle ages there was no place for the despised and detested Jew. They were consequently driven to trade; but, as Mr. Magnus insisted, "they were not bred to it, as were the Greeks who had been seafarers throughout their history, familiar with the Mediterranean ports.

The Jews are never mentioned in pagan literature as a mercantile folk." But they had the brains for commerce and they acquired the aptitude. Another interesting point brought out is that it was the Crusades which drove the Jews to money-lending. And one more, on which Mr. Magnus lays great stress, that the Jews acted as "the carriers of Hellenism." The book is a mine of knowledge and information.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A VILLAIN MAY SMILE, A SCOUNDREL LAUGH, BUT A RIGHT GUY CHUCKLES.

Owing to the low regard of our educational administrators for human anatomy and physiology, very few laymen know what the breathing muscle is or how it works. Some folk think they know what and where the diaphragm is, but they're sadly misinformed; it is not the epigastrium at all, nor is it susceptible of reduction by harness, splints, compression apparatus or other gadgets sold to the dumbbells for that purpose. The human diaphragm is never too fat or too thin, but it's often too dignified, quiet and tame.

This is not a plea for somersaulting before breakfast or anything like that. So please don't throw the paper down in disgust, you with the stiff diaphragm. I promise you what I am urging will do you no harm even if you try to follow my advice.

The diaphragm is a muscle, a voluntary muscle yet its action is under automatic control, just as the muscle that winks the eye is. The diaphragm is stretched like a tarpaulin across the body cavity, dividing the abdominal cavity from the thoracic cavity. It covers the liver, stomach and other abdominal organs, and upon it rest the lungs and the heart. The diaphragm is elastic. When it contracts it squeezes down on the liver, stomach and other digestive organs, and at the same time permits the lungs to expand if there is no obstruction to the entrance of air. Then when the muscle contraction ceases, the downward pressure relaxes and the elastic tarpaulin resumes its inactive, resting or dead form or position, and if there is any elasticity in chest and lungs the air drawn in by the contraction of the diaphragm is breathed out again, provided there is no obstruction to the outflow.

Ah, that's just where the chuckle comes in. A mere smile has nothing to do with this. A genuine laugh, a hearty, unrestrained laugh, does definitely affect the muscles of the diaphragm and the whole breathing mechanism, and is for that reason as well as for other reasons, a healthful influence. But you see, when you laugh out in a natural, unrestrained manner, the diaphragm encounters only slight resistance, depending on the vocal expression of your laughter. A wide open haw haw involves only a trifling, momentary resistance during the instant of articulating the hs. If you ha ha or he he or heh heh, there are various degrees of resistance to the elastic recoil of the diaphragm and the rest of the breathing and sound making mechanism. But I suppose, now, instead of laughing out, even politely and sedately, you just chuckle. There you make a lot of resistance, so much, indeed, that the belly muscles—you know, the muscles in the front wall of the abdomen—react to the stimulus and contract vigorously against the resistance. So you see the old liver, stomach and everything in there will get a thorough massage, much more thorough than they get in ordinary laughing.

This is the physiology of the matter. I refrain from adding any psychological inferences. You can draw them to suit yourself. Only I hope you realize now that no one else derives so much benefit from this peculiar human characteristic as does the guy who chuckles quietly where others laugh with sound effects.

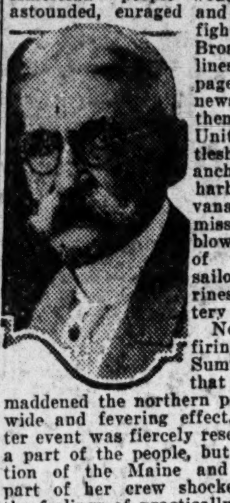
Adams Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of J. Duncan Adams to be United States marshal of the western district of South Carolina.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL

A Plea for the Just Treatment of the Spanish War Veterans.



On this morning 32 years ago the American people woke up to be astounded, enraged and boiling with fighting blood. Broad black headlines on the front pages of their newspapers told them that the United States battleship Maine, anchored in the harbor of Havana on a pacific mission, had been blown up and 260 of the nation's sailors and marines sent to watery death.

Not even the firing on Fort Sumter in 1861, that startled and maddened the northern people, had so wide and fevering effect. The Sumter event was fiercely resented by only a part of the people, but the destruction of the Maine and so large a part of her crew shocked and fired the feelings of practically all the people of the greater nation.

The conviction was instant and fairly unanimous that the great warship had been made the victim of Spanish treachery and barbarism. The cry for vengeance coined the slogan, "Remember the Maine!" and everyone agreed at once that Spain must be punished and her dominion in Cuba and on this hemisphere broken forever!

Finding the Way to War.

There was great confusion of opinion in official circles about the cause of the Maine disaster. Inquiries were instituted and all the facts ascertainable brought to light. Spain denied responsibility, of course, and the people of this country insisted that her authorities at Havana were guilty, directly or indirectly, of allowing the vessel to be the prey of enemies of the United States.

After over two months the public pressure upon President McKinley became too intense to be resisted and he asked for a declaration of war upon Spain, which the congress promptly made.

Then the country leaped to arms. A call was made upon the states for troops and there was a rush of volunteers. The regiments thus enlisted in the states were mobilized for training and equipment, and many of the camps were located here in Georgia—at Chickamauga, Macon, Augusta, Americus, Savannah. It was not until June that a few regulars and specially prepared volunteer commands were sent to Cuba.

* * * *

The Campaign in Cuba.

The real fighting campaign in Cuba, brought to blood at Las Guasimas and El Caney, east of Santiago, was of brief duration, but it brought the destruction of Cervera's fleet of Spanish warships and the victories at El Caney and San Juan Hill which forced the surrender of Toral's army, the city of Santiago and the appeal of Spain for a pacific settlement of the Cuban problem.

Out of that quickstep war we got the independence of Cuba and the possession of Porto Rico and the Philippine islands.

But we also got the greatest war conquest ever achieved by a wholly volunteer army in the history of civilization. And in the swamps, the jungles and from the blazing sun of Cuba we got an enervated army, many deaths from tropical diseases, and physical impairments that have pressed heavily upon our brave veterans ever since. No men who ever served the nation deserve better of it than those who upheld the flag in the Spanish-American conflict.

* * * *

Have Not Had a Square Deal.

What I am writing this to say to our people is that we veterans of that war have not had a square deal from our government.

Our claims have been largely ignored, picked into bits by cheese-paring politicians, and utterly denied in thousands of cases in order that some strand of red tape should not be broken, or some petty official's idiosyncrasy might not be upset.

With the exception of some 50,000 Union veteran survivors we Spanish War veterans are the oldest who have served the nation and have crucial claims upon its care.

The Knutson bill is pending in the congress now to thus belatedly do better for the dependent men who humbled haughty Spain and enriched the people with possessions of the most enormous value. Every person who loves justice and has a humane heart should write to a congressman to stand squarely by that just measure.

'Everybody's Business'

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

Sun Life Insurance Company Good Business President—Britain's Electrical Industry—Remarkable Expansion Shown for Cigarette Consumption in 1929.

When T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company, made the annual report of his company's activities he showed that the rate of interest earned on its "mean invested assets" had risen to 7.02 per cent. With bonuses and stock privileges accruing on the company's holdings eliminated, the rate of return was 6.60 per cent.

"We believe in the future of Montreal, of New York, of Chicago, and all our great cities. We believe still more in the future of both Canada and the United States, and our investment policy is based on that confidence," said this Scotch president of Canada's largest life insurance company.

"What effect had the stock market drop on Sun policy?"

"When investing our funds we have an eye to the distant future—10, 20, 30 years hence," said Mr. Macaulay. "Through our large stock holdings we have become permanent partners in the great utility and other corporations which serve our large cities."

United States government bonds, preferred and common stocks in American institutions owned by this Canadian company, totalled $300,000,000 out of combined assets of $460,000,000.

The British electrical industry has been making greatstrides in recent years. In 1913, the electrical output in all its branches amounted to $146,000,000, an impressive increase over the $68,000,000 done in 1907. But in 1928, the business reached $418,500,000, about three times the pre-war figure and six times the amount handled 20 years ago.

British electrical exports are competing in several places successfully with its American and German competitors. Last year, about $92,000,000 of its electrical equipment was exported, an increase of 140 per cent over 1913.

Unlike the industry in the United States, the British industry up to recently had not been concentrated in the hands of a few firms, but in the last 12 months a series of amalgamations have taken place, which leads one to suppose that the same developments which have taken place in the United States will take place in England.

Today three British groups in the electrical industry employ about 38,000 workers.

Sir Joshua Stamp, 49, English businessman and financier, when asked recently for his views on the "citizen of the future," said: "The citizen of the future will care more for others, and that care will have the richest reaction in his own character. Unselfishness is the only thing that can supplement this in his character. The citizen of the future will find out more—he will think and judge better. He will have a clearer aim, and weigh the spiritual against the material and mercenary; and he will work more wisely, if not so long, and he will do it all for love."

Probably no British subject has a wider sweep of business both from a theoretical and practical standpoint than Sir Joshua Stamp. A member of most of the scholastic organizations of England, he has represented his country in many conferences on both sides of the Atlantic. He was an important member of the committee that framed the Dawes report, has spoken and written extensively on income, wealth, taxation, and banking, and still has time to attend to the work of the world.

He is president of the executive committee of the London, Midland & Scotch railroad, a director of the Nobel Industries, Ltd., and a member of the board of directors of many companies.

Sir Joshua Stamp and John Maynard Eynes are among the most brilliant of the younger British leaders.

HIGHWAY EMPLOYES TO LOSE JOBS

several employes at the East Point offices were in line to go.

The assignments of division engineers to the six newly created divisions, as announced by Colonel Sam Tate following the board meeting Friday, are:

Division Engineers.

Division one, Cartersville, W. F. Montgomery, former senior resident engineer at Rome.

Division two, Gainesville, E. A. Fish, former senior resident engineer at Griffin.

Division three, Thomaston, W. S. Dennis, formerly in charge of the Dublin division.

Division four, Louisville, H. E. Newton, former division engineer at Waycross.

Division five, Moultrie, C. H. Wheatley, of Americus, former county engineer of Sumter.

Division six, Waycross, H. J. Friedman, former district engineer at Savannah.

Three of the men, Wheatley, Fish and Montgomery, are new division engineers. E. N. Parker, formerly division engineer at Gainesville, and C. W. Wright, division engineer at Griffin, will be promoted to the home office at East Point, and Gartner Atkinson, who has been serving as acting division engineer, will be recalled to East Point.

E. N. Seymour, former assistant office engineer at East Point, has been named office engineer.

Effective March 1.

Colonel Tate indicated that it is the intention of the board to place resident engineers in places where division offices have been located. He also said that it is likely that engineers of the maintenance department will occupy some of the offices vacated by the rearrangement of divisions.

Changes in the personnel of the maintenance division were announced by G. C. Blount, state maintenance engineer, also effective March 1, follow: Division 1, Cartersville, L. J. Scott, maintenance supervisor; J. M. Camp and G. H. Sconyers, assistant maintenance supervisors. Scott was formerly resident engineer at Rome; Camp is present maintenance supervisor at Rome; Sconyers has been maintenance supervisor at Dublin.

Division Two, Gainesville, R. D. Osterhout, maintenance supervisor; A. C. Stringer and C. J. Smith, assistants. Osterhout is present maintenance engineer at Griffin, Stringer has been on special highway work at Rome, and Smith is former maintenance supervisor at Savannah.

Division Three, Thomaston, J. M. Flannigan, maintenance supervisor; J. H. Redmond and C. A. Phillips, assistants. Flannigan formerly was maintenance engineer at Rome, Redmond and Phillips held the same posts at Griffin and Americus, respectively.

Louisville Division.

Division Four, Louisville, C. H. Leftwich, former maintenance engineer at Augusta, maintenance supervisor, and Otis Stevens and J. B. Johnson, assistants. Stevens formerly was a maintenance patrolman in the Augusta division, and Johnson is a former superintendent of roads of Toombs county.

Division Five, Moultrie, W. T. O'Shields, former maintenance engineer at Thomasville, maintenance supervisor, and J. M. Holder and Sam Harrell, assistants. Holder formerly was maintenance supervisor at Thomasville, and Harrell a county commissioner, residing in Moultrie.

Division Six, Waycross, H. P. Phillips, retiring maintenance engineer at Dublin, maintenance supervisor, and H. Brannon and G. M. Flannigan, former maintenance supervisors at Savannah and Waycross, respectively, assistants.

Mr. Blount announced that in the reorganization, the office of maintenance engineer had been abolished, and that future maintenance chiefs of the divisions would be known as maintenance supervisors.

Delegation Heard.

The highway board Friday heard a delegation from Spalding and surrounding counties, which asked that the board reconsider its decision to move the division offices from Griffin to Thomaston. After hearing J. Flint, of Griffin, spokesman for the delegation, Chairman Tate announced that the board had studied carefully its plans for reorganization of the department and that the new division headquarters announced February 3 would stand.

"If we have made a mistake, I am of course, sorry, but what we have written we have written, and I don't see any way how we can change it. The changes were made from the standpoint of engineering advantages. I wish it were so that we could put a division headquarters every place it is desired, but this, of course, is impossible. It is quite likely that if the maintenance division finds it advantageous, that quite a number of the maintenance staff will work out of cities that formerly were division headquarters."

The chairman said the board had received a delegation yesterday from Savannah, asking that division headquarters not be moved away from that city, but that plans for the reorganization of the department had made it impossible to accede to Savannah's request.

WILLIAMS APPEALS FOR CUT IN ACREAGE

Cotton Member of Farm Board Says Cut Is Only Salvation.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 14.—Carl Williams, southern member of the federal farm board, put the cotton growers of the south on notice in a radio address here tonight, that if they expected to get a better price for their product in 1930, they must cut down on their acreage.

Reiterating the stand of the farm board that they cannot fix the price of cotton but can only help the farmer to help himself, Mr. Williams declared that the south must produce not more than 13,000,000 bales this year if better prices are to be secured.

"The recent weakness in cotton prices should be taken as a sharp warning to cotton growers," declared Mr. Williams. "That weakness rests on two things—a low current rate of cotton consumption and trade anticipation of a larger crop in 1930. Cotton growers cannot do anything about this year's cotton consumption, but they can do a great deal about the crop of 1930. If they want a better price in 1930, it is not too late to plan to get it. They can get it by cutting down the acreage.

"On 48,730,000 acres in 1926 there were produced 18,000,000 bales of cotton that brought the growers less than $1,000,000,000. The following year a crop of 13,000,000 bales was produced on 41,905,000 acres and was sold for $1,300,000,000. That is, the acreage of 1927 was reduced 6,825,000 acres below that of 1926, but the crop raised thereon was sold for $300,000,000 more. This is not ancient history. It is a story only two or three years old.

"In 1928 and again in 1929 cotton growers increased their plantings substantially above those of 1927. The crops were larger and prices have been lower. This last year's crop of 14,900,000 bales is bringing less money than the 1927 crop of 13,000,000 bales, although world stocks are lower. This policy does not pay. A cotton acreage of 40,000,000 acres whatever the yield per acre, can be counted on to bring considerably more income than an acreage of 47,000,000 or 49,000,000 acres.

"If the United States produces in 1930 a crop of 13,000,000 bales or less, growers may expect considerably better prices and larger incomes next year than they got last year.

"The federal farm board cannot fix the world price of cotton. It cannot fully protect farmers from the consequences of over-planting, neither can the cotton co-operatives nor the new American Cotton Co-operative Association. The board wants to help farmers to help themselves; if growers will reduce their cotton acreage, they will thereby help themselves to better incomes. The interests of the entire nation are involved in this problem. The earnest co-operation of every farmer, merchant, banker, newspaper, educational institution and every public-spirited citizen of the south is invited to make effective this plain lesson of recent years."

PEACE ON OCEAN PROPOSAL GAINING

ures. If Foreign Minister Dino Grandi stated the Italian position at all, it was believed he would re-emphasize the parity idea and express regret France had set her figures so high.

Many Conferences.

For the third day in a row the Americans and British conferred with the French in an effort to take some of the supposed rubber out of the latter's demands. For more than two hours the French memorandum was discussed at St. James' palace by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Senator Joseph T. Robinson and Dwight W. Morrow of the United States; Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, First Lord of the Admiralty Albert V. Alexander and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, and Premier Andre Tardieu and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand of France.

Much interest was aroused by the revelation that the Japanese had submitted two sets of alternative figures to the Americans before issuing their memorandum. Both sets insisted on retention of Japan's 78,000 tons of submarines, but granted the United States still more.

One set suggested the United States build only 15 10,000-ton cruisers, in which case Japan desired a 72 per cent ratio in such craft. The alternative proposal was that the United States build 18, with Japan having a 70 per cent ratio.

Agreed.

The experts' subcommittee unanimously agreed on the provisional arrangement dawn up at Geneva in 1927 for creating exempt classes of warships. Only one amendment was made, at Japanese suggestion. It raised the speed limit of exempted vessels to 20 knots from 18.

An American spokesman said he was pleased at the cordiality shown among the experts. Exemption of converted American destroyers used as coast guard rum chasers was one of the topics touched on.

Most of the delegates left tonight for the week-end. Senator Robinson and Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams will be at Stanmore with Secretary Stimson, who will entertain the dominion delegates Sunday. The leading French delegates left for Paris to mend political fences.

A British spokesman listed the progress made by the conference in its first four weeks as follows:

1. Continuation of preliminary discussion.
2. Emergence of discussion of total tonnages and tonnages by warship classes.
3. Gradual settlement of problems through work of the committee of the whole and production of a blank tonnage table which the various delegations may fill in.

Cruiser Launched.

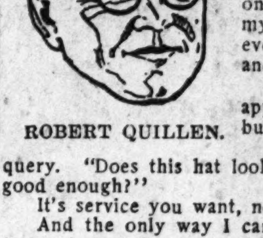
ST. NAZAIRE, France, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The cruiser training ship Jeanne A'Arc was launched here today, the first French battleship built by private industry since the war. The vessel has a displacement of 6,600 tons, reckoned by rules laid down at the Washington naval conference, and a speed of 25 knots. It is 518 feet long and carries the most recent type of torpedo tubes. It is destined for long cruises in foreign seas.

Letters From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

My dear Louise:

A few days ago granny found one of my letters to you and was much alarmed. "Don't scold the poor child so much," said she; "you'll have her thinking everything she does is wrong."



ROBERT QUILLEN.

I thought of that yesterday as we were getting out of the car and you called my attention to a smudge of grease on my chin—a smear of black that came from a glove that got it from a steering wheel that made contact with a messy mechanic.

If you hadn't told me about it, everybody on the street would have grinned at me and my embarrassment would have increased at every step until I glanced in a window mirror and discovered the cause of their amusement.

When you dress to go out in public, you may appreciate my telling you how nice you look, but you never ask if you look nice.

"Does the powder show?" is you first query. "Does this hat look all right with this dress?" "Are my nails good enough?"

It's service you want, not flattery.

And the only way I can serve you is to call your attention to the faults that might embarrass you in public.

That's the way I try to serve you in my letters.

They wouldn't be worth anything to you if I filled them with compliments.

When I remind you of your mistakes and call your attention to imperfections and warn you against pitfalls, I am a rheumatic old soldier back from the wars preparing a young knight for conflict.

You are putting on your armor to go adventuring in the world, and I fail in my duty if I don't examine helmet and beaver, breastplate and greave, and show you every weak spot that might expose you to hurt.

You and I "agin" the world, Honey; and it's my job to equip you so well the world can't embarrass or discomfit you.

I wouldn't be much of a dad if I let you leave home with a hole in your stocking.

Granny may think me an old scold, but I don't lose any sleep over her opinion while you continue to make use of the same lap and shoulder when you feel the need of a good cry.

So long as we understand one another, and no chinks appear in your armor, nothing else matters very much.

Love, DAD.

HARDEGREE ACQUITTED IN JOHNSON MURDER

he walked into the offices of The Constitution several weeks ago and confessed that he killed Johnson in a drunken fight five months before. The crime appeared beyond solution, though J. W. Wikle, an Eatonton carpenter, was under indictment, when Hardegree's confession supplied a dramatic climax to the mystery. Wikle since has been freed on his own bond. The solicitor-general's office has announced the charge is to be nolle prossed.

Gets Case at 4:20 P. M.

The jury received the Hardegree case at 4:20 o'clock, after hearing a 30-minute charge from Judge Moore, who included in his direction to the jury the possible return of all verdicts from acquittal through the various forms to manslaughter to murder in the first degree without a recommendation for mercy. The jury returned its verdict at 4:55 o'clock. Judge Moore and Assistant Solicitor-General John H. Hudson, who directed the prosecution were called into the courtroom and the verdict was read as the courtroom clock was striking five.

There was no demonstration, though a fairly well crowded courtroom heard the verdict. As the jury was filing in, Judge Moore issued a warning from the bench, saying that he would banish anyone guilty of causing a demonstration.

In returning the verdict of acquittal the jury showed its belief in the statement made by Hardegree on the witness stand, that he killed the Hartwell professor in self-defense when the teacher, a visitor here to the convention of the National Education Association, threatened him when he decided to "break up the party" the two had engaged in from about 9 o'clock until midnight on the night of June 29 last. Johnson's body was found slumped over the wheel of his parked motor car on the morning of June 30.

Arguments Presented.

In his plea to the jury, William G. McRae, who defensed Hardegree, asked for a verdict of acquittal or if the jury voted to find him guilty, a verdict of involuntary manslaughter, which carries a penalty of from one to three years in prison.

The prosecution made various pleas to the jury. Paul S. Etheridge, special prosecutor, employed by the Johnson family, making the opening appeal for the state, asked a verdict of death in the electric chair if Hardegree was found guilty, while Mr. Hudson in the state's closing argument, asked a verdict of manslaughter or one of guilty or murder without or with a recommendation for mercy, as the jury saw fit.

"Hardegree either is guilty of murder in the first degree or he should be found not guilty," Mr. Etheridge said. "This is either a case of cold blooded murder or one of voluntary manslaughter."

Trial Lasts Two Days.

"From the evidence offered here I think the jury might return a verdict of any of the forms of manslaughter as well as one of murder," Mr. Hudson declared. "There seems to be a great difference of opinion regarding the intention of malice."

The Hardegree trial lasted only two days, the first of which was used by the state in presentation of its direct evidence, while the second, in addition to the arguments of counsel and the judge's charge, was given over to the hearing of Hardegree's statement from the witness stand, which follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury, I am very sorry to have been the cause of a man's death. If I was, I did not commit murder, for I had no such intention and did not even know the man I struck. When I left him I am sure he was still alive. I could not identify him from a photograph and I did not even know his name until it appeared in the newspapers the next day.

"On the night of last June 29, I was walking down South Forsyth street and passed a garage. A man was standing in the door, and he waved at me, inviting me to have a drink.

"I had already been drinking, and had half a pint in my pocket. He had a larger bottle, and after we took a drink from his bottle, I offered him one from mine. We soon drank all the liquor in both bottles.

"Asked About Liquor."

"He asked me where I got my liquor, and I told him out in the country. His car was being worked on during this time, but a garage man came up and told him that he would have to take it to another garage to get it fixed.

"My companion said to me, 'I am too drunk to drive. How about you driving for me?' I agreed to this and took the wheel.

"I drove to Hunter and Forsyth streets. While we were waiting there we took another drink. Then we began arguing about which one of us was drunker, and he insisted on taking the wheel.

"I got out of his car, but he urged me to get back in, saying that we would get some more whisky and pitch a regular party.

"After that I don't remember much of anything until we stopped at a grocery store. I went in and bought a dill pickle and ate it. Johnson soon returned to the car with some negroes, and said we were going to hunt some whisky. I asked him to let me out, but he begged me to stay with him.

"After we had driven around a while I ordered him to stop the car and told him I would not go to a negro house with him.

"The negro boys already had jumped off of the car. Johnson began to drive too fast, and I tried to reach down and turn off the switch. Every time I did this he pushed his elbow into my face. He was driving recklessly and I wanted to get out and leave him. Then he said to me, '——, you are going with me or we will both go to hell together I'll kill you.'

"Hit Him Over Head."

"Then he jabbed something into my side. I thought he was going to kill me. I reached down into the foot of the car and picked up something heavy and hit him over the head with it. Then I jerked on the brakes and got out and left at once.

"I did not intend to kill him. He was not dead when I left. I did not even know who he was. I only wanted to protect myself.

"At the time I had a black eye that had been given me a few days before by another man when we had an argument about President Hoover inviting the wife of a negro congressman to the White House.

"I read in the papers the following Monday morning about Johnson being killed and that was the first time I knew his name. I didn't know whether I was responsible or not. The story made it seem that he had been killed, by somebody who wanted to rob him and that made me uncertain about the whole thing because I knew I hadn't wanted to rob him. If it hadn't been for that angle of it I would have reported the affair at once.

Went to The Constitution.

"I said nothing about it to anybody until December. I went voluntarily to the office of The Atlanta Constitution and told what I knew to a reporter. In regard to Lieutenant Sturdivant's statement about it I asked when I went in the office to see a reporter. I was surprised when the detective came in a few minutes later because I didn't know they had called him. I never said to anybody that I had killed Johnson. I didn't know what size he was or his age or anything about him. When Sturdivant came in I met him in the photographer's office.

"He asked me if what I had said to the reporter was true and I said 'yes.' He asked me if I wanted to make a statement and I told him 'no,' I had said all about the case I wanted to say right then.

"I told the detective I was dry and wanted a drink and he said I could have all the liquor I wanted if I would tell him about my experiences with Johnson.

"I told him I would talk to him next day, but that I had been drinking and didn't want to say anything else then. Next day he asked me af I would stick by what I had said the night before and I told him 'yes.'

Trip to Cincinnati Told.

"Johnson's brother came to see me and asked me to tell him all about it, but I told him I had nothing else to say. I never said to anybody that I killed A. H. Johnson because I wasn't sure about it.

"I made a business trip to Cincinnati and on August 1 I went to Montgomery and worked until late in September. I started to the American Legion convention in Louisville, but stopped off at Birmingham and came home. I have been here ever since, living at 819 Glendale Terrace, N. E.

"December 9 was the first time I had said anything to anybody about this affair.

"I learned that J. W. Wikle had been indicted for murdering Johnson and I didn't know whether he was guilty or not.

"I went voluntarily to tell what I knew. Gentlemen of the jury, what I have told you is the truth. I am innocent. I thank you!"

ties in the field of non-metallic mineral production.

Mr. Copps has been connected with the mining industry over a period of 35 or 40 years. He is regarded by his friends as one of the "old gold prospectors," having participated in the gold rushes of the Hudson Bay region in Ontario about 35 years ago, and also in Michigan gold producing territories. He spent Friday in Atlanta with his son, Joe Copps, who will return to Dahlonega today. Mr. Copps and his son were guests of William Zimmer, former lessee of the Kimball and Piedmont hotels here and now operator of the Zimmer Mountain lodge at Dahlonega. Mr. Copps left for Milwaukee Friday night.

ATLANTA BANKERS GOING TO NEW YORK

Party Leaves This Morning for Important Trust Conference.

Then senior officers of the trust departments of Atlanta banks are leaving this morning on the Crescent Limited for New York to attend the eleventh midwinter trust conference, the annual convention of the trust company section of the American Bankers' Association. The sessions open Tuesday morning at the Commodore hotel and extend through Friday.

Gordon L. Groover, vice president and general trust officer, Savannah; H. F. Pelham, vice president, and L. H. Parris, assistant trust officer, of the Citizens and Southern National bank; W. H. Perkerson and Robert G. Stephens, vice presidents of the First National bank, and Ronald Ranson, vice president of the Fulton National bank, will compose the party.

It is expected that William Murphey, president, and H. Lane Young, vice president and executive manager, of the Citizens and Southern National bank, and Robert G. Maddox, chairman of the board of the First National bank, will leave early next week for the meeting especially to attend the fourteenth annual trust company banquet, featuring the session Thursday night.

The rapid expansion of public interest in the facilities of the trust department of the banks has made this session the outstanding banking function of the year. The American Bankers' Association reports that several hundred banks will be represented, including many from the Dominion of Canada, and that in excess of 1,200 bankers will be in attendance at the banquet Thursday night. The banquet speakers are to be Alfred E. Smith, former governor of New York state, now chairman of the board of the County Trust Company, of New York, and P. D. Willcock, manager of the Midland Executor and Trustee Company, Ltd., of Manchester, England. His institution is the trust company affiliate of the Great Midland bank, of England.

Attempt To Murder Charged to Wyatt

Indictments charging assault with intent to murder and carrying a concealed weapon were returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury against Grady Wyatt. The true bills resulted from the grand jury's investigation of charges that Wyatt wounded H. Blackwell, house detective in a local hotel and shot at B. E. Durham, a sentinel at Fort McPherson.

Wyatt came here from Vidalia to enter the army, and is charged with shooting Blackwell during a scuffle following an argument. Wyatt then went to Fort McPherson with Blackwell's pistol, and later in the day engaged in a gun battle with the sentinel, it is charged. Wyatt himself received a wound during his scuffle with Blackwell, it was said.

'Author' Gets Term For Stealing Stories

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A would-be author who admitted copying stories from one magazine and selling them to another as his own work today was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of six months to three years. The charge was petit larceny.

The "author," Robert A. Carter, 32, of Carter, Ky., was arrested on complaint of John B. Kelly, manager of Fiction House, Inc., who said he had paid Carter $1,100 for stories which were found to be exact duplicates of stories in other magazines. Investigation showed he also had defrauded two New York hotels out of a total of $850.

Judge William Allen, in passing sentence, said Carter appeared to be well educated, and only "needed a jolt" to bring him to his senses.

Jewish Leaders Will Meet Here

Ludwig Vogelstein, of New York, chairman of the executive board of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, has issued a call to rabbis and Jewish lay leaders to attend the first convention of the Southeastern Religious Union, a branch of the national organization, in Atlanta March 30 and 31.

The invitation was sent to men and women in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Planting of Trees On Highway Urged

Extensive tree-planting programs during the latter part of February are being planned by the Dixie Highway Road of Remembrance Association, it was announced today by Mrs. Norman Sharp, president fo the association.

A number of trees, including ornamental shrubs and flowering trees, will be planted in the near future, Mrs. Sharp said, and should contribute much toward adding to the beauty of the highway by summer.

Skidmore Addresses Boys at Oglethorpe

Lewis P. Skidmore, director of the High Museum of Art, spoke at Oglethorpe University Friday morning on the subject, "Conditions of Art, and Where Are We At?" Mr. Skidmore predicted that painters would gradually get away more and more from realism and pay more attention to design and tone values in future. He will speak Sunday afternoon at the High Museum on etching and will exhibit old European examples of the art.

HAL LINDSAY BACK.

Confers in New York Over Military Brown Case.

Hal Lindsay, assistant United States district attorney, has returned from New York, where he has been conferring with postoffice inspectors relative to the case of Military Brown, alleged "bunco" man, who is said to have been a confederate of Floyd Woodward in the operation of a "bucket shop" here.

Brown is being held in California and according to recent dispatches, has admitted his identity and will start his transcontinental trip within the next few days.

Rev. Robert Jones Speaks Here Sunday

Donaldson 'Slayer' Found Armed in Jail

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 14.—(AP) George Goggins, 30, who has confessed 80 automobile thefts, several bigamous marriages and murder of Bert Donaldson, special investigator of Atlanta, was found to be carrying a revolver while being transferred from the Fayette county jail to the Frankfort penitentiary today.

Goggins recently was found guilty of automobile theft and sentenced to 10 years. He was found in Mississippi with a Lexington car and after his return was tried for the theft of that car when Atlanta officials discredited his confession of being the murderer sought there.

It is not known how the prisoner got the gun although Sheriff Land, who disarmed him said he had had many visitors while in the county jail here.

Ex-Agent Sentenced For Robbing Veterans

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 14.—(AP)—J. J. Hudson, former disbursing agent of the United States Veterans' hospital here, was sentenced to five years in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $3,000 following conviction by a jury in federal court late today on a charge of embezzling $4,113.60 in funds belonging to the hospital and to veterans.

U. S. SEEKING SEIZURE OF RANCH IN DRY RAID

Move Expected To Be First of Several To Confiscate Property.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(AP)—An attempt by the government to confiscate through a libel action a $100,000 Riverside county ranch upon which a large still recently was seized was regarded here today by prohibition officials as possibly foreshadowing possible adoption of a policy of confiscation against owners of land harboring illicit liquor operators.

Assistant United States Attorney Harry Balter yesterday filed the action in federal court against the Bruno ranch, located between Elsinore and Perris in Riverside county, charging a liquor plant was taken on the property in a raid several weeks ago. The action seeks to confiscate not only the 30-acre ranch property, but all tolls, equipment, motors and accessories attached to the place.

The still was discovered during a raid January 21. Nick Bruno, alleged owner of the place; Joe Verda, George Walker and Herman Quirin were arrested at the time.

Balter said the government was investigating rumors that the alleged distillery was being financed by a Chicago bootleg gang. He said the present libel action is in the nature of a test of whether the government has the right to seize property upon which liquor plants are found.

Atlanta Salesmen Name Heads March 1

Chase Becomes Head Of Citrus Exchange

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—J. C. Chase, Orlando, head of one of the largest citrus marketing agencies in the state now a part of the Florida Citrus Exchange, was inducted into office as president of the latter body here today. Mr. Chase was chosen to head the exchange at the annual election held several weeks ago. He succeeded E. L. Wirt, of Bartow, who became chairman of the board.

In his annual address, following the ceremonies, Mr. Chase said he had outlined his ideas on future policies of the organization. Dr. Theodore Macklin, representing the federal farm board, was to describe relations of that body with the citrus industry. Joseph Di Giorgio, head of another large citrus organization merged with the exchange, was down for another address.

Georgia Volunteer Union Opens Annual Conference

Students Representing Score of Colleges and Universities Gather at Agnes Scott College.

BY F. A. SETTLE.

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 14.—Students representing a score of Georgia colleges and universities gathered at Agnes Scott college Friday night for the opening of the annual conference of the Georgia Student Volunteer Union for Foreign Missions, 200 delegates from Wesleyan, Georgia State Teachers' colleges at Athens and Milledgeville, Berry college, University of Georgia, Young Harris, Bessie Tift, Mercer, Shorter, Brenau, LaGrange, Emory, Agnes Scott, Columbia seminary, Oglethorpe, Atlanta University, Gammon seminary and Spelman registered during the day.

Dr. William Robinson, professor of church history at Columbia Thelogical seminary, Decatur, traced the history of Christian missions from the Pentecost to today in the chief address of the evening, "From Pentecost to Pentecost." "The field of the Christian church is the world," he asserted. "The spirit of missions is an integral part of Christianity and has been since the completion of Christ's ministry on earth."

The Rev. J. M. Connally, professor of Paine college, led the opening devotions, "What is Worship?" in the absence of Dr. C. Darby Fulton, of the Southern Presbyterian mission board, who will arrive later.

The visiting students were welcomed to the conference by the president, W. R. Suddreth, student at Mercer University. Mr. Suddreth introduced Miss Elizabeth Flynn, of Agnes Scott, who also welcomed the visitors to Decatur. Miss Cornelia Wallace, vice president of the state organization also of Agnes Scott college, spoke briefly.

Miss Elizabeth Manget, state secretary, a student at Wesleyan, and David Stubbs, of Emory University, led the devotions which preceded the evening meeting.

The union will convene again this morning in the First Presbyterian church of Decatur at 8:45 o'clock.

The Rev. Weyman C. Huckabee, associate secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions of New York city; the Rev. J. M. Connally, Paine college professor; the Rev. Harry H. Bryan, Marietta Presbyterian pastor and Dr. C. Darby Fulton are the chief speakers on Saturday's program. Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of Druid Hills Baptist church, is to speak also.

The Rev. Mr. Huckabee will speak at 10 a. m. on "A Waking World," and again at 2:30 p. m. on "The Spirit of the Student Volunteer Movement." Dr. Fulton is on the program for the evening address at the session which opens at 8 p. m. His subject is "The Unfinished Task of Christian Missions." The Rev. Mr. Connally will speak at 10:30 a. m.

The business session, at which officers for the ensuing year will be elected, will take place at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Sessions will continue through Sunday afternoon with Dr. Fulton as the concluding speaker at 2:30 p. m.

Healthy "Deadbeats," Only, Will Be Able To Live in Athens

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—City and county physicians here have decided to deny medical treatment to "deadbeats" and people who make no effort to pay doctor bills.

The Clarke County Physicians' Protective Association, including all doctors in Athens and Clarke county, was organized recently to protect its members against persons evidently unwilling to pay their accounts. Association members are notified regularly of such delinquents and they are considered as unworthy patients who are refused treatment except in emergency cases.

Such persons can obtain medical aid by applying to the Red Cross, it was said.

Fire Prevention Prize Is Won by Bainbridge

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., Feb. 14.—Bainbridge won first prize in Georgia in fire prevention week held in the United States and Canada, October 6-12, according to a letter Friday from national headquarters at Washington, signed by T. Alfred Fleming, chairman of the national fire prevention week committee. "Bainbridge," Mr. Fleming wrote, "had the most constructive program and made the most complete report of activities than any other city in the state." Thomasville was awarded second prize.

PRIORITY IS SOUGHT FOR BACHELOR MAIDS

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Central of Georgia railway clerks will vote between now and February 20 on the status of married women clerks, their organization in Savannah announced today. The proposal has been made to change the rules of employment so that married or single men and single women shall have preference over married women in promotions and employment. T. Arthur Wilson, president of the organization, ordered the referendum.

BC Relieves Sick Headaches in 3 minutes

When one of those sick, raging headaches come and you want three-minute relief, go to any drug store or soda fount and ask for a package or dose of "B-C" (10c and 25c packages) the wonderful new preparation of a North Carolina druggist that is guaranteed safe and speedy, without depression or bad after effects.

"B-C" relieves any kind of a headache, sciatic, neuralgic or female pain, because it contains five ingredients that function together for the relief of pain, regardless of its origin. The "B-C" formula is one of the most important medical discoveries of recent years, accomplishing in a few minutes what no one drug formula can do under 1 to 3 hours.

To avoid imitative substitutes, don't ask for a "headache powder," but specify and insist upon "B-C" and get the original and genuine that never fails to bring quick and comforting relief.

DRY AGENTS NAB 72 IN MACON ROUND-UP

46 Committed to U. S. Court and Held Under Bonds of $1,000 Each.

MACON, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—While the total of arrests mounted to 72, with approximately 20 more warrants to serve, the scene of action in the largest prohibition "round-up" in the history of Bibb county shifted temporarily today to the federal courtroom.

There, United States Commissioner W. E. Martin heard the individual pleas of 64 persons during the day, and announced that the remainder will be heard Saturday. Eighteen were discharged because of insufficient evidence; the remaining 46 were committed to United States district court and ordered held under bond of $1,000 each. Only a few have been released on bond pending trial. All are charged with possession and sale of whisky in violation of the national prohibition act.

For three weeks "under-cover" men have been gathering the evidence.

Commissioner Martin discharged several persons today on the ground that the defendant in the transaction acted as the agent of the purchaser instead as of the agent for the seller. This was the case in a number of transactions which involved hotel bellboys. It was brought out upon arraignment that the undercover man had registered at the hotel, given the bellboy money and asked him to obtain for him a small amount of whisky. In this the commissioner held on a previous ruling of Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver, the negro was acting as the agent of the purchaser and not the agent of the seller.

W. W. Brown, former operator of the Broadway Garage, convicted several months ago and ordered to pay a fine of $10,000, was discharged because of "mistaken identity." His name had been used by another man.

Morris Smith, 10-year-old negro, was discharged because the commissioner was of the opinion that he was "too young to realize what he was doing."

When John L. Curry was discharged by Commissioner Martin on the ground that the defendant was acting as agent for the purchaser and not the seller, his mother fainted and had to be carried from the courtroom.

Mrs. C. C. Crooms, taken to jail in the "round-up"—a baby in her arms and leading another small child—later to be allowed to return to her home with the children, was discharged when her husband, C. C. Crooms, war veteran, took blame for the transactions and admitted the sales.

Slayer of Oxley Pays Law's Penalty In Electric Chair

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Feb. 14. (AP)—Two charges of electricity today administered the extreme penalty when James Barker, Macon negro, was executed at the state prison for the slaying of C. H. Oxley, aged night watchman. Oxley was employed by the Bibb Basket Company, at Macon.

Asked if he had anything to say after guards had strapped him in the chair, Barker replied simply "I am ready." He was pronounced dead at 11:33 a. m.

Professor J. R. Moseley, Macon welfare worker, the prison chaplain, and a Salvation Army worker visited the negro in his cell just before the death march began. Barker led in religious services with a scripture reading and then in prayer asked God's bluessing on all persons who had become interested in his case.

The night watchman was killed on the night of February 27 of last year, when he investigated a suspicious noise in the office building of the Bibb Basket Company.

The negro confessed to officers that he was looting the company office when surprised by Oxley. He fired his gun, Barker said, "to scare him," but had no intention of killing anyone.

The first trial resulted in a deadlocked jury. He was convicted at the second trial and an appeal granted. An appeal from the verdict of murder at the third trial was denied.

Barker's case was finally carried to Governor Hardman who declined to interfere with the death penalty.

Decatur Police Nab Liquor-Laden Auto

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—C. H. Byers, 27, who gave his address as an Atlanta hotel, was being held here Friday night under a $1,500 bond on charges of possessing and transporting liquor. He was captured in his car by DeKalb County Officers W. A. Carroll and G. W. Nash after a long chase that lasted from Tucker to the heart of Decatur.

They followed Byers and when he attempted to dodge the business section of Decatur they succeeded in forcing him from the road and arresting him. According to the officers, 54 gallons of whisky was found in the new light sedan which he was driving. The affair occurred shortly after 6 o'clock Friday night.

DECATUR CHILD KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Frank Womack, 7, Dies in Hospital Shortly After Accident.

DECATUR, Ga., Feb. 14.—(Special.)—Frank Womack, seven-year-old schoolboy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Womack, of 136 Olympic place, Decatur, was struck down by a coal truck as he was leaving the Oakhurst school here early this afternoon and suffered injuries that proved fatal to him a few minutes later at the Scottish Rite hospital.

A passing motorist rushed the injured boy to the Scottish Rite hospital near, but he died shortly afterward.

An examination of the boy at the hospital failed to reveal any broken bones, but blood that trickled from his mouth and nose indicated that he suffered a concussion of the brain and possible internal injuries.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of H. M. Patterson & Son. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

He is survived by his parents; a sister, Thelma Womack, and his grandmother, Mrs. Martha Womack.

The truck was driven by Percie Bussey, 16-year-old negro, of 316 Herring street, who was arrested by Chief of Police M. D. Googer and held for questioning. An investigation was then conducted by the city and county police. County Policeman John W. Jones late Friday night stated that, to all appearances, the accident was unavoidable, but that the officers in company with the father of the child would question the negro again closely before he would be allowed to make bond.

The Womack child was a member of the first grade class at the Oakhurst school and was on his way home after a day's study. He ran down the steps, clutching a valentine in his hand which he had received at school, and darted out from the curb between two parked cars directly in the path of the approaching truck. The driver asserted that he was upon the child before he had time to apply his brakes.

Dynamite Set Off By Dropped Knife Blows Man to Bits

WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 14.—E. J. Pittman, 35, foreman of a woods gang near Fort Mudge, 15 miles south of Waycross, was instantly killed when his body was blown into bits by a terrific explosion of dynamite today. The remains were brought to Waycross in a woods truck, parts of his body having been collected from a wide area by fellow workmen.

Pittman, regarded as an expert in handling dynamite, was employed by the Spurlock Pine Products Company. He had been living at Fort Mudge for several months, supervising the blowing of stumps in that section.

According to the story told by workmen who were near him, several of whom miraculously escaped death from the explosion, Pittman had just split a fuse, preparatory to setting off a charge of dynamite. It is believed that he dropped his knife into a box which contained a quantity of dynamite caps and that the knife set off a cap, resulting in the general explosion.

Free Face Powder, Likewise Lipsticks, As Trade Boosters

DUBLIN, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Free lipsticks and face powder are being supplied to shop girls in a store here to encourage them to look their best behind the counters.

"We also supply free dresses and the girls are urged to use the cosmetics," a member of the firm explained. "The idea is not to make our saleswomen look like chorus girls but merely to help them look smart and fresh. Each girl receives a fixed ration of powder and lipstick.

"During these wintry days a blue nose does not encourage a customer and a dab of powder or rouge may make all the difference between a mere inquiry and a sale."

MODEL MEET OF LEAGUE PLANNED BY STUDENTS

MACON, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Students of Mercer University and Wesleyan college, of this city, will stage a model meeting of the tenth session of the League of Nations at the seventh annual session of the Southern Students conference on international relations, February 27, 28 and March 1, it was announced Thursday.

Final plans were completed tonight at a joint conference of Mercer and Wesleyan boards.

Clayton Callaway, president of the International Relations Club of Mercer, announced tonight that the three speakers from that institution will be Henry Stokes, of Savannah; A. G. Flournoy, of Fort Valley, and Herbert Porter, of Toccoa.

Wesleyan will furnish student speakers from several nations.

CLERKS IN CLASH IN VALDOSTA STORE

Disagreement Between Owners Leads to Padlocking of Building.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Two groups of clerks clashed in the Friedlander department store here today and after exchange of a few blows the "old guard" won a temporary victory.

The "old guard" group were clerks who have been employed in the store and the other group was brought here to replace them by Will Vereen, of Moultrie, who claimed to be acting under contract as a trustee in dissolving the partnership of the Friedlander brothers, Nathan, of Valdosta, and Louis, of Moultrie, in operation of 14 stores in Valdosta and other cities.

The store was padlocked last night under Vereen's orders, and the "old guard," claiming authority from Nathan Friedlander, removed the padlock this morning and took possession of the store. Vereen and his group arrived shortly afterward and ordered the other group to disperse. The clash followed, but no one was injured and no arrests were made.

With restoration of order, both factions agreed for the "old guard" group to retain charge of the store today.

Ragsdale Gets First View Of Earth From Plane Seat

ASSISTS OPENING OF NEW AIR LINE

BY R. E. POWELL.

Atlanta's 72-year old mayor, the Honorable I. N. Ragsdale, Friday helped to celebrate the opening of the Birmingham-Anniston-Atlanta Davis Air Lines by making his initial airplane flight at the head of a delegation of Atlantans who went over to the Alabama metropolis for lunch and hurried back to see Mrs. Floyd McRae christen The City of Atlanta, one of the Travel Air planes which will be used in the service between Birmingham and Atlanta.

"From now on," Mayor Ragsdale said when he put his foot on terra firma at the Birmingham airport, "I am going to make important trips by air. George Shealy is a wonderful pilot. We had a great trip and I enjoyed every minute of it. Why, that boy up there at the controls was just as much at home as I would be driving an ox-cart."

B. Frank Bell, automobile supply dealer, also made the trip because, as he explained it, "If Ike Ragsdale, at his age, is brave enough to fly I'm going along with him." Others in the party included A. L. Belle Isle, Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, T. M. Smith, Robert F. Scott, Alderman Bob Pennington, Henderson Hallman and two newspaper correspondents.

Regular twice-a-day passenger and express service between Birmingham and Atlanta, with stops both ways at Anniston, begins today. The first two planes will leave Atlanta for Birmingham and Birmingham for Atlanta simultaneously at 8 o'clock a. m. The afternoon trip will begin in both cities at 3:30 and the time required, with the Anniston stop, will be 1 hour and 30 minutes.

Mr. Shealy piloted the plane carrying the mayor and some members of the party and Johnny Gill the one with Mr. Hallman and others, while Art Brown piloted a Curtiss Robin which stopped at Anniston and picked up Duke Logan, lawyer, and W. W. Robinson, machinery dealer.

At Birmingham the Atlanta party was met by W. E. Dickson, commissioner of public improvements; J. E. Shelton, purchasing agent and representative of Mayor Jimmie Jones, who was absent on a hunting trip; A. J. Hawkins, city engineer, and J. H. Willis, city attorney.

The party was whisked over Birmingham's industrial section by auto, pausing briefly to inspect the steel mills. They were then taken to the Bankhead hotel where they were guests at a luncheon at which Judge Charles N. Feidelson, editorial writer for the Birmingham Age-Herald, presided.

Speakers at the luncheon stressed the potentiality of a more intimate relation between the two cities by virtue of the new air service which has been inaugurated, pointing out the fact that the trip to Birmingham was made in 1 hour and 15 minutes. The return trip required only 5 minutes longer.

Rich Poor Farm?

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 14.—(AP)—It sounds silly, but the Wyandotte county poor farm may become a rich farm.

A Tulsa oil producer has offered to lease the oil and gas rights at the farm following discovery of oil Monday in a well being drilled for water. The well is producing 30 barrels a day in sand at 410 feet.

Chicago	On time	9:25 a.m.
New Orleans		z 8:37 a.m.
Miami		y 9:30 a.m.

xDetained by bad weather.
zLate departure caused by wait on arrival of New York plane.
yDelayed for the same reason as the New Orleans ship.

Unlike the unlucky mail of the day previous, President Hoover's air mail was not forced down by bad weather conditions in New Jersey. It arrived at Candler field at 8:45 o'clock Friday morning and the southbound Miami plane picked it up and departed a few minutes later.

After being held at Candler field for two days by inclement weather the Curtiss-Wright student air tour of nine planes departed at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning for their base at Valley Stream, Long Island, by way of Richmond, Va., with Lieutenant John L. Trunk in charge. The flight arrived at Candler field Wednesday from Lakeland, Fla., and were the guests of the S. A. T. hangar while here.

A postal inspector, whose name could not be learned, has been assigned to special duty here for the time being, and is making daily trips to Candler field to check up on mail planes carrying mail for President Hoover who is taking a vacation in Florida. He is seeing that important mail for the president is being delivered to him on schedule time.

Visitors to the S. A. T. hangar at Candler field Friday included T. A. Lawson, of Pontiac, Mich., flying a Stinson-Detroiter, en route to Miami; Dick Knox, flying a Ryan broughan of the Prestolite Corporation of Indianapolis, en route home from Jacksonville, through Atlanta and Greenville, S. C., who had his motor checked and refueled; and C. E. Haynes, flying a Fokker who departed at 12:30 for New York after a three-day visit here.

Owen Lazenby, of Chattanooga, recently purchased the Waco "225" Straight Wing that placed second in the national reliability tour. He recently finished his training under Jersey Ringel, the famous stunt artist. Mr. Lazenby intends to fly around Chattanooga for awhile and then when he has gotten accustomed to the "feel" of his ship he will fly to Florida for a month's outing.

His teacher, Jersey Ringel was the first man ever to stand upon the top wing of an airplane while it was looped. He also had a stunt in which he swung upon a horizontal bar and the motion of the plane in a loop would throw him over twice, his head narrowly missing the propeller.

Those people who like to "just run by and say hello" should meet Larry Pabst, air mail pilot of the New York-Richmond section of the New York-Atlanta-Miami air way. He has a friend at Baltimore whom he runs by at the rate of 110 miles an hour and says "hello" to from an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Pabst's friend is C. G. Shaefer, night electrician at Logan field the municipal airport at Baltimore. The night planes of the New York-Atlanta line do not stop but Pabst does not like to fly over without greeting his friend. He leans over the cockpit of his plane as it skips along at two miles a minute and blinks a flashlight in greeting. Schaefer in turns blinks back at the swiftly moving aircraft, with his own light.

Gene Hinton, editor of Air Views, and Beeler Blevins, one of Atlanta's most noted pilots, were forced down by fog at Daytona Beach Friday. They are expected to return sometime today. They were en route to Atlanta from Miami where they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Asa Candler, Jr., Thursday, flying the Candler plane.

HappinessBroken Judge Prescribes 2nd Honeymoon

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A honeymoon was prescribed by Judge Joseph Sabath today as the salve to mend the happiness of an elderly couple, broken after 40 years of marriage.

Mrs. Amalia Enslin, 65, told Judge Ebath her husband had become "tired of her" and sent her to an infirmary three years ago. She escaped, she said, by obtaining a pass to see her dentist. The court tried reconciliation and asked whether Enslin could take his wife to Florida.

"He has between $50,000 and $60,000 saved up that we were going to take our honeymoon on," Mrs. Enslin said.

Enslin preferred California, so they compromised on Hot Springs, Ark. They will leave Monday, stay a month, and report in court April 7. "I'm going to be in Hot Springs myself in a few days," said Judge Sabath. "I'll look you up."

Film Actress Jailed On Prohibition Charge

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Marian Morrell, motion picture actress arrested recently with Art Acord, film actor, on prohibition law violation charges, was in jail today because she could not pay a fine of $150 assessed in municipal court.

Acord, several weeks ago was fined $150 on similar charges. Acord and the actress were arrested at the latter's apartment after a taxicab driver complained he had been thrown downstairs when he attempted to collect a fare. Officers said they found liquor in the room.

WATKINS TO SPEAK

Juvenile Delinquency Will Be His Subject.

Addresses on juvenile delinquency will be delivered Sunday night at a meeting of the Epworth League of Wesley Memorial Methodist church and Tuesday night at the Faith School Parent-Teacher meeting by Judge Garland Watkins, of the juvenile court. Judge Watkins spoke Thursday night at the "daddies' night" meeting at E. Rivers school.

Arkansas Democrats To Make Own Rules

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Determination of the political status of Arkansas "Hoover democrats" was referred back to the democratic party by Attorney-General Hal Norwood today.

Answering a request for an opinion regarding the political eligibility of candidates for county office in the next democratic primaries, Mr. Norwood said he was without authority either under the common law or state statute to answer such an inquiry. He asserted permission of candidates to file in the democratic primaries was strictly a matter of party organization.

"Political questions must be settled by party organizations. The attorney general has no more authority to determine who may run in a democratic primary than he has to determine who may be candidates for republican or third party nomination," Mr. Norwood said.

Quit Throwing MONEY Away

HUNTING health. If you can develop a good appetite, digest your food and eliminate poisonous waste, you will be HEALTHY.

IROGEN creates a healthy appetite, assists digestion, regulates the bowels and purifies the blood. You won't need laxatives, digestive tablets, soda or stomach elixirs.

If you are tired of taking medicines and paying doctor's bills, get a bottle of IROGEN today. This famous prescription will save you money and do you more good than anything you have ever taken. Liquid or tablets. At Jacobs' and all good drug stores.—(adv.)

ACHES SHOULD GO by 5TH HOUR

Musterole is frequently effective after first application and usually draws out muscular soreness and pain by 5th hour. All druggists.

MUSTEROLE

A 3-Day Tonic

Taking GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for just 3 days will tell more than we could say in a dozen advertisements. It will convince you of the strengthening and invigorating effect of this quinine and iron tonic.

When you are feeling tired, weak and have no appetite, take GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for a few days and watch the result. That's the way to learn the value of this tonic for grown people and children who need more rich, red blood to bring back strength and vigor. Price 60c at all drug stores.—(adv.)

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Jacobs' Drug Stores and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.—(adv.)

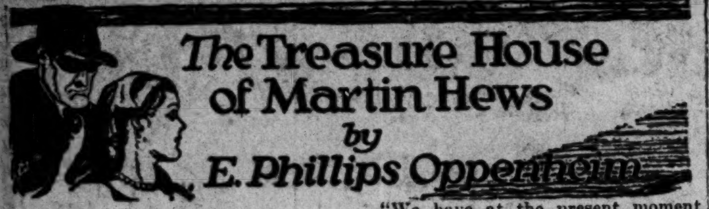
HIGH'S BARGAIN BASEMENT
The Economy Center of Atlanta



The Treasure House of Martin Hews

by

E. Phillips Oppenheim

EIGHTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

"Any news?" he inquired, as we seated ourselves.

I handed him over another of the square envelopes.

"Smart found this in the letter-box during the afternoon," I confided. "He had opened the door only a few seconds before, and declares that there was not a soul in sight."

Bloor read out the few words printed in rough characters:

"Get out of this, Major. It's not your job, and you'll be hurt."

The detective stared at the message thoughtfully and placed the paper in the breast pocket of his coat.

"I will return it tomorrow," he promised. "Fellow seems to take a queer interest in you, doesn't he?"

"Seems so," I admitted.

'I am beginning to wonder about it," Bloor confided. "He might have done you in the other night, if he had been keen. Another killing wouldn't have made much difference to him. What's he mean by it, Major?"

"I can't imagine."

Throughout our first few courses Bloor was thoughtful. Then he asked an abrupt question.

"Do you know anything about Martin Hews?"

"Not a thing," I acknowledged.

"Ever felt any curiosity about him?"

'Who wouldn't?" I rejoined.

"Shall I tell you his history?"

I hesitated.

"I am not quite sure," I reflected, "whether it's altogether decent. He's probably told me as much as he wants me to know, as long as I'm working for him, and that's nothing."

"You'll have to learn to be a little less finicky, Major, if you're going to carry your job through. However, I'll let you off lightly. The Hewses, of West Yorkshire, have been one of the principal county families there for three or four hundred years. Colonel James Hews, who was the head of the family, was killed during the war, and Martin, his younger brother, succeeded. Martin Hews sold the family estates, disappeared from England for nearly three years, came back, and began to lead very much the sort of life you see him leading now."

"Has he been crippled from birth?" I asked.

"Yes. A horrible affair it must have been, but he was apparently born without legs. One gathers that he spent those three years mostly in Paris, Madrid and Florence. He paid one visit to Egypt and left hurriedly. One year he spent in the east, but we have no records of him there. Upon his return, he rented a great mansion in Berkeley Square. Pictures, bronzes, and curios began to pour in from every part of the world. Then—eleven years ago, I think it was—one of the most daring burglaries ever planned stripped him of half of his treasures. He was uninsured, and, from that moment, he seems to have been inspired with a hatred of the police who, I am sorry to say, utterly failed to make a single arrest. That burglary, to my mind, was the work of Joseph—and the beginning of his career. Afterwards, Martin Hews retired to Breezeley Marshes. From that time—I speak confidentially, Major—he has been, at various intervals, under police supervision."

"Better not tell me any more," I suggested, "except this—Miss Essiter?"

"His only sister's child," Bloor confided. "I know nothing about her, except that her mother was married in New York and that she went to live with Martin Hews some years ago. A strange household, Major—a very strange household, indeed!"

Bloor leaned across the table.

"Tell me," he invited, "how you have been employing your time the last few days?"

"Unprofitably," I admitted. "Just a rotten grind, that's all."

"Meaning?"

"I've squeezed my way in to three receptions. But I haven't seen a soul who even suggested to me what Joseph might be like. I have followed women about who were wearing wonderful jewels until I became an object of suspicion myself. I have eschewed my rooms and dined and lunched at restaurants until I am sick of them."

"I thought Miss Essiter was to go about with you," my companion observed.

"She was, but she rang up during the afternoon of the day I was down there for lunch and told me that her uncle could not spare her. She is coming tomorrow night for the big show that Lady Bonofar is giving in Grosvenor Square. If Joseph really goes to functions at all, I don't see how he could miss a party like this."

"I suppose not," Bloor assented thoughtfully.

"I wonder if you'd think it presumptuous," I went on, "if I ventured upon a word of criticism. It does seem extraordinary that, with all your resources, you still have no idea where to lay youd hands upon a criminal who is known to be the head of a gang."

My companion smiled.

"A reasonable criticism, Major," he admitted, "but let me assure you that a few people have any idea as to how slowly it is necessary for us to work when we are after big game. We don't spring, perhaps, but we advance. Two months ago we had no certain information as to any of Joseph's haunts, or as to his personality. Now look here."

He drew a little plan, starting from the Bethnal Green road, and working eastwards towards the river. This he inclosed in a circle, and passed it over to me.

"Joseph's headquarters," he pointed out, "are somewhere within that circle. A month ago the orbit was much larger. Now every day my men close in a little upon it. I have 23 men living within that circle, Major, and, at our present rate of progress, there will be less than half a mile to guard at the end of next week."

"Well, that's something," I acknowledged.

"We have at the present moment marked down in that locality seven men guilty of various crimes, whom we could arrest and bring to justice tomorrow. We keep our eye on them, but we're waiting. We want the lot. We want Joseph. Now wait a moment."

He made another rapid little pencil sketch. To my amazement, my own street was there, Clarges street and Half Moon street, and Shepherd's Market. Again he drew a circle, and this time there was very little space, indeed, inclosed.

"Somewhere there," he confided—"a close neighbor of yours, you see—our friend has a shelter of a different sort. It consists of two rooms only, and, so far, we have found it impossible to locate him. It is, I believe, very seldom used, but he was there, without a doubt, on the night when he paid that visit to you. The place we should really like to discover, though, is the place to which Mr. Van Doorn, of Amsterdam, drove when he left Christie's, and I will tell you this much about that. He passed Lord's Cricket Ground and took the road to Finchley. There he disappeared, but, if you were to go along the North road, you would probably find a few more motor-bicyclists about than usual. Those are our men, and each one of them has a very good idea of what he is looking out for."

"I apologize, Inspector," I said.

"Then you come to the question of Joseph himself," Bloor continued, as he glanced at the plan he was tearing into small pieces, "and here we have to contend with a great difficulty. Joseph could never have remained free for a month, instead of all these years, but for his amazing gift of disguise."

"One might find out something by inquiries at the stage doors," I reflected. "Joseph must have assistance in making up, and it's probably theatrical. If we could hear now of some dresser with a special reputation who had fallen upon more prosperous days."

Mr. Bloor beamed upon me.

"An excellent idea, Major," he acknowledged. "We will put some men on the job tomorrow. You have no special news from Breezeley Mansion then?"

"Everything seems quiet there," I replied.

The detective sighed.

"I had hoped," he admitted, "that Joseph would have made some move to release the young lady. That, of course, is also Martin Hew's idea. That is why he keeps her there. I have six men on the roads between the station and the Mansion, and a dozen along the river, the way I rather fancy Joseph would chose. Not a sign of him. And I can't help thinking that Joseph is watching from somewhere and laughing softly to himself."

A waiter paused at our table. He handed a slip of paper to my companion, and hurried away. Bloor opened it slowly, read it without moving a muscle, and passed it across to me:

"Sorry to see you drinking a '19 wine. The '11s are still of the list.

"JOSEPH."

Of course, our inquiries came to nothing. The waiter who had handed us the slip of paper had received it from another, who thought it was from a gentleman in the restaurant. Anyhow, he remembered nothing and knew nothing.

At a result of this experience, it was with a feeling of apprehension that I met Beatrice Essiter the following evening at Claridge's.

We moved into the restaurant and towards the table I had engaged.

"No sign of Joseph?" I asked anxiously.

"Not the slightest. Helen remains upon her balcony and sighs in vain. Hector's love is less than his cunning. So the mansion is still under arms, and the flashlights search the countryside every night . . . . You know the sort of evening that is in front of us?"

"I have already spent three this week at minor affairs," I groaned. "This, however, should be a spectacle worth seeing. They tell me that there are two thousand invitations issued, and that nearly every one has accepted, because Lady Bonofar is going to wear her diamonds. Think of it! Two thousand people, and Detective Bloor told me last night that Joseph was the greatest artist in disguise the criminal world has ever known. Makes our chances seem a trifle slim, doesn't it? Personally, I would rather fancy myself in the East End."

Attractive Costumes Worn At Ft. McPherson Valentine Ball

FORT McPHERSON, Feb. 14.—Original and attractive costumes were worn by members of the army set at the Valentine ball given last evening at the Fort McPherson Officers' Club. Mrs. Henry Ashley Ripley and Mrs. Christian A. Bach were official hostesses for this affair and transformed the clubrooms into a veritable Cupid's bower. Gay red hearts cascaded from the lights which were veiled in crimson and above the mantel a series of small boats with wide spread sails manned by jaunty sailors and their fair Valentines were portrayed. Slender crimson tapers in crystal holders and carnations and graceful trailing ferns graced the refreshment table.

A number of lovely costumes were worn by the belles of the military circles. Miss Dorothy Tebbetts made a charming representative of the early sixties in a treasured old costume, once the property of her grandmother. The tight bodice, lace mitts, and the hoop skirt reflected the true antebellum fashion. Miss Patrice Donahue was graceful in a black and white satin Pierrette suit with a large ruff around her slender neck. Miss Doris Macklin chose to appear as a modern Valentine in white satin combined with red hearts. The bodice was fashioned with a heart of red in front supported by shoulder straps of red, while the full skirt, worn with a bustle, touched the floor and was divided to reveal short red pants. Atop her brunette tresses was a small hat heart-shaped and edged with lace and tied with streamers of red. Mrs. Thomas H. Ramsey wore a quaint costume as an old-fashion Valentine with tight bodice, bouffant skirt and short kid mitts. Her chapeau was of straw with lace and flowers around the crown and long, blue streamers. Mrs. Walter Scott Winn, Jr., was irrepressible as Mark Twain's adored Huckleberry Finn. Her blue overalls, tattered hat, and freckles across her nose were typical of the fun-loving Huck. She carried a fishing pole and a tin can for the bait.

Mrs. John R. Dinsmore made a dainty figure representative of bygone days with her sprigged organdy, pantelettes, and cunning hat fashioned of orchid satin and lace. Long orchid streamers were tied in back in a prim little bow. Miss Mary Bach appeared in a blue muslin of old-time design topped by a hat of blue which belonged to her grandmother, while Miss Marjorie Ripley wore a white dress and hat loaned for the occasion by her lovely grandmother, Mrs. Katharine Smith. Mrs. Gaillard Pinckney was gowned in a dress of blue, lace trimmed with a big wide-brimmed hat of straw with a pink rose placed on the side. Major Carl H. Seals and Mrs. Seals wore attractive black and white costumes as Pieret and Pierette. Mrs. William Sharp was unique in her pajama suit as a homemade Valentine. The suit of silver was trimmed at neck, wrist and ankles with red maribou and topped by a silver helmet ornamented with red hearts.

Circalo Espanol Holds Meeting.

El Circulo Espanol met with the president, Mrs. Thomas J. Wesley, last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Olga Muirhead had prepared a program, including news items from Spain and many Spanish speaking countries and a most discriminating article on Primo de Rivera, recent dictator of Spain. Pat Calhoun exhibited and explained the old Spanish shield—greatest sensation in Atlanta for the moment, recently found in the excavations on Marietta street, which are preparatory to an addition to the First National Bank building. The club listened breathlessly as Mr. Calhoun pointed out the beautifully embossed coat of arms of a fine old Spanish family and the quarterings which betoken both Moorish and Jewish alliance.

Other objects of peculiar interest to the club were some knives from the Philippine islands, loaned by Mrs. Alfred C. Wilson and a pirate ship made by young Jack Mobley, who had placed on the hull of his frigate an old Spanish coin dating back to the 15th century, a treasured heirloom in his family for many years. The program was concluded by a visit from the postman who bore in his bag a valentine for every member of the club.

Miss Seignious Weds William T. Dean.

The marriage of Miss Martha Louise Seignious, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Seignious, to William T. Dean, Jr., took place at high noon yesterday at the home of Rev. Harold Shields, on Cascade Heights. Throughout the home a profusion of palms and ferns were used as the artistic decorations.

The bride and groom entered together and were met at the improvised altar by Rev. Shields, who performed the ceremony before an assemblage of relatives and close friends.

Miss McIntyre Is Entertained.

Miss Mary Rowland, of Decatur, and Mrs. Ralph Barnwell were hostesses at a tea yesterday at the home of Mrs. Barnwell, on Huntington road, in honor of Miss Odelle McIntyre, whose marriage to Alfred Godwin will be an event of February 15. Receiving with Mrs. Barnwell and Miss Rowland were Miss Odelle McIntyre and Miss Nettie McIntyre. They were assisted in entertaining their guests by Miss Lollie Carmichael and Miss Margaret McIntyre. Mrs. Homer Carmichael poured tea, while Miss Zachry Rowland and Miss Agnes Rowland served the refreshments. Little Ralph Barnwell, Jr., who is to be the ringbearer in the wedding, received the guests at the door.

Lexington Club Holds Meeting.

The Lexington Avenue Club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. E. Dickerson, 630 Lexington avenue, with Mrs. L. B. Helderbrand, president, in the chair. Members were reminded to register for the coming elections. Mrs. W. H. Alford was appointed chairman of a special committee to visit new neighbors and invite them to become members of the club. Mrs. D. W. Watson rendered several beautiful piano selections. Those present were Mesdames E. A. Sturgis, T. W. O'Neal, W. T. Price, D. W. Watson, W. L. Bieger, L. B. Hilderbrand, Smith, M. A. Hilderbrand, J. L. Richardson, W. H. Alford, E. L. Dorsey, B. J. Wright, W. C. McGahee, H. L. Langford, J. R. Curtis, J. E. Dickerson and Miss Betty Dorsey. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Elliott at 738 Lexington avenue, Tuesday, February 25, at 3 o'clock.

Crawford Long C. of C. Meets.

The Crawford W. Long Children of the Confederacy met at the home of the director, Miss Marian Lampkin, on Sutherland drive, last Thursday afternoon. After the business meeting, presided over by the president, Miss Edna Reed, the study of one of our Georgia Confederate veterans and statesmen, General John B. Gordon, was conducted by Miss Lampkin. The children are planning a party for the veterans at the soldiers' home for Easter. Miriam De Coursey, Mildred Cohen, Rose Virginia Reinsch, Frances Cohen, Norma Ozburn, Doris Hamilton and Charles Reinsch were welcomed as new members. Miss Lampkin was assisted in entertaining by Miss Caroline Porter, Mrs. Frank Matthews and others.

Moving Models Are Being Drawn By Pupils at High Museum of Art

Quick sketches of moving models are being made by pupils of the anatomy class of the High Museum of Art, which, under the instruction of Benjamin Shute, graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, is being conducted every Wednesday afternoon at the museum. The course, which is identical with work done at the Art Institute of Chicago, reveals the sincerity and the scope of the courses being offered at the museum. Classes in anatomy also form a part of the instruction of the night school Wednesday evenings.

In these classes the pupils learn to sketch a moving object in some phase of its progress. With the model slowly stepping, sliding, hurling or throwing, the student seizes some aspect of the motion and interprets it in a quick drawing, using at the same time all of his knowledge of anatomy and technique. The slow motion of the model renders each position in the continuous act distinct and of sufficient duration for the apt pupil to catch and hold his impression.

The mastery of this course will enable students to draw a street scene, alive with moving cars, automobiles, pedestrians, changing groups and zigzagging streams of traffic. He will be master not only of the still model, the inactive bit of landscape, but those where there is evidence of motion. He can interpret the meadow dotted with grazing cows, the flight of birds, the gondolier falling on his oars, the spirited ball game, and the wizardry of motion in all of its forms.

Lewis Skidmore Will Deliver Lecture On "Notable Masterpieces of Sculpture"

"Some Notable Masterpieces in Sculpture" will be the subject of the informal illustrated talk to be delivered by Lewis Palmer Skidmore, director of the High Museum of Art, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, February 16, at the museum, 1262 Peachtree street. The lecture will be featured by lantern slides depicting outstanding sculptural works.

Mr. Skidmore's wide experience as an art instructor and his familiarity with the masterpieces of sculpture here and abroad will render this talk one of the most interesting in the series which has been given at the museum throughout the winter. Interest in the Sunday afternoon activities at the museum, which have included demonstrations of painting, sculpturing, talks on marionettes, gothic art, tapestries, painters of the old and modern school, have proven of wide interest, the museum having been visited by hundreds during the afternoons.

Exhibits on view represent the best in American art. The oil paintings of Frederick Mulhaupt, of Gloucester, Mass., are being shown in the auditorium gallery. The oils of Elliott Clark, widely known American artist, and the pen and ink drawings, including sketches of Uncle Remus characters, of A. B. Frost, widely known artist, are also on view. The museum is open Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. J. E. Morgan Has Valentine Party.

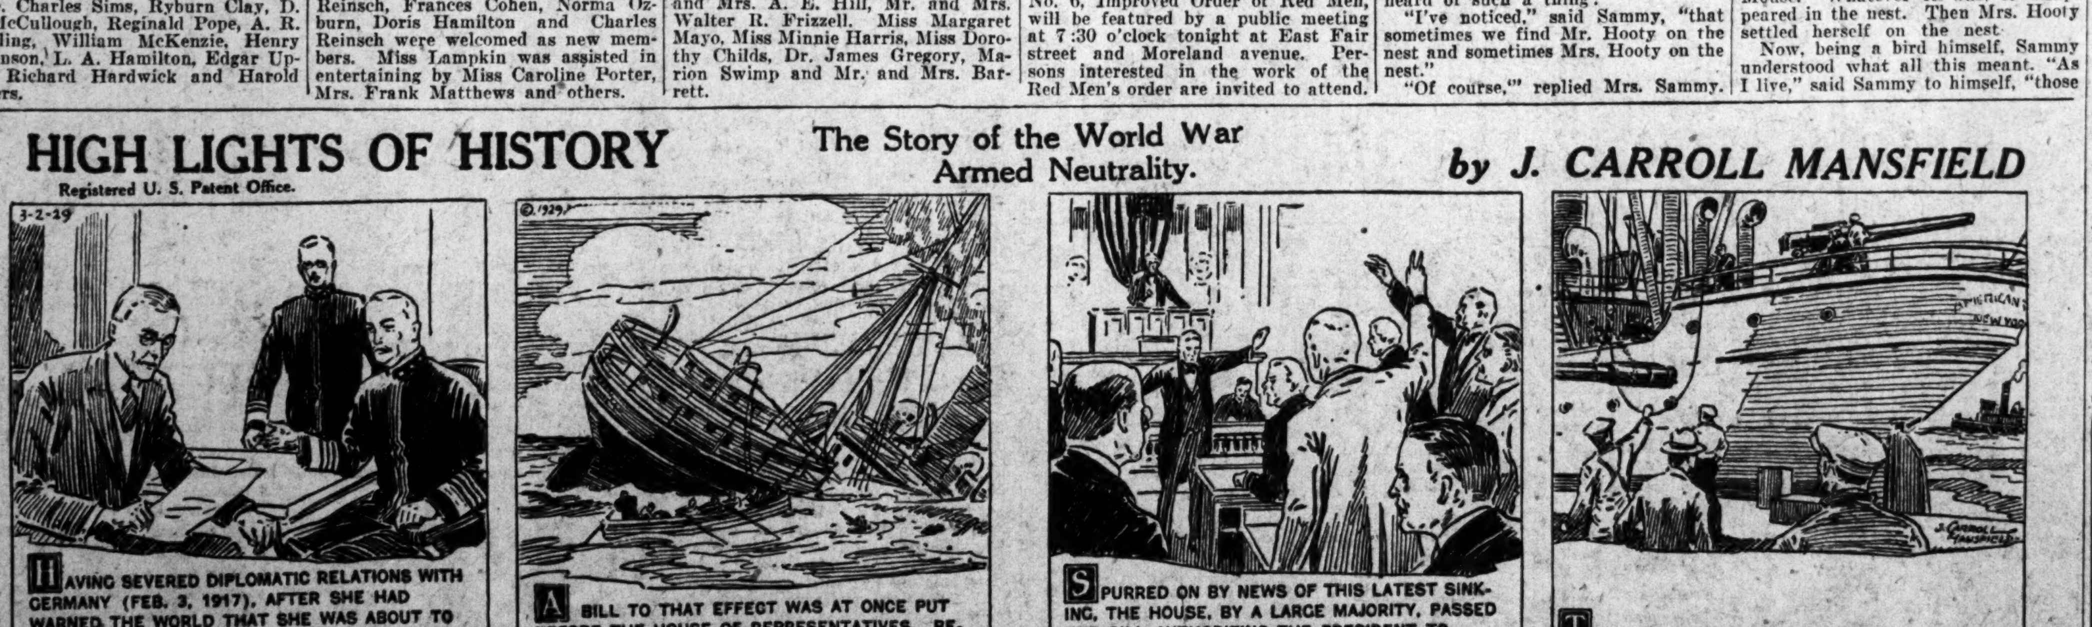
The Story of the World War
Armed Neutrality.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



HAVING SEVERED DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH GERMANY (FEB. 3, 1917), AFTER SHE HAD WARNED THE WORLD THAT SHE WAS ABOUT TO BEGIN UNRESTRICTED SUBMARINE WARFARE, PRESIDENT WILSON CONSIDERED MEANS OF PROTECTING OUR MERCHANT SHIPS AGAINST U-BOAT ATTACKS. FEBRUARY 26, 1917. HE ASKED CONGRESS FOR AUTHORITY TO ORDER GUNS PLACED ABOARD OUR MERCHANTMEN TO BE USED IN SELF-DEFENSE.

A BILL TO THAT EFFECT WAS AT ONCE PUT BEFORE THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. BEFORE THE MEASURE CAME UP FOR DEBATE, NEWS ARRIVED OF THE TORPEDOING OF THE STEAMER "LACONIA" ON FEBRUARY 25 BY A GERMAN SUBMARINE, AND THE LOSS OF TWO AMERICANS ABOARD THE ILL-FATED VESSEL.

SPURRED ON BY NEWS OF THIS LATEST SINKING, THE HOUSE, BY A LARGE MAJORITY, PASSED THE BILL AUTHORIZING THE PRESIDENT TO ESTABLISH ARMED NEUTRALITY. WHEN THE MEASURE CAME BEFORE THE SENATE, IT WAS OPPOSED BY A SMALL GROUP OF SENATORS THAT THWARTED ITS PASSAGE BY A SUCCESSFUL FILIBUSTER.

THIS SETBACK DID NOT DETER PRESIDENT WILSON. HAVING FOUND THAT EXISTING LAWS GAVE HIM THE AUTHORITY TO TAKE SUCH A STEP ON HIS OWN INITIATIVE, HE ORDERED GUNS MOUNTED ABOARD AMERICAN MERCHANTMEN.

SALES EXPERTS SPEAK TO REAL ESTATE MEN

More Than 200 Leaders in Realty Field Here for Meeting.

More than 200 real estate leaders throughout the state, assembled in Atlanta for the Georgia real estate sales conference, brought their all-day session to a close Friday night with a banquet and dance at the Ansley hotel.

The feature of the conference were the sales lectures delivered by A. John Berge and Guy W. Ellis, who are conducting similar conference in principal cities throughout the country. The meeting here was sponsored by the Georgia Real Estate Association, the Atlanta Real Estate Board and the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Two lectures were given in the morning and two in the afternoon, with all of the subject matter pertaining to technical information of the real estate profession. With exception of a luncheon at the Atlanta Athletic Club tendered the out-of-town visitors by President Alvin B. Cates, of the Atlanta board, and the closing dinner-dance, the entire day was devoted to presentation of modern selling practices.

Mr. Berge and Mr. Ellis are coauthors of a course on real estate selling. Mr. Berge is sales counselor for the National Association of Real Estate Boards and contributing editor of the National Real Estate Journal. Mr. Ellis is head of a large Detroit brokerage and past president of the Detroit realtor organization and an active figure in the national association.

Conference sessions were presided over by C. P. Rowland, of Savannah, president of the Georgia Real Estate Association.

Transfusion Patient Improves at Grady

Mrs. M. T. Maddox, of 94 Ormond street, wife of one of Atlanta's police officers, was reported to be in an improved condition at Grady hospital Friday night following a blood transfusion Thursday afternoon. City Detective G. Neal Ellis was the donor of the blood which probably will save the life of his fellow officer's wife.

Floersheimer Fashion Show Given in Rich's Specialty Shop

Miss Irene Stillman, of the Floersheimer house, is pictured in an evening frock of flat crepe, printed in brilliant dahlia design. Deep decollete, high-placed belt and deeply dipping hemline are interesting features of the striking gown. Photograph by George Cornett, Constitution staff photographer.

Attracting widespread interest among Atlanta fashionables was the Floersheimer showing of spring and resort clothes in Rich's Special Shop yesterday morning and afternoon. The Floersheimer establishment is one of the most eminent and exclusive dressmaking houses in America, and is making its first appearance in the south at Rich's. Models displayed beautiful and wearable fashions for street, sports, afternoon and evening. There was a tendency toward formality even in the sports and daytime clothes, with a decided emphasis on the lingerie touches. Prints were quite prominent and were inconspicuously small for morning wear—flambuoyantly large for afternoon and evening. One stunning street frock was of black flat crepe with richly colored Beauvais embroidery and collar of white mousseline de soie; a striking evening ensemble was of black crepe Elizabeth with separate jacket collared in white summer ermine; another evening costume was created of black Chantilly lace with separate wrap of Persian taffeta. Lace was favored throughout the collection. Shadow, Alencon, Chantilly, hexagon embroidered net are used on the informal tea-time frocks, on Sunday night dresses and on stately evening gowns. The predominant colors for daytime were: Navy, Rouen blue, black, almand, pistache; for afternoon and evening, Patou's opaline rose, crystal pink, sea moon green, Lelong's mermaid green, aquamarine.

There will be another Floersheimer showing in the Specialty Shop this morning from 10:30 to 11:30 and this afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock.

Receipts of $500,000 From Sales Tax Seen

Belief that the state gross sales tax can be made to yield $500,000 or more for the last quarter of 1929 was expressed by W. C. Norman, tax commissioner, in an address before the Georgia Telephone Association at the Ansley hotel Friday. Mr. Norman reviewed the recent history of taxation in Georgia, declaring that the present trend was away from the ad valorem taxes and to such measures as the gross sales and income tax. W. R. Bowen, of Fitzgerald, president of the association, presided.

Two Grocery Clerks Held on Rum Charge

Two men were being held in the Fulton county jail Friday, faced with charges of operating a liquor business under the guise of grocers. A. Sikes, 32, and M. W. Harmon, 27, clerks in the establishment of Polk Harmon, 24, at 1004 Pryor street, were the two.

According to City Detectives R. R. Davis and C. E. McCrary, a gallon of corn whisky and about 150 empty pint bottles were confiscated in a raid on the store. At a late hour Friday night neither man had made bond.

M. W. Harmon is the brother of the proprietor of the store.

UNDERPAY IS SCORED

P. H. Callahan Addresses Religious Workers Here.

Declaring that "industry was made for man, and not man made for industry," P. H. Callahan, of Louisville, scored underpay for employes in any line of business in the final address before the Religious Education Association which closed a three-day session at the Henry Grady hotel Friday morning.

"When industry fails to pay the laborer a wage sufficient to keep himself and family in comfort, it no longer deserves to exist," he stated. "Furthermore, if a public animated by the sentiment of the Christian heart, will take up the cause of underpaid workers there will be an effective expression in religious energies of a community in respect to industrial relations."

He continued to flay the socalled "living wage" and was of the opinion that there is no more justification for the continued existence of a business that cannot carry its normal force in times of depression than for one which cannot pay a living wage. He referred to the policy of his own company by saying that workers were never dismissed in slack times but that voluntary cuts in wages and salaries were taken, starting with himself as president.

The speech of Mr. Callahan brought to a close the three-day session of the Religious Education Association and was delivered after the appointment of committees to carry out the 1930 work of the association.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

SNOW BABIES.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Doubtling Nature doesn't do;
You'll find she knows a thing or two.
—Sammy Jay.

Of course, Sammy Jay couldn't keep the secret of Hooty the Owl's nest to himself very long. When Blacky the Crowd heard who were the owners of the egg Sammy Jay had found, Blacky promptly forgot that he had ever boasted that he would go get that egg. The one thing that Blacky wanted most in all the Great World was to keep as far as possible from Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty. Ht was afraid of them and said so, and he didn't care who knew it.

Sammy Jay, however, couldn't keep away from that part of the Green Forest where the two big Owls were now making their home. Day after da, Sammy went as near as he dared to go. From a safe distance he watched that tree where the nest was. Day after day he saw Mrs. Hooty sitting on the eggs and he never got over the wonder that there could be eggs in such cold weather. The very branches around the nest were covered with snow. He wondered how many eggs there were. When he had looked into the nest there had been but one, but he knew well enough that by this time Mrs. Hooty had more. How many more there was no way for Sammy to know.

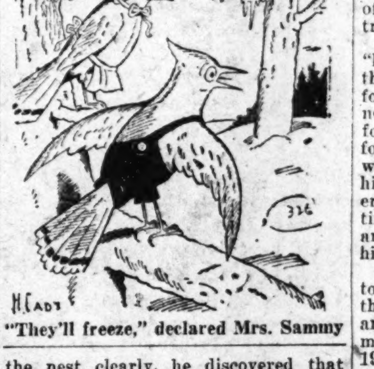
"I don't see what those babies are going to do when they hatch out in such weather as this," said Sammy to Mrs. Sammy, who had gone over there with him one day.

"They'll freeze," declared Mrs. Sammy. "Yes, sir, they'll freeze to death. I don't know how long it takes for an Owl's egg to hatch, but I'm certain that it will still be cold weather when those babies break their way through the shell. Those Owls are crazy to be nesting at this time of year. I never heard of such a thing!"

"I've noticed," said Sammy, "that sometimes we find Mr. Hooty on the nest and sometimes Mrs. Hooty on the nest."

"Of course," replied Mrs. Sammy. "It wouldn't do to leave those eggs uncovered in such weather as this, so they take turns and while one goes hunting the other sits on the eggs. But you mark my words, Sammy Jay, those babies will freeze to death."

It was just about four weeks from the time Sammy had discovered that first egg when he discovered great activity around that tree in which was the old nest of Blacky the Crow. Sammy stopped at some distance, for he had discovered at once that both Mr. and Mrs. Hooty were off the nest. Just as he came in sight of the nest he saw Hooty fly away into the Green Forest. Then when he reached a place where he could see the nest clearly, he discovered that Mrs. Hooty was not in it. She was nowhere to be seen. What could that mean? Sammy fairly ached to fly over and look down into that nest. He was just about to try it when Mrs. Hooty suddenly appeared alighting on the edge of the nest. My, how big and fierce she looked! She had something in her bill, Sammy couldn't be sure, but he thought it was a Mouse. Whatever it was, it disappeared in the nest. Then Mrs. Hooty settled herself on the nest.



"They'll freeze," declared Mrs. Sammy

Now, being a bird himself, Sammy understood what all this meant. "As I live," said Sammy to himself, "those eggs have hatched! Yes, sir, those eggs have hatched! There are babies in that nest! Well, if they don't freeze to death it will be a wonder."

One morning a week later Sammy Jay awoke to find that it was snowing. About the middle of the forenoon it stopped snowing. Sammy hurried over to Farmer Brown's to get something to eat. Having eaten a late breakfast, he thought of those babies of Hooty the Owl. He started for the Green Forest. He expected to find Mrs. Hooty or Mr. Hooty sitting on that nest to protect those babies. Instead, when he got there he discovered two little heads stretched up as Hooty the Owl arrived with something in his bill. The tree was white with snow. On all sides everything was white with snow. Yet there were those two babies seeming not to mind it at all. "They are regular snow babies!" muttered Sammy.

The next story: "A Baby Has a Tumble."

Georgia Loses to Kentucky, 36-23; Plays A. A. C. Here Tonight

MAWNIN'
By Ed Danforth

A belated auditor's report on the all-star Southern conference football game played here New Year's Day showed a net profit of $24,300.

That sum was turned over by the Shriners to four crippled children's homes in the south.

That sum is greater than at first estimated by the committee. And it will be gratifying to all the players and the coaches who took part in the game. Their contribution in physical effort and self-denial will be translated into vast usefulness, through the medium of that sum of money.

BOBBY HOOKS' OLD INJURY HEALS.

Hollis Morris, the former Georgia boxer, tells an interesting story about his former teammate, Bobby Hooks, who now is coaching the boxers at Riverside Military academy.

When Hooks was a halfback on the Georgia team he actually wore off a shoulder bone tackling. The X-ray showed the bone to be hammered out of shape. (That's our story, anyhow).

Hooks had shown unusual ability as a boxer at Georgia, but his shoulder injury made it necessary for him to pass up an attractive offer to go into the business.

Since leaving school, Hooks has been taking exercises to bring his shoulder back to normal and now is completely healed.

"Hooks has a future in boxing," Morris says, "and he is seriously considering going in for it in earnest."

GREAT LITERARY EFFORT NULLIFIED.

Just after the driver of this vehicle of public information had written a tale of how "Stumpy" Thomason, former backfield mate of "Father" Lumpkin, at Georgia Tech, was going to act as second in the corner of Hollis Morris, the ex-Georgia boxer—openly opposing his former buddy in a professional sporting event—the fight was called off.

Things like that work an unfair hardship on the public.

Ho, hum—I wrote a masterpiece one time—it was just before the running of the last Kentucky Derby—about an hour before—and I wrote the story to have it ready for the early editions—of course Blue Larkspur was going to win— and I typed a lot about "bouncing over the yellow track like a tuft of thistledown blown across a wheat field, Blue Larkspur made a show of a noble field," or words to that effect—it was a wow.

But it rained and the track was black, not yellow, and Blue Larkspur was gazing through and had mud in his eyes thrown there by the heels of a gelding called Clyde Van Dusen, and the masterpiece was destroyed.

GEORGIA'S TOUGHEST FOES.

"Buck" Anderson, star guard on the Georgia basketball team, says that of all the teams the Bulldogs have met in two years Georgia Tech is the toughest.

"We never can get a crip shot on them," Anderson declares. "We work our plays and when we get the ball down there to the basket, there they are right on top of us. We never have solved their system and the only way we ever can lick them is to get lucky on the long ones. We can get down there against every other team once in a while but on Tech, never."

VIRGINIA'S HARD LUCK.

A good humored hard luck story is contained in a letter from Carroll P. Jones, of Atlanta, student at the University of Virginia. It concerns the Virginia basketball team and their strange run of misfortune in scoring.

After saying kind things about The Constitution sports pages that come daily to brighten the fraternity house at Charlottesville, Mr. Jones goes on:

"Virginia's basketball team has lost eight and won one conference game to date. This record, however, is not a fair indicator of our strength. We were very slow starting this season but within the past two weeks the Cavaliers have lost three of the closest games it has ever been my fortune to see.

"First came North Carolina State (victors over Georgia) to beat us in an extra period after three of our men had been ejected on personal fouls. Then North Carolina beat us in an extra period. Finally, without the services of Captain Harrison, we held the unbeaten Washington & Lee team to a single field goal victory— a shot from the center of the floor to the rafters and down into the basket proved the margin of victory.

"How about that for tough luck? No other team in the conference has held the Generals to such a close score. If Virginia gets into the tournament which is extremely doubtful, look out. The hard luck might end—suddenly."

GEORGIA LOSES TO WILDCATS; MEETS A. A. C.

Bulldogs Play Beanboys Here Tonight on Athletic Club Floor.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 14.—(AP) Kentucky ran its string of Southern conference victories to seven out of eight here tonight, defeating the University of Georgia, 36 to 23. The one defeat of the season was by Tennessee.

Kentucky led all the way, despite the loss of Milward, star center, who injured a weak leg the first play of the game and was taken out. The score at the half was 18 to 8. Louis McGinnis, Kentucky forward, was high scorer with 11, and Anderson, Georgia guard, led his team with seven points.

Georgia, A. A. C. Clash Tonight.

By Herb Clark.

Georgia's basketeers will be in Atlanta tonight for a return game with Coach Joe Bean's A. A. C. dribblers. The game is slated to start on the club court at 8:30 o'clock.

Revenge, they say, is sweet. So, too, is the record of two victories over a team touted for amateur title honors. Wherefore, with one thing and another, either Georgia's basketball squad or the Atlanta Athletic Club courtmen will be well-pleased as they leave the club floor after the game tonight.

SPIDER AND FLY.

This revenge, now. The Bulldogs invited the Beanmen over to Athens for a pleasant evening just a week ago, and then cast the visitors in a "fly" role while they pulled a Lon Chaney to don a spider makeup. The "fly" was in a bad way, having seen its precious 18-games-won-record tossed on the ground and crushed by the Tech courtmen a week previous.

The "fly" will try for a comeback tonight.

On the other hand, the Bulldogs would be tickled pink to trounce the Club again. While Bean's record has gone by the boards, he has a good squad, and a double victory would add much prestige to the tale the Bulldogs will tell their children one day.

The Clubbers went to Athens with their morale in a shaky condition. As they came back the old spirit had been dragged through more pitfalls, and they had little desire to see a basketball or a court again.

PRACTICE.

In practice this week, however, they have renewed acquaintanceship with the court under compulsion and have forgotten all past enmities. Excepting, of course, that which has its objective the annihilation of the Bulldogs. For the Clubbers have a real and lasting feeling of aversion for the Bulldogs. It spreads, as a matter of fact, to all college foes, but there are no more games with the Jackets on the books. They hope to erase the stains by a complete subjugation of the lads from Georgia tonight.

Bean has drilled his charges hard for this game. If a basketball team has ever been primed for a particular battle, the Club is that team. They have listened to "pep" talks and to "hate" talks. They have been told just how and why and how bad to beat Georgia. Tonight they will start on their mission from the opening gun. And they will not ease up. They really feel that the Bulldogs insulted them in Athens, and that after they had been injured by Tech.

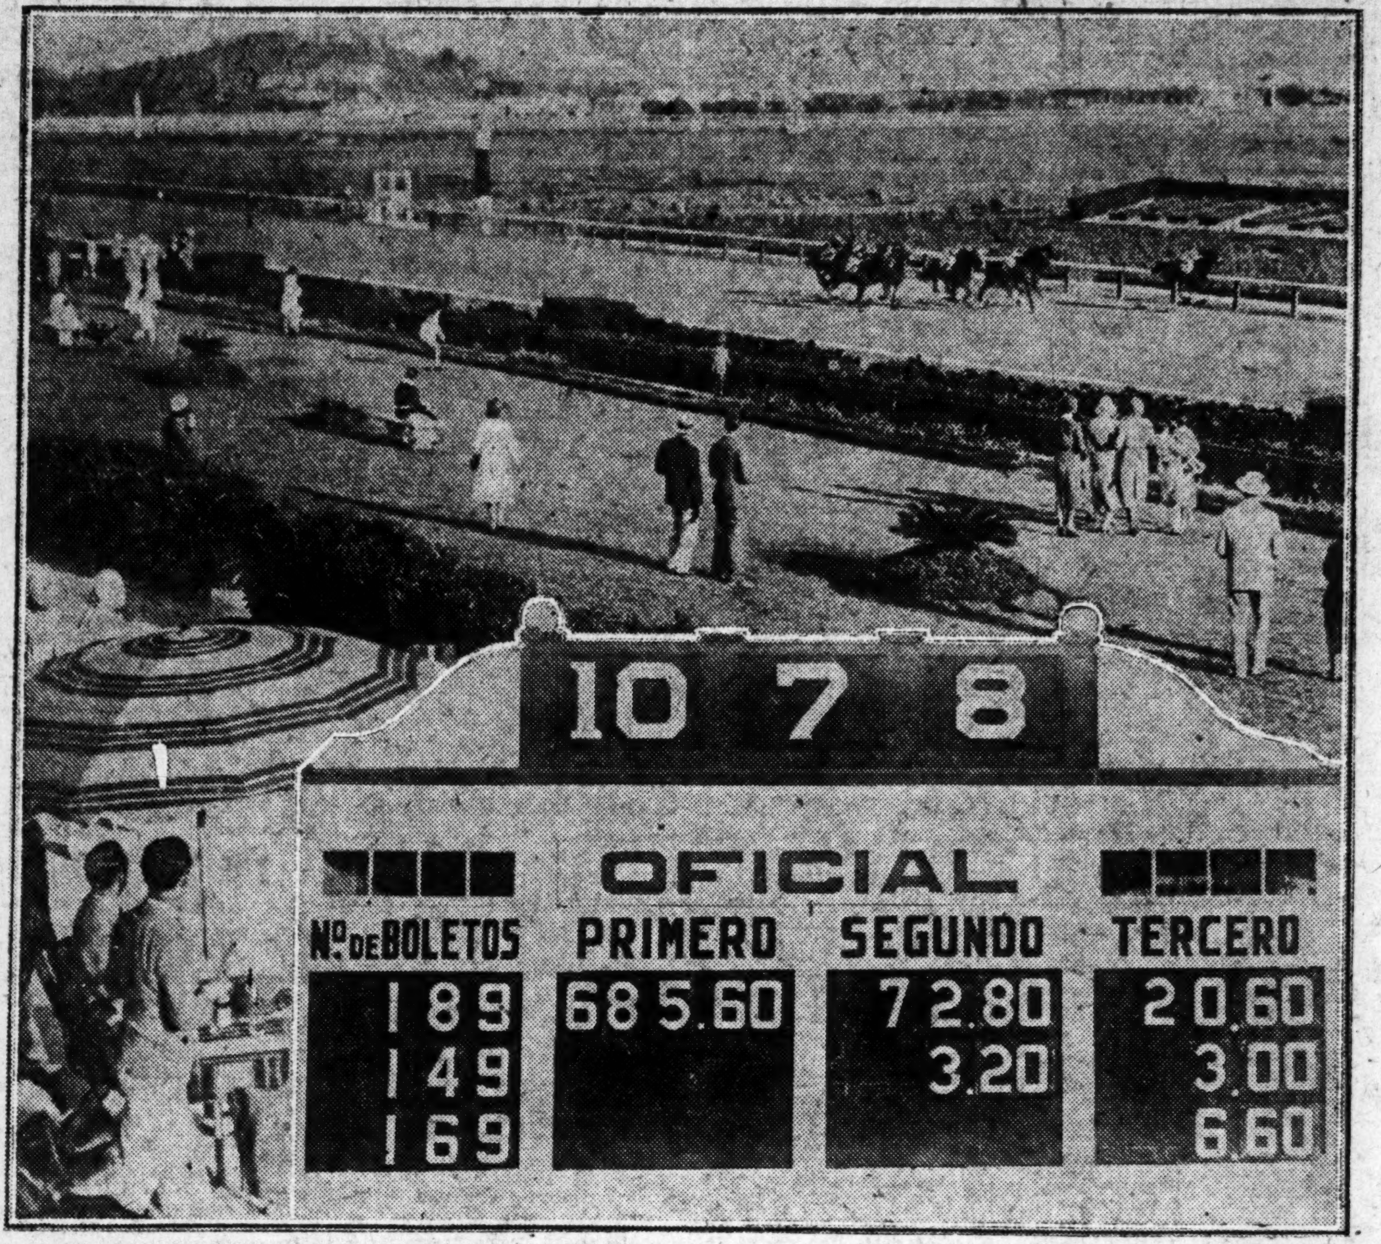
GEORGIA ATTACK.

The Bulldogs, of course, will have something to say about that "mission." The Bulldogs should have plenty to say. They have breezed along through most of their games with a shifty and speedy attack backed by a powerful defense. They have played good basketball and are likely to play some more before they put the uniforms in moth balls at the end of the season.

Georgia, too, has done good work in practice during the week. Friday night they were in Lexington to face the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky. The Wildcats are well up in the running for the conference lead. And none will deny that the Bulldogs showed well there.

The Bulldogs and the A. A. C. will have the matter out. They should put on one of the most entertaining court battles of the Atlanta season. Fans who make their way to the club gymnasium tonight should by all laws see good basketball played at a furious pace, which always makes for thrilling enjoyment.

Backers of This One Needed Wheelbarrows



When Miss Fountain came galloping home ahead of the field in a race at Havana recently her three backers needed a wheelbarrow or something equally as large to cart away their winnings for she paid $685.60 for a $2 ticket, She was a 20 to 1 shot before the race but only three people bet on the horse and the amount went away up. The top picture shows Miss Fountain coming down the stretch, while the picture below shows the board displaying a record price for the Havana track.—(Associated Press.)

HANLON ACTS AFTER PROTEST ON FIGHT ADS

By Ralph McGill.

Promoter Eddie Hanlon last night withdrew his boxing permit for the Tuesday night fight at the city auditorium involving, among others, Roy (Father) Lumpkin and Hollis Morris, former college athletes.

The fighters received a double knockout when Hanlon canceled the fight out of deference to the University of Georgia and the Georgia School of Technology, attended respectively by Morris and Lumpkin a year ago.

Placards for the fight carried in large letters across the top, "Tech vs. Georgia." This use of the names of the two universities was objected to as unauthorized and yesterday afternoon the matter was placed in the hands of attorneys by the offended institutions.

WITHDRAWN.

Hanlon and the boxing commission conferred with attorneys and Hanlon promptly withdrew his fight. There was no attempt made by the universities to halt the fight, their action being to prevent the use of the schools' names in connection with it, since neither participant was connected with either school.

Hanlon said that he regretted very much the fact that he had offended by the wording of his advertisements. He declared that he thought the best idea was to call off the fight and subsequently did so.

"I think it would be of interest to the people of Atlanta to know that two former college athletes were going to box," said Hanlon, "but I had no intention of offending anyone by the cards advertising the fight. I put quotation marks around the phrase, 'Tech vs. Georgia' and did not think about thereby connecting up the two schools."

Attorneys in the case, who were not seeking to stop the fight but to halt use of the names of the schools in connection with it, said that they appreciated the attitude of the boxing commission and of Promoter Hanlon.

CHANGES.

Hanlon at first decided to pull down all the placards and go on with the fight, to which there would have been no objection. He later decided to abandon the fight.

"I want to do what is best for boxing in Atlanta," he said, "and it is my idea that it would be best to call the entire thing off since it is evident that there is opposition to it. I am sorry as I have always attempted to put on good fights but I am for the best interest of Atlanta sports. I appreciate the fact that there was no effort made to stop the fight. I would not, under any circumstances, have used the names of the two universities had I thought it would have been objectionable."

Guy Dobbs, chairman of the boxing commission; Al Martin and R. L. Parker, members, said that they had refused to give permission for the fight to be staged as a main event but had given a permit for it to go on as a semi-windup to a main event.

UNSUSPECTING.

"We had no idea that there would be any advertisement bringing the names of Georgia and Georgia Tech into the thing," said Mr. Martin. "I am sure Hanlon did not think about it but it was an unwise placard.

"We want to give Atlanta only the best fights available. Sometimes we let a bad one get by, but we try our best. That is why we refused to let two men who are novices appear in a main event. I think Hanlon has done the wise thing in calling off the fight at this time."

The fight card, arranged by Hanlon, included four six-round fights in addition to the Lumpkin-Morris match. Wilbur and Cardwell were billed as the main event, with the Lumpkin-Morris fight as a semi-windup. Walls vs. Dumas, Sanders vs. Smith and Knowles vs. Pittman were the other events.

EXPECTED.

Most of the fighters were in the city. Lumpkin was scheduled to begin training here today.

Lumpkin was an All-Southern fullback at Georgia Tech in 1928, while Hollis Morris was a tackle at Georgia the same year. Lumpkin, a sophomore, left school during the summer of 1929 and signed with a professional football team at Portsmouth, Ohio. He starred there last year.

Lumpkin was one of many who began boxing after gaining fame in another sport. He had won his only two fights by knockouts. Morris had boxed as an amateur in Atlanta, and the Lumpkin fight was to have been his first professional engagement.

U.S.L. T. A. Meeting Opens at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—With the exception of one or two committee meetings to make final decisions on moot points, preliminary details have been settled for the holding tomorrow afternoon of the 49th annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

A busy afternoon is in prospect with the program calling for election of officers, announcement of rankings, selection of a city for the 1931 convention, awarding of tournaments and a vote favoring or disapproving the holding of open tournaments in which amateurs and professionals will be allowed to compete together.

Delegates apparently are generally favorable to "open" competition and with the expected approving vote tomorrow the decision will be checked up to the International Tennis Federation meeting March 21 in Paris. Among those favoring open competition is Francis T. Hunter, second ranking national player, who was here to compete in exhibition indoor matches.

There appeared little opposition to Louis B. Dailey, New Yorker, who has been nominated for president. Dailey and the entire slate nominated a month ago probably will be named to direct tennis destinies for the next year.

Athletics in Miami.

The Athletics will spend all their week-ends at Miami this spring, having games booked there each Saturday and Sunday.

Charlotte Reports Greenville Buyer

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 14.—(AP) The Charlotte Observer will say tomorrow that George S. Barnes, owner of a former Richmond, Va., baseball club, has expressed a keen interest in South Atlantic league franchise recently held by the Greenville, S. C., team.

Barnes, the Observer will say, wants Frank Walker, owner of the Greenville club, to get in touch with him immediately. He is quoted as saying he may do business with the Greenville owner under certain conditions.

One of the conditions set forth is that arrangements be perfected by which Norfolk, Va., also would take a berth in the South Atlantic circuit. The Richmond man also is represented as desiring a club organized and ready to play ball.

The Greenville franchise recently was declared forfeited by President W. G. Bramham, of the South Atlantic league. The league president, however, has indicated he will cooperate with Greenville fans in efforts to keep the franchise in that city.

Finalists.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 14.—(UN)—Howard Tryon, of Elmira, N. Y., and Jack Ahern, Buffalo, will meet in the final round of the Miami Biltmore St. Valentine's invitation golf tourney tomorrow.

Tryon defeated H. M. Brice, Miami favorite, 3 and 2, today, while Ahern eliminated H. P. Sullivan, Philadelphia, 1 up.

Suit Against Yanks Dismissed by Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(UN)—A suit for $1,000 against the New York Yankees was dismissed by Justice Genung in ninth district court today when Samuel Burchman, plaintiff, failed to show negligence on the part of the Yankee management.

Burchman asked damages for injuries received when he was knocked down and trampled on as he started out of the bleacher exits when a storm broke during a game on Sunday, May 19, 1929. Two deaths resulted from the confusion growing out of the rush for exits.

JACKETS MEET CLEMSON FIVE

Tech Quintet Will Battle for Right To Enter Tourney.

Clemson's Tigers of the basketball court, with two straight victories over the 'Gators of the University of Florida as their latest achievements, will return to their home grounds tonight.

And Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets of the basketball court will be right on their heels. The Jackets and Tigers meet at Clemson tonight in a return game.

Clemson, with the efficient aid of a little forward named "Doodles" Thomas, won the first game in Atlanta some time ago at 25-24. "Doodles" had been "hot" the night before at Auburn. He was "hot" against the Jackets, since that time he has cooled off considerably, but the Tigers have gone on winning.

Tonight the Jackets will seek balm for the sores inflicted by Josh Cody's crew in the shape of a victory and an even break in the series.

Mundorff will take his crew out of Atlanta at noon today, leaving with a squad of ten players. Sid Goldin, captain, will head the list of the invaders, with Josh Wilson, Vance Maree, Ginny Wages, Jack Warner, Bill Tate, Ted Raines, Bill Perkins, Hank Heeke and Red Williamson as the supporting troops. Manager Witmer and Coach Mundorff will accompany the team.

The Tigers and the Jackets have both improved in their play since the last meeting. The battle tonight should provide some real basketball. The Tigers showed real form in trouncing the 'Gators twice, while the Jackets seem to be on the upward road on the strength of their more recent games.

Tech is still faced with the necessity of crashing the tournament games. With four games on the slate, the Jackets should win three to be safe. Two will likely be enough, but "enough" is a good cause for worry.

On the basis of the first game the Jackets should hold the edge tonight. Had Thomas been able to miss even once during the evening the Jackets would have won then. They held the honors in the play, but were unable to stop Thomas' long shots which refused to take any other route than that leading through the net.

Tech Swimmers Meet Duke Tonight.

Tech's swimmers open their season tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club pool, meeting the Duke team.

Dick Grey, coach of the Yellow Jacket swimmers, has announced his final cut in the squad, planning to retain 17 of his leading natators for the hard season ahead.

For the past six years the Jackets have held the conference championship, and this year, with several stars lost by graduation and the stiffest schedule ever compiled at the Flats, the Engineers are due for much trouble if they hope to repeat.

A number of speedy freshman stars have come up to varsity ranks this season, however, and Grey is optimistic regarding the chances of his team.

Primo Takes 'Feeder' Title From Wrestlers

Italian Heavyweight Giant Takes First World's Crown on Basis of Huge Appetite.

By Ralph McGill.

It would not be at all surprising, were it possible to obtain statistics on the subject, to find that Signor Primo Carnera, the Italian heavyweight, is the new eater-up champion.

Heretofore the ranks of the wrestlers have always produced the eater-up champion. There has never been a heavyweight wrestler who was not a good feeder.

Mr. Stanislaus Cyganewicz Zbyszko, elder brother of Wladek, was one of the best eater-ups it has ever been my privilege to see. There was a hotel manager at Nashville, Tenn-O-See, who once invited Mr. Zbyszko to dinner.

He ate at that meal an entire loaf of bread, two chickens and double orders of four side dishes well filled with desired comestibles. He had started this off with a bowl of soup, lettuce and a large piece of fish.

JUST A BITE.

This was very good eating-up because later on in the evening Mr. Zbyszko ate that much more.

Ivan Linow, who was quite a wrestler when he chose to be and who is now in the movies, appearing for a moment or so in "Sunnyside Up" a week or so ago, was a great eater-up when it came to steaks. As a light midnight meal I once watched Ivan Linow eat two thick steaks with double orders of cottage fried potatoes and then finish up with a dessert of liver and onions.

I am not so sure if a comparatively light wrestler, Ivan Michialoff, who weighed no more than 185 pounds, was not one of the best eater-ups. Ivan Michialoff ate a variety of food. He always started with lettuce. From a head of that, with Thousand Island dressing, he would go to pickled herring served with sliced cucumbers, in season. He would consume great quantities of rye bread along with this and would then go into the meal proper, which included chops, steaks, peas, beans, carrots and other vegetables.

ODDS WERE POOR.

Once some newspapermen lost a wager. They had just witnessed Mr. Michialoff consume a full gallon and a half of beer in one afternoon's setting, leaving behind the newspapermen who had started out to compete. They then wagered that Mr. Michialoff could not eat his herring and chops. And they lost. He did.

Mr. Robert Frederick, called Ed (Strangler) Lewis, is perhaps the lightest eater of the heavyweight wrestlers. He is not an eater-up. His after-match meals consist of a couple of sandwiches, a glass of milk and a piece of cake.

All this explains why the wrestlers keep so active. They must eat and their food costs money. Managers of wrestlers who are good eaters-up, and which one isn't, go into hysterics if their men do not work. A bankroll fades when the boys are idle. They eat up money.

PRIMO TAKES TITLE.

But now comes Signor Primo Carnera and takes the eater-up title right out of the wrestling ranks. The Associated Press, carrying eating records from Memphis where the Signor appeared last night, reports that in one meal, the lunch of Thursday,

Carnera Kayoes Sigman in First

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(UN) Primo Carnera, gigantic Italian heavyweight, won his fifth fight in this country tonight, knocking out Big Jim Sigman, of Boston, in 1 minute, 35 seconds of the first round.

Outweighing his opponent by more than 50 pounds, the Venetian showman lost no time in ending the encounter.

Sigman, claimant of the heavyweight championship of the American navy, failed to land a telling blow, and succumbed to the punches of the Italian as soon as Carnera settled down to his work.

Walker Wins From Lomski.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 14.—(UN) Left-hand punches to the head and a slashing right which frequently found its mark under the heart tonight enabled Mickey Walker to out-point Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen assassin, in 10 fast rounds.

Walker, the veteran middleweight champion, dodged around Lomski's left and made a success of his first start in his campaign to win the light-heavyweight title left vacant by Tommy Loughran. Mickey has ambitions to take rank with Bob Fitzsimmons as the only man who ever held three titles.

Rosenbloom Beats Ace.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(UN)—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light-heavyweight contender, won a close decision from Ace Hudkins, Nebraska Wildcat, in a 10-round bout here tonight.

The fight was close all the way but Rosenbloom had a slight edge in the closing rounds. Hudkins had an advantage at in-fighting, landing almost three blows to his rival's one in close, but Rosenbloom had an even wider margin at long range.

Hudkins made a game effort and was moving in begging, "Maxie, come on and fight," in the final round. Twice before Hudkins stopped fighting and motioned with his gloves for Rosenbloom to come in close, as he said, "Come on, Maxie, let's fight."

A crowd of 16,596 paid a net of $49,323.29 to see the fight.

Late Rally Gives Boys' High Victory Over Macon Five.

Scoring nine points in the last six minutes of play in a brilliant rally, Boys' High defeated Lanier High of Macon, 32 to 25 Friday night on the Henry Grady court in a spectacular basketball game.

The Poets, due to two long shots by Eubanks and one by Long in the last two minutes of the first half, were leading the Hurricane 14 to 12 at the intermission. Throughout the third quarter the visitors continued in the lead but after time was called early in the fourth period, Boys' High found itself and soon had the game safe in hand.

During the second half Boys' High rallied considerably and began to sink a majority of its field goal tries. Captain Stayton scored two from near the middle of the court and those were just the points to give the Hurricane enough confidence to try more of these kind. Donehoo contributed one back-handed attempt and Gatlin volleyed one in that had been missed by two Boys' players.

Katz at forward was the high scorer with 11 points, seven of which were scored in the first half. He was ejected from the game early in the fourth quarter for four personal fouls and Smith continued where Katz left off with two field goals. Gatlin and Captain Stayton also played excellent basketball for the winners.

For Lanier, the work of Long, Eubanks and Buice was outstanding. Eubanks due to four long shots was high scorer for the visitors with 10 points, while Long had nine points to his credit. Long was an important cog in the Lanier passing game.

Lanier will play the Tech High quintet tonight on the Henry Grady court.

Dobbs, Engel Honored With Large Fox Hunt

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 14.—Johnny Dobbs, manager of the Atlanta Crackers, and Joe Engle, president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, were honored here tonight with a fox hunt sponsored by the Alert Bible Class of the First Baptist church.

The hunt was held in the open section near Lookout lake where a pack of more than 50 hounds gave chase to a fox for two hours. A crowd of near a thousand gathered around the lake clubhouse to enjoy sandwiches and coffee and listen to the "four-legged" opera.

Cars began arriving shortly after 6 o'clock and a large mob of fox hunters from Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama swarmed about the lake an hour later. Johnny Dobbs, acting as master of hounds, named Joe Engel to start the race by turning the fox loose.

If this was emblematic of the way Joe is going to start the Southern league race with Johnny April 11, nothing was said about it.

Uncle John Webb, veteran southern fox hunter, was in charge of arrangements for the hunt.

SQUAD LEARNS NEW FORMATION; CAIN SHINES

Team Makes Progress in Learning Signals; Drill on Fundamentals.

With work progressing at a pleasing pace, Georgia Tech's Yellow Jacket football squad, busy with spring practice at the moment, is slated to don its war togs for a full afternoon of scrimmaging today.

The Jackets have gone through a hard week. The practices have been designed to better condition to the end that the scrimmages may be more beneficial and also planned to increase the working knowledge of the new Jacket system.

Coach Alexander has sent his men through early fundamental drills and tapered off with a short scrimmage almost daily during the past week. The Jackets have shown a disposition to be slow about learning their signals, but with the daily practice battles they have shown a more rapid progress this week.

ADAPTED.

The engineers are fast acquiring the necessary insight into the new plan of action. The system in itself is simple enough to be speedily learned, but it differs so radically from anything ever seen before that the Jackets have been a bit nonplussed by the very idea of the thing. Once sure that it was really true, they stepped out to make it work.

And scrimmages have found the new style clicking well. Today's grind will be but one more test which both the team and the system are expected to survive easily.

The fullback problem, so troublesome early in the work, has shaped up much better than expected. Tommy Cain, called "Sugar," has picked up the tricks of the trade well and is expected to step into the hole. He is meeting with plenty of opposition from Bob Strickland and Gene Hauck, fullbacks of last fall, and is being forced to show speed in his work.

SATISFACTORY.

The shift of Earl Dunlap to the halfback brigade has also proved satisfactory. Earl has come through in fine style and is getting a chance to do more actual work as an advancer of the ball. Bud Boner, who has been replacing Dunlap as quarter, is also showing well and is looked to to boost the Tech stock behind the line.

Sid Williams, who went with the halfbacks from the crew of wingmen, is another lad who has shown real ability in scrimmages. He is carrying the ball well and showing a nice speed and shiftiness in action.

In the line the return of Frank Speer to run with Vance Maree at tackle is causing smiles to be used freely by the coaches. The newly eligible freshmen from last fall are doing well also, and Bill Fincher and Captain Robinson, who have the line in their care, are well satisfied with the work of the front wall.

The scrimmage today will be just one more test for the squad. Coach Alexander is expected to try a number of new combinations in the drill.

Lord Braedalbane Wins Valentine Race

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Lord Braedalbane, a prominent candidate for the 1929 Kentucky derby under the colors of Desha Breckenridge, won his first race of the winter campaign for Miss Blanche Watson today in the St. Valentine's allowance purse at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans.

Showing a marked improvement, the 4-year-old whisk gelding stepped over the mile course in 1:40 to defeat George Collins' Earl of Warwick by two lengths. Mrs. W. J. Potter's Bocaratone was third, beaten by a length, while Acturus, the well-backed favorite, finished a poor fourth in the field of seven. Lord Braedalbane paid $8.30 for a $2 straight ticket.

After the great showing of the favorites in the feature races yesterday, Mrs. V. M. Duncan's Clean Play, heavily played in the oral books, galloped over the Hialeah park, Miami, track to score an impressive victory in the Hallandale purse. With the veteran jockey, George Fields, giving Clean Play one of his good rides; the Duncan colt finished three-quarters of a length in front of Fairy Maiden. Stand By was another length and a half back for show money. Clean Play paid 8 to 5, 1 to 2 and 1 to 4.

The public choice in the St. Valentine purse at the Florida course, however, was not so fortunate. The race, a claiming event of six furlongs for older horses, went to Toki, quoted at 8 to 1; Sun Broom, the second choice, was second, with Golden Volt third and The Okah, quoted at 4 to 5, fourth.

Featuring juveniles at four furlongs, E. Drillon's Type won the leading race at Oriental park, Havana. Type, a son of Publisher, dominating the running throughout, finished well out in front of Advertiser, also sired by Publisher. Phil Chinn's French Brigade was third.

PETRELS NOSED BY 'Y,' 31 TO 30

Close Guarding Features Game Played on Oglethorpe Court.

In a fast, furious and closely guarded basketball game the Y. M. C. A. quintet nosed out Oglethorpe on the latter's court Friday night by one lone point, 31 to 30.

Both teams put up a defense that kept the other outside the foul line for the most part and the goals were scored on long shots. The teams were evenly matched as demonstrated by the fact that the score was very close from the start of the game until the finish. At the half Oglethorpe was ahead by 18 to 16 but the "Y" five put on the pressure and went ahead by a scant margin which proved sufficient.

Medlin, with 11 points, led for the victors, while Claude Herrin played a brilliant game for Oglethorpe, scoring 12 points, most of them in the first half. Nearly all of his goals were scored from the middle of the floor.

In a preliminary game the Oglethorpe freshmen defeated the Darlington school quintet, from Rome, by a score of 45 to 23.

Fives Still Tied In Piedmont Loop

Central Presbyterian and Gordon Street Presbyterian remain knotted for the Piedmont league lead after the Friday night games as both were winners, Central downing Edgewood Baptist, 25 to 15, with Steiglitz, of the winners, and Elliott, of the losers, starring. Gordon Street defeated a neighborhood rival, Go Get 'Em Class, of Gordon Street Baptist, in a furious contest that ended, 19-16. Wilkerson, of the winners, and Beardon, of the losers, tying with six points each for scoring honors.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

FAME AND THE GAME.

Last fall Columbia's football team failed to stampede any of the leading gridiron herds, but only a short while before a Columbia crew had rowed to as much glory as any football team ever earned. But the big difference is that a star crew doesn't draw as much of the old hip-hip or as much publicity as a star football team can draw—and does draw.

Yet a winning crew needs as much in the way of skill, stamina, power and courage as any winning football team ever needs, and probably a trifle more. The four-mile race comes close to being the hardest test in all sport. It is a test where the weakest member must row up to the strongest or crack the rhythm of the boat. Many of these oarsmen take terrific punishment for the time being at least.

A four-mile race calls for much better physical condition than a football game demands, for there are no resting spots in a four-mile race, where football action demands only about 15 minutes of motion in the two hours needed to play a game.

In the course of time Columbia's football team will be heard from, with Lou Little in charge, but, in the meanwhile, young Glendon is busy building up another Columbia crew that will be heard from before the Poughkeepsie party is over.

Glendon's crew might beat the best in the world and still not get as much publicity as Lou Little can draw by building up a football team good enough to beat Cornell, Pennsylvania and Syracuse.

THE BREAK OF THE GAME.

Baseball carries as many breaks, good or bad, as any single sport can show. But one of the most important breaks, so far as the ball player is concerned, is the team that he happens to draw, or the team that happens to draw him.

Take the case of young Klein, of the Phillies. Last season Klein broke the National league records for home runs with 43. He moved out beyond Hornsby's old mark. He batted .356 on the side.

You can figure about what a ball player of this type would be worth to the Yankees, Giants or Cubs. As it is, he is reported to have asked for $15,000 with the Phillies and only $8,000 offered. The Phillies don't happen to be financially equipped to compete with Yankees, Giants or Cubs. But that isn't Klein's fault. He might beat Babe Ruth by a dozen home runs this season and still draw less than a third of Ruth's salary, or a fourth of Ruth's salary.

If all the good ball players were taken away from clubs that couldn't afford to compete with some others there would be no race left. But again, this isn't the ball player's fault. It just happens to be one of those tough breaks that at times assail some sections of the human race.

The ball player is no part of a slave, but not all of them get the best of the breaks when it comes to open financial competition in an open market. And yet there is practically nothing that can be done about it.

THE NEXT MILLION DOLLAR GATE.

The chance for another million-dollar gate at some 1930 date will depend upon two things—how Sharkey looks against Scott; how Schmeling stacks up in the advance chatter before he meets Sharkey.

If Scott beats Sharkey, there will be nothing like any million-dollar gate. If Sharkey merely outpoints Scott, the same will be true. Sharkey will have to win with a knockout to build up any million-dollar ballyhoo for the June show, and even then the intake may not pass $700,000.

The only way to be sure of any million-dollar gate is to get Dempsey in the picture or to have Carnera turn into a real Colossus of Clout, with a shot at the royal cloak. It will take some unusual circumstance to bring back another million-dollar carnival, but it may happen with the right break. Any fight that will mean a real heavyweight championship, that will be accepted as a real heavyweight championship and not merely one by commission edict, will come close to the big pot.

An inventor has discovered that a golf ball stays on the club face after it has been hit just a bare fraction of a second, the barest fraction. It may stay in a heel print in a bunker several seconds after it has been hit.

The idea was once advanced that a golf ball remains glued to the face of a club for several inches after being struck. The rebound is almost immediate, ball and club face traveling about a half-inch together before the ball is under way. So one can see just how important the carefully posed finishes of many golfers are. The idea isn't to look like Bobby Jones at the finish of a swing, but to look like Bobby Jones as the club head reaches the ball. That is something else again.

Henry Johnson Wins From Charlie King

Henry Johnson defeated Charlie King in six rounds in the feature of a boxing card presented Friday night at Roby's gymnasium by Billy Hooper. Johnson pounded his opponent about the ring throughout the fight and King was counted out while still on his feet.

Young Billy Hooper kayoed Battling Dunn in four rounds. Harry Jones won a decision over the Wildcat. Jimmy Staford was victor over Battling Snook with a technical kayo in the fifth. Hooper promises another all-colored card for next Friday night.

Maureen Orcutt Wins Golf Title

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Miss Maureen Orcutt won the Miami women's golf championship this afternoon for the second time, defeating Miss Bennett, 8 and 6.

Marietta Fives Win Over Fairburn Teams

MARIETTA, Ga., Feb. 14.—Marietta basketball teams scored a double victory here tonight when the boys' and girls' teams won from Fairburn. The Marietta boys romped in their game, defeating the Fairburn boys by a 69-to-4 score. There were many substitutions made by the Cobb county team and Anderson led the scoring with 14 points.

The Marietta girls won their game from Fairburn girls, 34 to 11, with Brumby scoring 12 points for her team.

Grimes Balks.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14.—(UN)—Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh pitcher, returned to his home at Minerva, Ohio, today without signing his 1930 contract. Two days of conferring with Vice President Sam Dreyfuss failed to accomplish anything. Grimes is said to want $25,000.

BARRON WINS AT PENSACOLA

New York Pro and Schneider Win Pro-Amateur Event.

By Dillon L. Graham,

Associated Press Sports Writer.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP) Playing par-shattering golf, Herman Barron, 21-year-old professional from Portchester, N. Y., and his amateur partner, Lee Schnieder, of Oshkosh, Wis., scored a 66 today to win the 18-hole pro-amateur best-ball golf tournament over the Pensacola Country Club course. The score was five under par figures for the course.

A stroke behind the leaders came Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J. pro, and C. W. Lamar, of Pensacola, who turned in two sub-par rounds for a 67. August Nordone, Schenectady, N. Y. pro, and Adrian Langford, Pensacola, took third place with a 68.

Barron and Schnieder finished the first nine one stroke better than par and beat the standard figure by four strokes on the home nine. They collected six birdies on the 18 holes.

CLIPPING.

Wood, winner of the Hawaiian open, and Lamar clipped two strokes from par on both outward and home trips, while Nordone and Langford flashed brilliantly to complete the first nine four under par. The latter pair faltered however and took a 36 on the homeward trip.

Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y. pro, and C. C. Coffman, Pensacola; Al Espinosa, Chicago moneymaker, and S. S. Rodman, Pensacola; Bill Melhorn, unattached, and Ed. White, Pensacola, and Harry Cooper, unattached, and C. J. Heinberg, Pensacola, tied for fourth with 69 each. Four teams also tied with 70's, one under par.

Barron received the $100 first prize, while Wood took $75 and Nordone $50. Cups and trophies were given the amateur members of the three low teams.

INDICATION.

The low scores today gave indication of par-shattering cards in tomorrow's first half play of the 72-hole second annual Greater Pensacola open.

Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., ace, who will not return this year, won last year's event with a total 72-hole score of 274, 10 strokes under the regulation figures.

The winner's share of the spoils in the open tournament will be $800, with 14 other cash prizes ranging from $600 to $50, listed for the other low-shooting professionals.

Gene Sarazen, diminutive New York professional, who won the $10,000 first prize in the Agua Caliente open several weeks ago, arrived late today and took a practice round. Sarazen, together with Espinosa, who won the Houston open last week; Johnny Farrell, of New York, and Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y., are favorites to win the meet.

G. M. A. TRIMS PURPLE, 6 TO 0, IN SPRING TILT

De Garimore Gallops 65 Yards in Last Quarter to Score.

By Roy White.

A spectacular 65-yard run by Bill DeGarimore, late in the fourth quarter enabled G. M. A. to beat Boys' High 6 to 0, Friday afternoon at College Park in the first spring football game in Atlanta. DeGarimore received a punt on his own 35-yard line and after falling down, got up, made straight for the right side line, cut back, momentarily stopped to get behind some interference and then cut back outside of his interference to elude the Boys' High secondary and score. Aside from the long run, there was little to choose between the two teams. Both coaches Doyal and Padget used many substitutes, but always kept enough veterans in the game to make it well worth the while.

After an exchange of punts in the third period G. M. A. was deep in its own territory. Three line and end plays failed and on fourth down with five yards to go DeGarimore attempted to circle left end and was stopped cold on his own 15-yard line. Boys' High received the ball and made a first down through the line, placing the ball on G. M. A.'s 4-yard line as the quarter ended.

HELD.

Two fake plays and two line plunges were attempted, but the Cadet defense tightened and held for downs in the shadow of its goal. G. M. A. punted out of danger and Boys' High began a forward pass drive that failed. Another exchange of punts followed and a bad pass from center forced Boys' High in the shadow of its own goal but McKinstry came to the rescue with a good punt that gave G. M. A. the ball in its own territory.

The play was near midfield for several minutes and then G. M. A. punted deep in Boys' High territory. The Purple attempted to score by long passes but G. M. A. batted them down and McKinstry sent a long punt down the field to DeGarimore, who made the spectacular run, with only 2 minutes left to play. The drop-kick failed.

Breaks in the game were fairly even and so were the first downs. The punting was for the most part above the average with G. M. A. having a slight edge in the first two quarters. Captain Christian, of G. M. A., booted one for 60 yards that helped his team materially near the end of the first quarter.

WAITING.

In the first two quarters nothing of importance happened on either side, with both teams waiting for a break or an opportunity to break through. Those chances never appeared and the teams attempted to force the breaks in the third and fourth periods.

It was in many respects a battle of defensive teams, much in the same manner as the scoreless tie played last fall on Spiller field.

The linemen charged like bulls and the wingmen were ever alert to stop long sweeping end run attempts. Isbell, whose work in company football earned him a varsity chance, was outstanding among the ends. He played wide and stopped many Boys' High plays before they were half started. Peters and Riddle, giant tackles, played exceptionally good football, as did Wright, one of the best linesmen in the league last fall. Captain Christian, DeGarimore and Aycock played good in the G. M. A. backfield.

House, Jones, Preston and Inman played good football in the Boys' High line, while Stevens, McKinstry and Luke Mizell played best in the backfield. The punting of McKinstry was very good, and the interference of Mizell was good all during the game.

Chocolate's Bout At Tampa Off

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The 10-round boxing match between Kid Chocolate, crack Cuban featherweight, and Benny Hall, St. Louis negro, scheduled at Tampa Monday night, has been called off. In making this announcement tonight, promoters gave as the reason that Chocolate had injured his right hand in training but it was reported his difficulties with Cuban boxing authorities also were a factor.

Efforts to put the bout through failed after a long distance exchange with Louis Gutierrez, Chocolate's manager, who was suspended recently by the Cuban boxing commission. Tentatively Chocolate was offered an engagement here March 3 by the promoters, Rex Myers and George Braun, but they failed tonight to obtain any acceptance of this.

PRIMO WINS FIRST TITLE

the Signor ate enough raviola, spaghetti and other things dear to the Italian's heart. This undoubtedly included meat balls, which are quite filling, and green peppers cooked in olive oil, a delicacy I can recommend, and other foods.

He ate of this, says the report, "enough for three men."

But that is not all. He then ate THREE chickens and the other things that came with them.

That was a light lunch for the new eater-up champion. A few hours later he ate dinner. Statistics on that dinner were lacking. They would have been interesting but Signor Carnera wins, forks down, on the basis of that lunch. His dinner must have been fairly heavy.

Mr. Tubby Walton is probably the best eater-up in Atlanta. But then this is open to debate. Mr. Walton has a fine lot of eater-ups who visit his restaurant. He could, no doubt, name some who could match him, ham for ham and chicken for chicken.

But even in his palmiest days Mr. Walton could not eat with Signor Carnera. He wins the eater-up title without a struggle. The wrestlers have lost another title.

Big Gotham Expedition Gets Four-Inch Bass

Two Days, Two Hundred Dollars Spent To Prove There Are Fish in Central Park.

By Sam Love,

United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(UN)—The Central Park fishing expedition, after two days of harrowing experiences, caught a fish in the park's upper reservoir today and disbanded.

Officials of the aquarium and of the park department, who had taken the skeptical attitude that there were no fish in Central Park, and particularly no game fish, were confounded.

A point had been made of the matter. The upper reservoir is about to be drained for conversion into a playground. The Southern New York Fish and Game Association demanded of the parks department that the game fish in the reservoir be saved.

"Game fish in the middle, as it were, of Fifth avenue?" responded the parks department. "Don't make us fall down laughing."

The presence of game fish in Central park, in this manner, became a point of honor. And so, however the rest of the world may view it, the success that crowned the second day of fishing by the great Central park fishing expedition, has its importance.

CAUGHT.

The Central park game fish was caught in a net at great expense about 2 p. m. today. He was a small-mouth bass, nearly four inches long. He weighed about an ounce an inch, which brought the price to approximately $50 an ounce, or $200, the cost of the fishing expedition to the Southern New York Fish and Game Association.

As soon as he—the fish—had been brought in and disentangled from a 1928 Manhattan telephone directory, two unidentifiable tin cans and a galosh, Dr. Andrew J. Fox, sportsman and leader of the expedition, disbanded his followers.

Dr. Fox tilted his black bowler at an even more correct angle and admitted that he and his men had undergone a terrible experience.

VINDICATED.

"But we have proved our point," he said. "There are fish in Central park—game fish. We are disappointed at catching only one fish, but we have been working against impossible conditions."

The great fishing expedition—aside from Dr. Fox—consisted of five men getting salaries of $10 a day and two trucks, with drivers, hired at $50 a day. The trucks were to transport the rescued game fish to a safe place before the reservoir was drained.

The first thing that happened to disconcert the expedition was just one of those things that are always happening in New York. That is, the expedition made somebody mad.

PEEVED.

"You see," said Dr. Fox, "we wrote to Albany to get a permit to get the fish out of the reservoir. That peeved Commissioner Herrick, of the park. He thought we were trying to supercede him, or something. He wanted to know what I was doing, going ahead in the park without consulting him."

Expedition Leader Fox wrote Park Commissioner Herrick a soothing letter. But in return he received instructions to get the fish—if any—out of the reservoir by January 22, or keep away from there. The park department intended to convert the reservoir into a playground immediately after January 22.

Unfortunately, the reservoir was frozen over on January 22, and it remained frozen over until Thursday, when the expedition fearing total failure of its plans—bravely sawed through the ice and tried to capture the fish in nets.

VARIETY.

All but one of the five workmen fell through the ice during the attempt, and at times Dr. Fox's own light grey Chesterfield overcoat seemed on the point of disappearing. The first day's catch was composed entirely of bottles, unmated overshoes and old telephone directories.

But a bright sun had melted most of the ice today and the fishermen put down their nets again. In the presence of an embarrassingly large crowd of ribald spectators, they hauled up the four-inch bass.

Immediately thereafter Dr. Fox threw the piscatorial denizen back into his deep and disbanded the expedition.

REPORTS.

There have been, he said, reports that he was going to sell any fish he caught in Harlem. There have been—in addition to the hardships of falling into the chilly reservoir through the ice—even worse reports.

"They are all silly," said the leader of the expedition. "And I am still convinced that there are lots of fish in the reservoir—hi, taxi!"

Hohenstein Leads In Bowling Tourney

With 54 Atlanta bowlers taking part, the second series of five games to determine four Atlantans to team up with Jack Whalen to enter the National Duckpin Congress next month in Waterbury, Conn., will be played tonight on the Atlanta Bowling Alleys. The bowling will start at 7:30 o'clock and all of the women entries in the elimination series will roll tonight.

Hohenstein with 575 for the five games, was leader in the first series of five games played Friday night. His high games were the third and fourth with 131 pins each. Pat Barron, popular Georgia Tech student, was second with 548 pins, with Stickney third, Orme fourth and Murray fifth.

Hohenstein, 575; Pat Barron, 548; Stickney, 545; Orme, 541; Murray, 531; Parker, 528; Tignor, 524; Elsner, 518; Metcalf, 517; McKay, 517; Bell, 515; Dyer, 514; Bell, 513; Wilcoxen, 513; H. Vernon Smith Tops Popularity Contest

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 14.—Vernon Smith, star University of Georgia football player whose playing last fall won him a place on several All-American selections, was in the lead tonight in a campaign being conducted by Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, to determine whom the student body believes Georgia's greatest athlete. The contest does not close until February 19, but a large number of students have already voted and Smith holds a commanding lead.

Smith, better known as "Catfish," is one of the most popular students on the campus. Besides playing football he is center on the basketball team. He made four numerals in his freshman year, in football, boxing, basketball and baseball.

In addition to balloting on the university's greatest athlete the students are being asked to express their opinion on whom they believe should be the democratic candidate for president in 1932, their favorite author, their favorite work of fiction, their favorite magazine and the best recent picture.

Woodberry To Play Lucy Cobb Tonight

Lucy Cobb's basketball team from Athens, Ga., will play Woodberry Hall at 7 o'clock tonight on the Y. W. C. A. court on Auburn avenue. The two teams recently played to a 14-to-14 tie game and this will be the last game between the two this season. It will be played under girls' basketball rules.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—(AP)—With no adequate export outlet in sight and with United States 1930 wheat production threatening to show another surplus, wheat values underwent sharp setbacks today. North American wheat export clearances for the week were announced as only 5,203,000 bushels, an amount below either the week previous or a year ago. Export purchases today from the United States and Canada together were but 400,000 bushels, mostly Canadian.

Under heavy selling from commission houses wheat collapsed in some cases nearly 3c a bushel here, and closed nervous, 1 5-8 to 2 3-8 lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3-8c to 1-2c to 5-8c down, with oats 3-8c to 1-2c to 1c off, but provisions showing 5c to 10c advance.

Throughout the day wheat values here showed a decided downward trend. Breaks in Liverpool quotations preceded Chicago weakness, and were associated with reports of cheaper offerings of Argentine wheat and of increasing pressure of unsold Canadian wheat afloat for Europe. It also being asserted that there have been extra large yields of rye in European countries and that new wheat import duties abroad have been making wheat prices relatively excessive to European consumers.

Indications of almost utter lack at present of foreign demand for United States wheat were later given additional bearish effect by official reports that under normal conditions this season the domestic wheat harvest will show yields well above home requirements. In this connection, unofficial summaries at hand suggested that crop damage to domestic winter wheat so far is inconsequential, although sudden severe low temperatures now would catch most of the wheat bare of snow. Late reports from Winnipeg that the British government may take 30,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and ship it out from Montreal in the spring were regarded here as bearish, implying lessened chance of export business from the United States.

Corn and oats went lower with wheat and as a result of continued favorable weather for movement of corn.

Sugar.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Raw sugar was easier today under continued liberal offerings of duty frees and only a limited demand. Nearby Porto Rican were available at 3.58, a decline of 1-32c from the last previous sale, but they found no buying interest. The only sale reported was 12,600 bags of Philippines for April-May shipment to an operator at 3.66 delivered. The Cuban price is 3.83.

There was more activity in raw futures and prices were easier under general long liquidation and selling of all positions by houses with Cuban connections, promoted by the continued unsettled state of the refined situation and the easier tone to the spot market. The market opened unchanged to 3 points lower and continued to sag throughout the remainder of the session and closed with net losses of 5 to 6 points. There were occasional rallies of a point or two at times on covering, but the demand was easily supplied, and final prices were at about the lowest of the session. A prominent local trade commission house estimated the world's sugar crops for 1929-30 season at 27,252,000 tons, against 28,057,000 tons produced in 1928-29, and this year's consumption at 27,837,000 tons, against 26,967,000 tons consumed in the previous year. Approximate sales 97,650 tons. March closed 1.68, May 1.78, July 1.88, September 1.96, December 2.04, January 2.06.

Refined was unsettled and although there was no change in quotations from 4.95 for fine granulated, several of the local refiners announced that this quotation was retroactive to January 6.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Communication company bonds played leading roles in today's market. Aside from those issues and a couple of convertible rails, the list had little depth and net changes in seasoned obligations were in minor fractions.

American Telephone debenture 5s of 1960 and 1965 moved in large volume but got nowhere. The combined turnover for the two was approximately $650,000, principal amount, almost evenly divided. The convertible 4 1-2s, showing transactions of about $730,000, touched the year's high at 152 and then eased off for no net change.

The recently issued International Telephone 5s were active but failed to vary from the previous close. The same company's convertible debenture gained 3-4 on the day.

Rail Trading Brisk.

Santa Fe convertible 4 1-2s and Chicago Northwestern 4 3-4s, another popular stock privilege bond, traded briskly. Dealings were especially heavy in the former, which sold up to the new 1930 high of 140 1-2. At the closing quotation of 140 the bond was up a point from the Thursday final on total sales of slightly more than $350,000.

Standard rails of all grades were dull. There was virtually no change in Atchison general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1-2s, Missouri Pacific 5s, New Haven 4 1-2s, and St. Louis San Francisco prior lien 4s. Pennsylvania gold 5s sagged 5-8. Southern railway listings displayed better than average activity and ruled firm.

The sharpest moves of the day were again in the Wickwire Spencer Steel listings, which rose to the best levels in months, reflecting a belief that the report of the master appointed to settle issues involved in suits to foreclose the mortgages would be ready soon. The certificates of deposit for the first 7s advanced 4 3-8, while the convertible 7s rallied 3 7-8.

Otherwise the industrials, and the utilities as well, were quiet. Columbia Gas & Electric 5s (May) lost half a point. Lackawanna Steel 5s dropped 1 1-2 to 100, the lowest of the year. Shell Union Oil 5s rose a shade in transactions of fair size. Shulco 6 1-2s made another advance, the "A" bond mounting 4 points and the "B" one. Western Union collateral 5s, which had not been traded since the recent offering of gold 5s by the company, fell 2 points. The listed gold 5s firmed.

Government Listings Eased.

United States governments eased on higher money rates. Call loans advanced to 4 1-2 from the renewal rate of 4 as banks drew in funds for their mid-month requirements. Time accommodations advanced slightly. Treasury 4 1-4s declined about a quarter point and Liberty fourth 4 1-4s lost an eighth.

Activity in foreign bonds dwindled. Brazilian 6 1-2s, the Colombian Bank issues, French Republic 7 1-2s and 7s and Cuba 5s improved. Rio Grande do Sul 7s were soft.

New offering of the week reached the total of $150,465,000 compared with $62,473,000 last week and $73,874,000 in the corresponding period a year ago. Three issues—the Cuba, Western Union and Morris & Essex Railroad loans—accounted for $100,000,000 of the current volume.

Prices Decline as Market Turns Irregular Near Close

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL.
Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The curb market developed several outbursts of strength today, but profit taking sales reached such large proportions in the last hour that the close was irregular. Except for the marking up of the call money rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement, but many traders sold stocks on the theory that many of the recent leaders were entitled to at least a technical reaction after their spirited advance of the last few days.

Consolidated Gas of Baltimore ran up nearly 10 points to 118 7-8, and then dropped back almost as quickly to 111 1-4, up 1 3-8. Electric Bond & Share encountered heavy realizing sales, closing 1 1-8 points lower at 100 3-8, after having sold as high as 102 1-2, and as low as 99 5-8. American Light & Traction fell 7 points and American Gas & Electric and American & Foreign Power warrants about 2 3-4 each. United States Electric Power & Light opened at 22 7-8, a new high, in response to the announcement that the Mellon interests had acquired a large block of the stock but closed at 21 5-8 for a small fractional gain. United Light & Power advanced 1 5-8 on a heavy turnover.

Airstocks, Inc., jumped 4 points on the announcement of a proposal to dissolve the company. National Investors, Third National Investors and Fourth National Investors recorded substantial gains but Goldman Sachs Trading and Lehman were heavy. Oilstocks B sank 2 3-8 to a new low at 8 1-2. Pennroad advanced fractionally.

Oils moved within narrow and irregular limits, the decision of the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company in meeting the recent mid-continent cuts of Standard Oil units acting as a deterrent to any bull speculation in that group.

Niles Bement Pond ran up more than 3 points in anticipation of an early inauguration of dividends. Anchor Post Fence advanced to a new high for the year on buying influenced by the high dividend yield. There was a good demand for some of the natural gas stocks, particularly Dixie and American. The new when issued stocks of Chesapeake & Ohio, Deere & Company, and Republic Steel all attracted a large following.

Appeal From Rates Of Mixed Cars Denied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Memphis freight bureau today lost its appeal to the interstate commerce commission from rates proposed by the railroads upon mixed cars of fruits and vegetables in southwestern territory.

The mixed-car rule, which will go into effect tomorrow, was adopted recently by all southwestern railroads and applies the carlot rate on all commodities contained in a mixed car of vegetables. Growers and shippers have estimated the new rule will affect an average saving of $50 a car.

Suspension of the rule was asked by the Memphis freight bureau and a general protest by lower Rio Grande valley vegetable and fruit growers was filed against the suspension application.

Southern Texas interests contended that whereas Florida products moved largely into large centers of population in the east, Texas growers had built up many small markets unable to handle full carlots of the same vegetable.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—With a holiday on Wednesday in many cities of the country, the record of business failures this week cannot be compared exactly with the returns for last week. A year ago, however, a holiday also occurred in this week and the present total of 566 defaults, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., contrasts with 467 insolvencies in the same week in 1929.

The Otis Elevator Co., of Yonkers and Buffalo, N. Y., and Chicago and Quincy, Ill., has been awarded the contract to furnish the 66 elevators to be installed in the new 85-story Empire State building, now being erected on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria hotel on Fifth avenue and 34th street. The contract involves about $2,900,000.

January building permits issued in 566 leading cities and towns in the country declined 17 per cent from the December total and 46 per cent from the amount reported for January, 1929, according to statistics compiled by S. W. Straus & Co.

The special meeting of stockholders of the Fox Film Corp., at which a vote will be taken on the proposed reorganization plan, will be held on February 27, it was reported today.

Stockholders of the Eisler Electric Corp., of Newark, N. J., manufacturers of radio tubes, of record February 21, have been offered rights to subscribe to 25,000 additional shares of common stock at $14 a share in the ratio of one new share for each 11 held. The rights expire March 21. Proceeds from the sale of the additional stock will be used for corporate purposes.

Dow, Jones & Co. reported today that the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. entered 1930 with unfilled orders approximating $65,000,000, the largest since 1921, and an increase of about 40 per cent over the amount at the start of 1929.

The Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., and subsidiaries reported today that net earnings for the year ending December 31, 1929, amounted to $6,375,789, equal to $3.64 a share on 1,725,726 no par common shares. These earnings compared with $5,323,585, or $3.46 a share on 1,534,618 shares in 1928. The number of stores in operation at the end of 1929 was 5,575, against 5,260 on December 31, 1928, an increase of 315, or 5.9 per cent.

Net profits of the Colgate-Palm Olive-Peet Company for 1929 amounted to $8,910,631, equal to $4.03 a share, as contrasted with $6,127,173, or $2.60 a share in 1928.

Thompson Products, Inc., of Cleveland, manufacturers of automobile and airplane parts, reports net earnings for last year of $1,281,235, equal to $4.58 a share on 263,160 shares of no par common stock to be outstanding upon the completion of the exchange of the present class "A" and class "B" stock. These earnings are the highest in the company's history, and compare with 1,073,513, or $4.14 a share on the combined "A" and "B' stock earned in 1928.

The Continental Can Company reports net profits of $8.967,703 for last year, equal to $5.02 a share on 1,725,043 common shares, as contrasted with $6,690,796, earned in 1928, or $4.35 a share on 1,459,991 common shares.

The Childs Company reports for 1929 a net profit of $1,277,138. Equivalent to $2,56 on each of the 362,320 shares outstanding. This compares with $1,002,425 in 1928. For the three months ending December 31, 1929, the company reports a net profit equal to $1.37 a share on the common stock.

The board of managers of the New York Cotton Exchange has called a meeting of members for February 24, to consider amendments to the by-laws designed to eliminate the 35-point differential now existing on cotton delivered on exchange contracts at southern points. President Gardiner H. Miller said the board felt that the proposal would "benefit the cotton trade in general and assist in the orderly marketing and distribution of the cotton crop." The differential was adopted in November, 1928, when the exchange arranged for southern delivery on its contracts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Early advances were followed by reactions in the cotton market today but after selling off from 16.18 to 15.95 for May, prices steadied on renewed trade buying and covering. May closed at 16.03, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 4 to 11 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 10 to 14 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. The advance met considerable realizing but it was readily absorbed with the market working up to 15.91 for March, 16.33 for July and 16.53 for October during the early trading on covering or re-buying by recent sellers and a moderate trade demand. This advance carried near months to the highest prices they have reached since May sold at 15.26 last Saturday, and met increased offerings under which the market soon turned easier.

If anything the report of the census bureau showing domestic consumption of 577,235 bales for January against 453,892 for December, and 668,286 for January last year, was a shade under expectations. This may have increased the disposition to take profits on long contracts, and the market became rather nervous and unsettled during the middle of the day with March declining to 15.69 and October to 15.30 or back to just about the closing quotation of yesterday. The offerings then tapered off and closing prices showed rallies of 7 to 9 points from the lowest on renewed covering.

The report by the bureau of agricultural economics showing that 76.4 per cent of the cotton ginned prior to January 16 this year was tenderable compared with 83.14 per cent to the same date last year appeared to have little effect on the market. The figure showed a slightly smaller percentage of untenderable cotton than expected, but it was supposed that any cotton left in the fields on January 16 would be of very low grade, and have some effect on the final figures. Switching from near to late months continued and the day's fluctuations were attributed largely to readjustments of the technical position.

Liverpool cables reported covering and trade calling in that market and said there was a broadening demand for cotton cloths with an improved turnover in yarns.

Port receipts today 8,260 bales. United States port stocks 2,271,840. Exports 18,491, making 5,217,733 so far this season.

MARKET IS ERRATIC. AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The cotton market was erratic today, an early advance being folowed by a rather sharp reaction which in turn gave way before covering induced by an unfavorable grade and measure report. Only about half the decline was recovered, however, and final prices showed net gains of about 50 cents a bale. May advanced to 15.92, reacted to 15.68, but rallied and closed at 15.80, or 8 points net up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 10 points.

Liverpool cables were considerably better than due and influenced an opening advance here of 9 to 13 points. Prices continued on the upgrade after the start on buying stimulated by a satisfactory consumption report of 577,235 bales. March traded up to 15.66, May to 15.92 and July to 16.13, of 16 to 20 points above yesterday's close.

Later in the morning the market encountered heavy sellling in the March position which soon extended to the entire list. A sharp reaction followed and was attributed mainly to unsatisfactory mill takings. On the break March sold to 15.43, May 15.68 and July 15.92, or 21 to 24 points under the early highs.

The market was quiet but steady during the afternoon, being supported by the official grade and measure report showing much less tenderable cotton in the present crop than in the previous one. In the late trading prices rallied 12 to 15 points from the lows on covering and March closed at 15.58 and July at 16.04, or 7 to 9 points net higher.

Receipts 18,050; for week 64,432; for year 7,586,510; last year 8,295,199. Exports 21,209; for week 113,689; for year 5,088,838; last year 5,806,511. Stocks 2,348,198; last year 2,162,363. Total sales, 3,513,850 shares.

Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The stock market continued to make uneven progress today. Several leading industrials and rails were bid up 2 to 12 points to new high levels for the recovery, but the market was filled with cross currents, and a wide sprinkling of shares closed lower. There was little change in the pace of trading, total sales exceeding 3,500,000 shares.

An unexpected firming of call money in the early afternoon encouraged the bear element, and the market sold off substantially for a time, but speculators for the rise regained control of the movement before the close. Week-end lightening of accounts was in evidence during much of the day, probably augmented by a precautionary tone in many brokerage house advices, which indicated some uneasiness over the market's technical position.

The weekly mercantile and industrial reviews, however, were more cheerful than for some weeks past. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's stated that trade and industry has shown steady improvement of late. Activity still holds substantially below the levels of a year ago, and improvement is not uniform, but the recovery appears to be broadening. It was particularly gratifying to Wall Street that the mercantile reports indicated slightly better wholesale and retail trade, after several weeks of marked sluggishness.

Call Loan Rate Increased.

An advance in the call loan rate from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent was caused by withdrawals estimated at about $60,000,000.

Demand for funds to meet midmonth disbursements was undoubtedly a factor, but lenders apparently are not finding current call loan rates very attractive, and there is usually an effort to get a better rate for funds to be placed for over the week-end. Money was boosted from 4 to 4 1-2 on Friday two weeks ago.

The steel shares displayed outstanding strength, with United States Steel rising more than 4 points to a new high for the year at 189 1-4. Other steels were also strong, notably Republic, which made an extreme gain of about 6 points in a large turn-over. Youngstown made a similar advance.

A buoyant feature was Eastman Kodak, which sold up 12 points to 205, a new peak for 1930, but about 60 points below the 1929 top. American Machine & Foundry sold up 10 points and Air Reduction, American Tobacco, Canadian Pacific, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, Liggett & Myers, Western Union, Stone & Webster, and Westinghouse Electric chalked up fair gains. New York Central was a leader in the rails, rising about 5 points to a new 1930 top at 912 3-4.

Oils and Coppers Drop.

Oils and coppers were inclined to sag. The oil shares were influenced by definite indications that Standard of New Jersey was winning the rest of the industry over to its lower price level for Mid-Continent crude. Copper shares eased on reports that red metal producers' hopes of lower prices had been revived by the January statistics of stocks on hand, and that buying had turned slack. Pressure against Simmons and Gillette was renewed, and both touched new lows for the movement, although they rallied substantially before the close. American Can and General Electric closed off more than a point each. Norfolk & Western dropped 7 points, then rallied 3.

In the commodity markets grains turned heavy. Wheat futures lost about 2 cents a bushel, reflecting a bearish government estimate of the winter crop. Corn sagged about 1-2 cent on large receipts at the markets. Cotton futures fluctuated widely but closed firm at advances of 20 to 55 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges eased moderately. Sterling cables were quoted at $4.86 3-16, off 1-16, and the lowest in weeks.

Brokers' Loans Again Show Sustained Upward Trend But Total Will Likely Remain in Safety Zone—New Financing Responsible for Rise.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Bethlehem steel was up 2 1-2 points before noon, Steel common 3 to a new high since the panic and Republic Steel 6 1-8 on rumors that within the next 10 days an upward revision is coming of steel selling prices. While improvement in the steel industry since the beginning of the year has been surprising the trend of steel selling prices has been downward cutting into profits of steel manufacturers. Evidently the steel mills intend to take advantage of increased demand to correct the sore spot in the steel industry by advancing their selling prices.

Call money opened firm at 4 per cent with the banks calling some $30,000,000 to noon getting ready for week-end and mid-month requirements. Early in the noon hour the rate on call money advanced to 4 1-2 per cent unsettling the stock market.

During the early trading while steel shares were advancing on heavy transactions oils and rails were irregular but inactive. Selling pressure was resumed early in the day in Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward and Simmons Bed, the last named making a new low.

Our January foreign merchandise trade amounted to $417,000,000 for exports, according to the statement given out at Washington today. This compares with $434,000,000 for December and $487,000,000 for January of last year. Imports of $312,000,000 for January compare with $311,000,000 for December and $368,000,000 for January of last year. The excess of exports over imports was $105,000,000 against $119,000,000 for January of 1929.

It was stated by Washington that smaller shipments of cotton explained the falling off in January exports; also that larger imports were due to users of raw and finished materials anticipating coming changes in tariff.

Gold Exports.

January gold exports were $8,949,000 against $1,378,000 a year ago. Imports were $12,908,000 against $48,577,000. This made an excess of imports of $3,960,000 against $47,199,000 a year ago.

For the seven months of the fiscal year merchandise exports were $3,034,000,000 against $3,238,000,000 for the same period of the previous year with imports at $2,424,000,000 against $2,373,000,000 making the excess of exports $609,000,000 against $864,000,000. Washington stated that during the last quarter of the calendar year 1929 there was a falling off in exports of cotton, grain and automobiles.

Gold exports for the seven months were $118,480,000 against $106,619,000 for the previous year. Imports were $123,050,000 against $134,498,000. The excess of imports was $4,570,000 against $27,879,000 for the previous year.

Cotton consumed in this country during January amounted to 577,000 bales against 453,000 for December and 668,000 for January of 1929. For the six months ending with January the figures were 3,319,000 bales against 3,447,000 for the same period of last year.

Consumption of rubber in this country during January was 36,669 tons against 23,531 for December and 43,002 for January of last year. Stocks on hand at the end of January were 120,049 tons against 105,137 at the end of December and 76,342 at the end of January last year. Rubber afloat consigned for here amounted to 61,863 tons at the close of January against 62,388 at the end of December and 93,335 a year ago. Imports for January were 47,464 tons against 43,542 for December and 52,305 for January of last year.

Not since the post-war deflation period beginning in May of 1920 has Wall Street paid as much attention to information dealing with commodity inventories and prices. In this way Wall Street gets a line on the trend of various industries which sooner or later is reflected in the trend of stocks of companies in each industry.

Brokers' loans as reported by the federal reserve are again showing a sustained upward trend but not to an extent to cause any uneasiness. The high for all time was made for the week of October 2 at $6,804,000,000. From that figure there was a steady decline to $3,328,000,000 for the week of December 24. There was an unprecedented drop of no less than $3,476,000,000 or 50 per cent. Since the low level was touched for the week of December 24 there has been a steady upward movement, the gain of $48,000,000 just reported for the past week making the gain for the past seven weeks $122,000,000.

For the corresponding seven weeks of last year there was a gain of $578,000,000. The total just reported for the week ending February 11 is down $3,354,000,000 from the high of October 2 last; it is down $2,118,000,000 compared with this time a year ago. For some time to come, even if the upward movement continues, the total of brokers' loans is likely to remain in the safety zone.

New Financing.

New financing is partly responsible for the recent upward trend in brokers' loans. During and after the stock market panic new financing dropped to practically nothing. The figures published today covering bond and stock offerings for January gives the total at $603,000,000. That compares with $690,000,000 for January of 1929 when the bull stock market and general trade were still going strong. In raising funds for one purpose or another through the sale of bonds a corporation sells the bonds to investment bankers who in turn use the bonds as collateral to borrow from the banks to pay the corporation until the bonds are placed in the hands of investors.

This borrowing by investment bankers on stock market collateral figures in the brokers' loan statements. When a corporation in raising funds offers stock to its shareholders the offering usually is underwritten by investment bankers who take all of the stock not subscribed for by shareholders and borrow against it from the banks until the stock can be sold in the open market or privately to investors. Hence stock offerings by corporations as well as bond offerings figure in the brokers' loan statement.

Market Gossip

Daily Views of Wall Street Stock Market by Telegraph.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—While uniformity was again lacking in yesterday's market, the broad tendency was upward. Changes in leadership were again conspicuous. American Can, in which profit taking was evidenced yesterday and was resumed today, reacted several points, while United States Steel rose to a new high. In the utilities, Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Union Gas were conspicuous while a spirited movement in the rails was effected under the leadership of New York Central.

JACKSON BROS., BOESEL & CO.

NEW YORK Feb. 14.—Brokers' loans, based on the latest compilation of the Federal Reserve board, stand only $122,000,000 above the low point reached since the October-November stock collapse. Since that period public utility, railroad and industrial averages have recovered nearly 50 per cent from the lows reached in the panic. The natural deduction is that the bulk of the buying of grade "A" stocks during the past two months has been for investment account, or the expansion in brokers' loans would have been much greater.

There are a number of stocks which we feel are in position to resume an upward trend following a period of reactionary tendencies. In this class we would place Columbian Carbon and Auburn. We expect both stocks to be speculative favorites later on.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The market enjoyed strong leadership today with United States Steel up to a new high above its December top leading the industrials, Consolidated Gas and utilities and New York Central the rails. Nevertheless, the preliminary averages were off .90. The rail averages were up 1.11.

We would not lay too much stress upon the new high achieved by Steel today. To say the least it is a little late. The industrial averages topped their December resistance level in the week of February 1. Leaders like American Can and Consolidated Gas went through in the week of January 18; General Electric and National Biscuit in the week of January 25; Atchison in the week of February 1 and Electric Power & Light January 4.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Good cables and encouraging drygoods reports from Worth Street gave the market a dollar a bale advance during the early trading. A favorable view of January consumption figures and expectations of bullish figures on staple and grade were contributing factors.

The buying power was light, however, and values sagged below the previous finals around the middle of the session due to selling induced by the poor showing made by spinners' takings.

There was no aggressive selling and moderate buying gave the market another rally in the late afternoon due to scarcity of contracts.

Worth Street reported the largest turnover in dry goods for many weeks at advancing prices while Manchester reported increased business.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The market today, after responding to the strong Liverpool cables, held in a very narrow range with each small reaction meeting good trade and outside buying. Locally, the consumption for January of 577,000 bales was larger than had been expected and brought some short covering. The market closed steady, about 10 points for the day.

Under normal conditions, and without undue influence from Washington hanging over the market, we would feel disposed to believe that the break in price last week had discounted all bearish features.

Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: March 8.42; May 8.51.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—January consumption figures of 577,000 bales were slightly lower than expected, based on a recent private estimate. However, they compare with 453,000 in December and 668,000 in January, 1929.

The grade and staple report shows 23.6 per cent of the crop untenderable against future contracts. This compares with 16.68 per cent last year. Of the total untenderable 18.6 per cent is due to short staple and that shows largely the effect of the drought. These figures, however, are all so closely in line with known facts that they are unimpressive in the trade as a fresh market issue.

Spinners' takings for the week, 240,000; for the season, 9,175,000, against 9,941,000 last year. Exports for the week, 111,000 and for the season 5,218,000, against 5,997,000 last year. They are bullish and show that manufacturers and exporters have prospects of improved business.

Today's market was very steady and gave further evidence of confidence in values. May Liverpool due 8.52.

H. & B. BEER.

NEW YORK Feb. 14.—Developments, as regards trade, were more encouraging the past week. Short covering and some trade buying featured the period which is reflected in a rather considerable advance in values compared with one week ago. Contributing to the rise in the market was Tattersall's estimate as to the probable world's consumption of American cotton this season 14,600,000 bales exclusive of linters.

Today market bulged in the early trading in response to cables much better than due and improving domestic and Manchester textile trade advices but realizing was encountered on the rise, market declining thereafter, but rallied somewhat from the low of the day.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—The cottonseed oil market was moderately active and firm today, closing 6 to 20 points net higher with nearby positions relatively strong in the absence of March liquidation. Refiners were the principal buyers of July, along with local support and covering with the renewed firmness of lard and steadiness of cotton.

Southern interest and western refiners sold September, presumably hedging against previous purchases of crude.

Sales 9,400 barrels. Prime crude 7.50; prime summer yellow spot 8.75; March closed 8.93; May 9.26; July 9.48; September 9.65.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—Cottonseed oil futures ruled firmer owing to the good consumption and bullish visible supply shown by yesterday's census report. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 8.10, up 5 points, and prime crude closed at 7.37½@7.50. Futures closed steady: February 8.10, March 8.15, May 8.32, July 8.45, September 8.63.

When "Manon Lescaut" is broadcast over WSB at 6 o'clock tonight it will be given as its composer, Giacomo Puccini, always wanted it given—without the fourth act.

Gennaro Papi, musical director of the Puccini radio series, made the suggestion in the Judson studios when the rehearsals started a month ago. His suggestion was instantly accepted. George Maxwell, lifelong friend of Puccini and his American representative until his death three years ago, exclaimed:

"Perfect! Just what Puccini would have wanted!"

The presentation of "Manon Lescaut" marks the fourth Puccini premiere sponsored by the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corporation.

U. S. Imports Increase $3,000,000 in January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Exports from the United States during January decreased $9,646,000 under the previous month, while imports increased by $3,000,000, leaving a balance of trade in favor of the country of $105,000,000 for the month, compared with an unfavorable balance of $119,000,000 for January, 1929.

The department of commerce announced that exports during January totaled $417,000,000, a decrease of $71,023,000 from January of last year, and that imports were $312,000,000, a gain of $3,000,000 over December but $56,897,000 under the corresponding month of 1929.

For the seven months ending with January exports totaled $3,034,971,000, a decrease of $203,420,000 from the same period last year.

Imports for the seven-month period increased $50,577,000, totaling $2,424,986,000 for the period ending in the past January, and $2,374,409,000 in the previous corresponding period.

Exports of gold during January totaled $8,948,000 as compared with $72,547,000 in December and $1,378,000 in January last year.

Kansas City Bank Cuts Rediscount Rate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The federal reserve board announced today that the federal reserve bank of Kansas City had lowered its rediscount rate from 4 1-2 per cent to 4 per cent on all classes of paper of all maturities, effective tomorrow.

Action of the Kansas City bank makes four federal reserve banks which have established a 4 per cent rediscount rate in the last 10 days. The other banks on this rate are New York, Chicago and Boston. The remaining eight banks of the federal reserve system are on a 4 1-2 per cent basis.

Miss Norma Alaj Delights Music Lovers of Atlanta

Miss Norma Alaj, lyric soprano of the Chicago Grand Concert Company, delighted an audience at the Woman's Club auditorium Friday night with her brilliant rendition of a well chosen program.

Miss Alaj, who is one of the youngest prima donnas, possesses a voice of unusual sweetness and power. She is gifted also with pleasing personality which contributes much to her success on the concert stage.

Her program ranged from such pieces as Tosti's "Serenade" and Puccini's "O mia Babbino Caro," "Gianni Schicchi," to Scott's "The False Prophet." The lighter songs, especially the last named, were captivating.

I. M. Mayer, pianist, who appeared with Miss Alaj, rendered "Polacca Brilliante," by Weber, and Chopin's "Polonaise op. 26, No. 1." He is a consummate artist of brilliant technique.

As a special number Miss Alaj gave "Artemisia," written by Guido Negri, superintendent at the Piedmont Driving Club. Miss Alaj is a sister of A. L. Alaj, of Atlanta, who was instrumental in bringing her to Atlanta.

She was accompanied by Signor E. Volpi, of Atlanta. Signor Volpi demonstrated his ability as an accompanist, his sympathetic performance lending much to the charm of the program.

Other numbers on Miss Alaj's program were: "Mi Chiamano Mimi," "Boheme," by Pucinni; "Stornellata," by Billi; D'Hardelot's "You and Love;" "Rogers' "The Star;" Edwards' "Awake, Beloved;" Bellini's "Sonnambula;" "One Fine Day," by Puccini; "At Parting," by Rogers; "Obstination," by Fontenailles, and the "Prayer" from "Tosca," by Puccini.

Communists March In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A crowd of about 200 men and women marched on city hall today and were halted in a skirmish with police on the north plaza of the building as several of them endeavored to force their way upstairs to the office of Mayor Harry A. Mackey.

In the clash a score of marchers, including several girls, were knocked down, several policemen were tripped, one marcher was hurt, and 17 persons, including three women, were arrested on charges of inciting to riot.

As they marched to the city hall they threw out circulars reading: "The communists' party of the U. S. has called for unemployment demonstrations in every city in the country on Wednesday, February 26. Have all the unemployed join councils of the Trade Union League and join this demonstration at factory gates and civic centers."

Three South Carolina Banks Close Doors

GAFFNEY, S. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Three South Carolina banks, with deposits of almost $3,000,000 have closed their doors in the past two days.

Two of the banks were at Gaffney while the third, a small institution, was at Chesnee, near here.

The largest of the three, the First National bank of Gaffney, whose president, Maynard Smythe, was found shot to death January 14, failed to open this morning.

J. N. Lipscomb, president, wired the comptroller of currency, to send men to take charge at once.

The First National bank was capitalized at $150,000 and had deposits of $1,691,417.04, according to a statement as of December 31, 1929.

The American State bank of Gaffney failed to open yesterday. Its capital stock was $150,000 and deposits were $953,588.84, according to the December 31, 1929 statement.

The Bank of Chesnee failed to open its doors this morning after a meeting of the board of directors last night. Its capital stock was $50,000, with deposits at $288,793.26. Deposits had dropped $106,000 since December 31, 1929, officials said.

Knoxville Launches War On Bay Rum

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 14.—(AP)—War against the "demon" bay rum was started here today with a ruling of City Judge R. P. Williams that the soothing lotion for frayed faces also was an intoxicant.

Judge Williams said bay rum was being sold as a cheap liquor to drinkers who could afford no better brands. He announced a drive to prevent its sale by notion and large stores.

Will Torrett, arrested by police after a raid on his poolroom in which they said they found 72 bottles of bay rum, will be one of the first to face trial under the new ruling.

U. S. Naval Plane Burns at Honolulu

HONOLULU, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Bursting into flames a thousand feet above the ocean off here today, a naval airplane plunged beneath the waves, but its three occupants were saved by other planes which flew to their aid.

James D. Myers, chief aviation pilot of the naval air station at Pearl Harbor, stuck to his controls although severely burned about the hands. As he brought the torpedo airplane to the ocean's surface two miles seaward off Diamond Head, he and two others leaped into the water.

Myers did his work so well that neither of the other men was injured.

Lee Davidson's Body Brought to Atlanta

The body of Lee M. Davidson, 56, of Huntington road, a traveling salesman, who died Wednesday night in Kansas City, arrived in Atlanta Friday night. In addition to his widow Mr. Davidson is survived by two children, Mary Lee and Jane Davidson.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sam Greenberg & Co. Members of the Masonic order will have charge of the services at the grave.

EX-SENATOR SUICIDES

Benjamin P. Bartlett Ends Life by Hanging Self.

DERRY, N. H., Feb. 14—(AP)—Benjamin P. Bartlett, prominent lawyer and former member of both the state house of representatives and senate, was dead today, a victim of his own hand by hanging. Two months ago his son, Benjamin, Jr., was sentenced to state prison for three to five years.

The body was found by members of the family in his bedroom late yesterday afternoon.

The imprisonment of the 20-year-old boy, a sophomore at the University of New Hampshire, followed conviction with several youths for a series of thefts. This weighed heavily on the elder Bartlett. A note he left will be taken to his son at Concord prison today.

"Rio Rita" To Close Big Week Tonight

Bebe Daniels and John Boles sing their famous love duet for the last time from the screen at the Fox theater today and tonight when "Rio Rita," the all-talking, singing and dancing extravaganza, closes a week's run.

Everyone who has seen "Rio Rita," both as a Ziegfeld stage success and as a screen musical comedy, agree that the film version is a vast improvement from every standpoint. Many of the star characters in the stage production are to be found in the screen portrayal and "Rio Rita" as seen at the Fox has gained a magnitude and magnificence never even approached on the stage.

In "Femme Follies," the stage attraction at the Fox this week, the management has brought to Atlanta a group of artists who are better known on Broadway, New York, than anywhere else. There's not a dull moment in the entire presentation and, judging by the applause, Atlanta appreciates them immensely. The offerings of the Fox Grand orchestra and singing ensemble and Don Wilkins' stage band is up to the usual high standard.

Maine Official Okehs Southern Light Merger

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Papers for merger of the Southeastern Power & Light Company, organized at Portland, and the Commonwealth Power Corporation, organized at Augusta, into a $27,000,000 combine to be known as the Commonwealth Southeastern Corporation, were approved by the attorney general today. The new corporation was formed here with an authorized capital of 27,000,000 shares of common stock at $1 par and 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock without par.

The new corporation also may acquire the interests of the Allied Power and Light Corporation, the Penn-Ohio Edison Company and the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, all incorporated in Delaware, said the notice filed with the attorney general.

Officers of the new corporation are: President, Thomas W. Martin, Birmingham, Ala.; vice president, T. A. Kenney, Bronxville, N. Y.; secretary, Stephen A. Dawley, and treasurer, H. G. Kessler. Martin is also president of the Southeastern Power & Light Company.

New Hampshire Feels Two Earth Tremors

FRANKLIN, N. H., Feb. 14.—(AP) Two distinct earth tremors in rapid succession shook this town at 1:15 a. m. today. Residents were awakened by a heavy rumbling and windows and dishes were shaken.

Attendants at the Lochmere power station, several miles to the northeast on Lake Winnepesaukee and officers of the Laconia police station, 15 miles to the northeast, reported feeling the tremors. No damage was reported.

Several such shocks have been felt in this section in recent years.

Speed Attempt.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Lieutenants Will H. White and Clement McMullen landed here at 4:01 this afternoon after completing the first leg of their speed flight from Newark, N. J., to Buenos Aires. The aviators left Newark at 7:35 this morning, making the non-stop trip to Miami in 8 hours and 26 minutes.

Power Firm Enjoins Chain Store Levy

An injunction suit seeking to restrain the comptroller general and tax collectors of Fulton and Bibb counties from collecting the chain store tax from the Georgia Power Company was filed Friday in Fulton superior court. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy set the case for February 22, and issued a temporary restraining order.

The power company states in its petition that while it maintains offices and agencies at various places, it does not operate a chain of stores, and only sells appliances in connection with the public service it is engaged in, not with a view of profit on goods, but to encourage the use of electric current. The chain store tax is $50 on each store above five.

Red Men To Hold Meeting Saturday

There will be a public meeting of the Red Men Saturday night at 204 1-2 Moreland avenue, S. E. The meeting is to prepare for instituting a new tribe, known as Calumet Tribe No. 16, on the following Saturday, February 22.

Among the prominent Red Men who will address this gathering will be Walter C. Hendrix, James L. Mayson, Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Frank F. Smith, Joseph H. Brown and others.

Man Jailed, 2 Cars And Liquor Seized

One arrest was made and two automobiles and 320 gallons of corn whisky were confiscated early Friday morning by Fulton county police following a ten-mile chase in the Adamsville road section. One of the automobiles was wrecked on a turn, and the other alleged rum-runner became stuck in the mud.

Caught by Officers Cal Cates and Jack Carroll when his machine bogged in mud, the driver of one of the cars gave his name as L. C. Wallace. His bond was fixed at $500.

Woman Is Indicted On Murder Charge

An indictment charging Jennie Mae Mason with the murder of W. F. Slaton was returned Friday by the Fulton county grand jury. The slaying was said to have taken place on February 8. Slaton was killed with a knife.

WILLIAM WEST DIES

Funeral Rites Will Be Held This Morning.

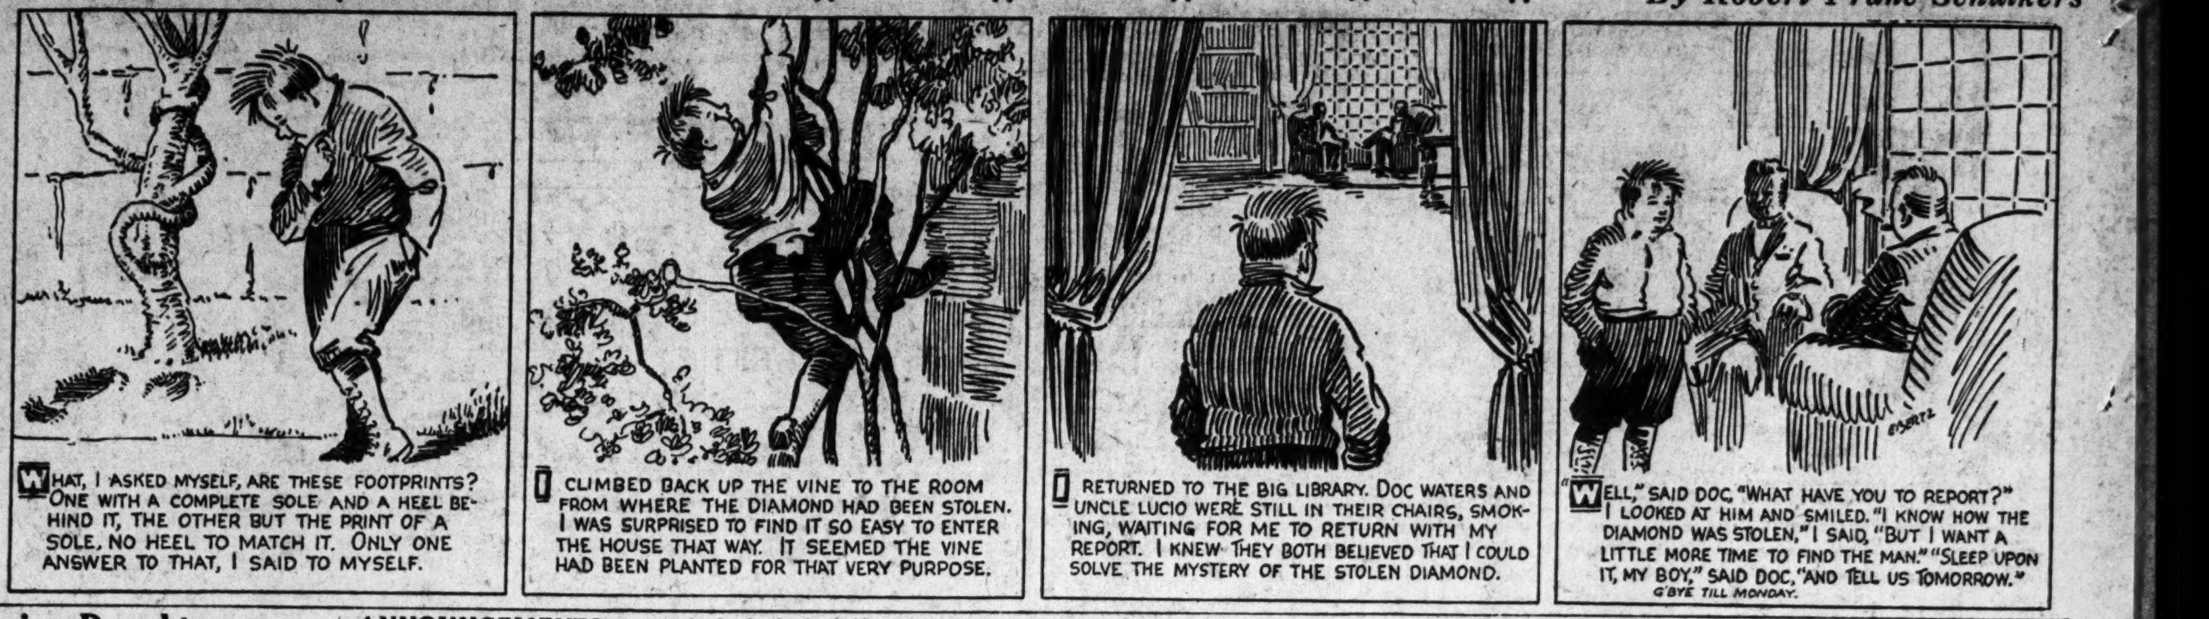
William I. West, 57, of 820 Pulliam street, S. W., for 17 years a Southern Railway engineer, died early Friday following a month's illness.

Born and reared in Gainesville, Mr. West came to Atlanta 17 years ago. He was a member of Capitol Avenue Baptist church. In addition to his widow he is survived by a daughter, Miss Enoree West; his mother, Mrs. M. A. West; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Durham and Miss Mollie West, of Gainesville, and Mrs. A. L. Gilmer, and three brothers, J. H. West, of Ashburn, and B. W. and R. C. West, of Gainesville.

Funeral rites will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the residence with the Rev. W. H. Major officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Adventures of Seckatary Hawkins

By Robert Franc Schulkers



WHAT, I ASKED MYSELF, ARE THESE FOOTPRINTS? ONE WITH A COMPLETE SOLE AND A HEEL BEHIND IT, THE OTHER BUT THE PRINT OF A SOLE, NO HEEL TO MATCH IT. ONLY ONE ANSWER TO THAT, I SAID TO MYSELF.
I CLIMBED BACK UP THE VINE TO THE ROOM FROM WHERE THE DIAMOND HAD BEEN STOLEN. I WAS SURPRISED TO FIND IT SO EASY TO ENTER THE HOUSE THAT WAY. IT SEEMED THE VINE HAD BEEN PLANTED FOR THAT VERY PURPOSE.
I RETURNED TO THE BIG LIBRARY. DOC WATERS AND UNCLE LUCIO WERE STILL IN THEIR CHAIRS, SMOKING, WAITING FOR ME TO RETURN WITH MY REPORT. I KNEW THEY BOTH BELIEVED THAT I COULD SOLVE THE MYSTERY OF THE STOLEN DIAMOND.
"WELL," SAID DOC, "WHAT HAVE YOU TO REPORT?" I LOOKED AT HIM AND SMILED. "I KNOW HOW THE DIAMOND WAS STOLEN," I SAID, "BUT I WANT A LITTLE MORE TIME TO FIND THE MAN." "SLEEP UPON IT, MY BOY," SAID DOC, "AND TELL US TOMORROW."
G'BYE TILL MONDAY.

Missing Daughter Sought by Father

I. M. Rogers, of Garrison, Texas, is seeking his 14-year-old daughter, Othello, who is alleged to have left her home on February 6 in company with Emmett W. Jordon. The two were driving in a 1928 roadster, and a reward of $125 has been offered for the detention of each party.

Miss Rogers weighs about 110 pounds, is 5 feet 10 inches tall, has blue eyes and dark brown hair. Emmett Jordan is about 50 years old, weighs 197 pounds, is 6 feet 1 inch in height, has blue gray eyes, is baldheaded and has a Spanish-American War record. The little finger on his left hand is crooked. Any information concerning the two may be addressed to Eugene Turner, sheriff of Nacogdoches county, Texas.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 72

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Meriem owed her life to an accident. At the very instant Malbihn fired at her his canoe ran upon a submerged tree trunk, giving the craft a slight jolt. But it was enough to throw his rifle out of aim. The bullet whizzed harmlessly by the girl's head as she disappeared into the foliage. Meriem threw back a mocking laugh at the baffled Swede. Soon she had swung far into the forest and Malbihn returned to his camp furious with defeat.

Fighting his way through the tangled jungle a mile to the east, a man in torn khaki—haggard and bruised—came to a sudden stop as the report of Malbihn's rifle resounded through the forest. A dozen times he tripped and fell as he forged ahead but at last he and his black companion came to the fringe of jungle upon the river's brim. Through the screening foliage Baynes saw Malbihn's canoe making rapidly for the opposite shore.

Morison Baynes could scarcely repress a shout of exultation as he also beheld the canoe Meriem had abandoned. Quickly the two slid down the branches into the boat. As it shot out upon the bosom of the river Malbihn spied it. He fingered his rifle and waited. Now the canoe was within hailing distance. Malbihn, on the shore, with a start of surprise saw the white man was Baynes. He knew Baynes had come for vengeance.

Malbihn shrugged his shoulders. Others had sought him for vengeance during his checkered career, yet he still lived.. Aiming his rifle he yelled, "What do you want?" Baynes leaped to his feet. "You!" he shouted, whipping out his revolver and firing almost simultaneously with the Swede. As the reports rang out Malbihn staggered, then fell, and Baynes crumpled backward into the canoe. The two white men, far from civilization, had shot each other.

Tear Gas Sprayed On Taxi Strikers

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 14.—(AP) Tear gas was used by police again today to quell crowds which sought to attack strike-breaking cab drivers and cab guards. Two cabs were burned and drivers and guards were stoned in different parts of the city, where cab operators have been on strike for more than a month.

The gas was released late this afternoon, police said, when persons gathered along sidewalks threatened to rush cabs as they were being moved to a garage from the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad. The East Liberty section of the city was the scene of similar disorders yesterday. Extra squads of police patrolled the streets there today.

Lightship Struck.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Lloyd's this forenoon had a message from the American steamer, West Saginaw, which at midnight last night collided with the South Goodwin lightship, saying that it had suffered no damage in the collision and was proceeding directly to Houston, Texas. The lightship was injured above the waterline.

SOLONS WILL STUDY FRUIT FLY CAMPAIGN

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The determination of the house appropriations committee to learn what danger there is, if any, of the Mediterranean fruit fly being transplanted in Georgia and other southern states from its present foothold in Florida took final form today when Chairman Will R. Wood, of the appropriations body, announced that a subcommittee of five would go to Florida February 23 for the purpose of investigating all phases of the situation.

Georgia fruit and vegetable growers have manifested acute interest in the fly eradication campaign because of statements by entomologists of the United States department of agriculture that the pest is capable of complete destruction of the state's peach crop. Peaches, according to department experts, constitute one of the favored diets of the fruit fly.

The committee, headed by Representative Will R. Wood, of Indiana, republican chairman of the appropriations body, will include Representative Louis C. Cramton, republican, of Michigan; Representative Robert G. Simmons, republican, of Nebraska; Representative Joseph W. Byrns, democrat, of Tennessee, and Representative James P. Buchanan, democrat, of Texas. The latter two are the ranking and second ranking minority members of the appropriations committee respectively.

Under the Wood resolution which was approved last week, the committee is given authority to inquire not only into the need for the additional $15,000,000 fruit fly fund which has been recommended by the Hoover administration, but to investigate charges that the expenditure of funds already appropriated by congress for eradication work was accompanied by waste and corruption. The amount involved in previous appropriations is approximately $5,000,000.

Disorderly Jug Puts Owner in City Jail

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 14.—(AP)—William L. Phillips had a jug.

Five policemen went to his house on Railroad street last night, and somehow Phillips got the idea they would not be friendly about the jug.

So he threw the jug in the stove. The stove exploded and the house caught fire.

All of which impressed the police as disorderly. As soon as they had put the fire out they jugged Phillips and made a written statement that such dealings with a jug amount to disorderly conduct.

NOTICE OF SALE UNDER POWER.

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.

WHEREAS, under date of November 9, 1927, Enterprise Development Company did execute in favor of S. J. Pattillo a series of sixty-five promissory notes, one note maturing on the 9th day of each month, beginning December 9, 1927, and

WHEREAS, each of said notes provide that should one of said notes become due and remain unpaid at any one time longer than sixty days after maturity, then all the remaining unpaid notes shall be considered as due and the right of action thereon shall at once exist, and

WHEREAS, on November 1, 1928, Enterprise Development Company, to secure payment of the last forty notes of said series, each of said notes being for the principal sum of one hundred ($100.00) Dollars, and one of said notes maturing on the 9th day of each month, did execute in favor of S. J. Pattillo a loan deed conveying the real estate hereinafter described, said loan deed being recorded November 16, 1928, in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Fulton County, Georgia, in Deed Book 1122, page 362, and

WHEREAS, said loan deed provides that in case of default in payment of the debt thereby secured, the said S. J. Pattillo or his assigns might sell said real estate for the purpose of paying the debt secured by said loan deed, after first advertising the time, place and the terms of said sale in some newspaper published in the County of Fulton, once a week for four weeks immediately preceding said sale, which sale shall be on a legal sale day within the legal hours of sale, and in front of the Court House Door in said County of Fulton, and

WHEREAS, the aforementioned forty promissory notes for one hundred ($100.00) dollars each, secured by the loan deed as aforesaid, have been endorsed, sold and transferred by S. J. Pattillo to George A. Richards, and

WHEREAS, on January 30, 1930, the said S. J. Pattillo did transfer, set over, convey and assign unto George A. Richards all of the right, title and interest which S. J. Pattillo had and held in, to and under the aforesaid loan deed, and the real estate therein described, and

WHEREAS, all the aforesaid promissory notes for the principal sum of one hundred ($100.00) dollars each, payment of which is secured by the aforesaid loan deed, are unpaid, and

WHEREAS, the said George A. Richards as the holder of said notes, has elected to declare all of them as due and collectable forthwith by reason of default which has continued for more than sixty days in payment of certain of the aforesaid notes for one hundred ($100.00) dollars each, including the note for $100 which matured September 9, 1929;

NOW THEREFORE, pursuant to the terms and provisions of the power of sale as contained in the aforesaid loan deed, there will be offered for sale at public outcry, before the court house door of Fulton County, Georgia, on the first Tuesday in March, 1930, said day being March 4, 1930, and during the legal hours of sale, the following described real estate:

All that tract or parcel of land situate, lying and being in land lot 15 of the 14th District of Fulton County, Georgia, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the easterly side of Elizabeth Street, one hundred two and five-tenths (102.5) feet southeasterly from the southeast corner of Elizabeth Street and Bernina Avenue; running thence northeasterly one hundred two and one-tenth (102.1) feet to a loading platform adjoining said parcel on the east; thence southeasterly seventy-five and six-tenths (75.6) feet to the northerly side of a twelve (12) foot alley, which alley runs northeasterly and southwesterly; thence southwesterly along the northerly side of said twelve (12) foot alley one hundred and five-tenths (100.5) feet to Elizabeth Street; thence northwesterly along the easterly side of Elizabeth Street eighty-five and five-tenths (85.5) feet to the point of beginning, said property being more fully shown by plat prepared by C. S. Mercer, C. E., October 30, 1928, there being a two-story brick building upon said property; also, the area upon which is located the loading platform adjoining the above described property on the northeast.

Said property will be offered for sale as the property of Enterprise Development Company, and will be sold subject to a prior loan of $25,000.00 in favor of Emory University. Said property will be sold to the highest bidder, and the terms of the sale will be cash. Said property will be sold for the purpose of paying the aforementioned forty notes for one hundred ($100.00) dollars each, together with interest thereon at the rate of seven (7) per cent per annum from November 9, 1927, together with the expenses of this sale. This February 8, 1930.
